Governor Cornell, of New York, was inaugurated on the 1st inst.

The inhabitants of Northern Peru are threatened with famine.

Gold supercedes, as currency, in Georgia.

The estate of ex-Governor Parker, deceased, of Pennsylvania, is valued at $7,000,000.

The extra session of the Tennessee Legislature, which lasted eight days, cost the State an aggregate of $17,743.51.

There is little doubt that Edson has now achieved ultimate and complete success with the electric lamp.

The latest advice throw doubt on the report that Dan Rice has been converted.

J. O. Flood, the California speculator, having made $15,000,000 out of Comstock-bidders is going to try his luck in Wall street.

France is to pay $100,000 in bullion in 1880, the Georgia gold-silver advance to $1,000,000 per annum, with a promise of large returns next year.

The Tay Bridge was regarded as the greatest engineering feat ever attempted in Great Britain. It certainly produced the greatest railroad disaster.

At last, accounts Edison's carbon horsehoe electric lamps were still burning, having burned continuously for near two weeks.

Two resolutions have been introduced in Congress expressing sympathy with the Irish. Peck's Snr. thinks more resolutions should be introduced, because two wouldn't fatten a canary.

And now we are told that the millionaire and railroad magnate, Col. T. W. Scott's first step in the railroad business was made as a station agent, at Holidayburg, Penn.

Gov. Blackburn, in his message to the Kentucky Legislature, recommends voluntary local taxing, to bring the State aid to public schools up to the requirements of each district.

During the year, Rowell, the Englishman, won the champion belt for walking in the United States; Weston, the American, won the Asbury belt in England; Varole, the American horse, won several races at Epsom.

Of six thousand camels which started with the Russian expedition against the Turcomans only three hundred arrived at last accounts, and these were so reduced that they were regarded as prey to perih.

There is quite a general feeling throughout Canada in favor of Canadian independence. The feeling extends to prominent politicians and many who have held high positions in the Government.

Though Siberia is more than half as large again as the United States, some of its districts are already overpopulated. The Russian Press says that in the province of Tobolsk there is no Government land left for the settlement of the exiled criminals.

The Fargo (Dakota) Argus estimates that the emigration to that State this coming spring will be 50,000 at the lowest calculation. It adds: "There is every prospect that our next crop in the valley alone will equal, if not exceed, 10,000,000 bushels of wheat."

Utah divorcees don't count in Illinois. In Freeport a woman who, armed with one of those worthless instruments, had remarried, pleaded guilty of bigamy, on the advice of her attorney, and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in Joliet.

Four hundred Gentile citizens of Salt Lake have protested against Governor Emery's re-appointment. They charge that he has approved the repeal of the only territorial law under which it was possible to reach and punish polygamy.

A TYPOGRAPHICAL error in a law passed by the last Michigan Legislature prohibited saloon-keepers from selling to minors, instead of minors, as intended, but the Michigan County authorities have convicted a saloon-keeper under the act, on the ground that the intent of the law overrode the error of a letter in the printed statute. The case will go to a higher court.

THE BELIEF is expressed that Minnesota farmers are making a mistake in selling of their young cattle to be taken out of the State and fattened. The Fairchild Republic says one dealer at that place has shipped over thirteen hundred head from Rice County and vicinity, and estimates that at least twenty thousand head of young stock have been shipped out of the State this year.

SPECULATIONS what have carried the price so high that there is no profit

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Mrs. Lucy Scott, aged 108 years, died at Newark, O., on the 31st inst.

Texas is now a cordial understanding between Germany and America.

During the past year three thousand seven hundred and thirty-eight and one-half miles of railroad were constructed in this country, of which three thousand and ten were broad-gauge and seven hundred and twenty-eight and one-half narrow. This is the greatest number of miles that have been laid since 1873, and the Railway Age says it is probably larger even than that year.

ATROCIITY from, or attacks on, the Moslem faith are still capital offenses in Turkey. The penalty is now seldom inflicted. Yet but for the intervention of the English and German Ministers, the Mussulman priest arrested for aiding in a translation of the Scriptures would doubtless have lost his life. Even the most liberal of the Turkish papers called for his severe punishment.

THE PEOPLE of Panama welcomed M. de Lesseps by arranging a daylight for his entertainment. Possibly before the festive feeling passes away they will get up a sample revolution so as to show him what a lively and interesting region it is that he is about to bore into. But if M. de Lesseps is going to stay upon the isthmus until his canal is completed he will have plenty of other things to examine fully the institutions of the country.

IF the rumors of the experiences during their captivity of Mrs. Meeker, her daughter Josephine, and the third woman captured at White River Agency are true, the feeling of the Meeker girls in regard to any policy likely to allow the wretches to live, is easily explained. These rumors credit General Hatch with saying that the Indians were guilty of crimes worse than murder, and that these women met with a fate to which death would have been preferable.

THE Socialists, at their National Convention at Pittsburgh, decided to place Presidential candidates in the field. Considerable opposition was manifested by members of the organization to the project, and after a heated debate of four hours duration, Oshkosh, Wis., of Chicago, and Oshkosh, Wis., were selected and referred to the party, the two names receiving the highest number of votes to be the candidates for President and Vice President.

THE year 1879 will pass into American history as a year of wonderful agricultural prosperity. The cotton crop is larger by half a million bales than ever before; the tobacco crop, 12,000,000 pounds, and the sugar crop exceeds by some 200,000 hogsheads all previous yields. These are crops which belong almost exclusively to the Southern half of the Republic. In behalf of the Northern States the excess of products this year over the crops of any previous year, is according to the Chicago Journal of Commerce, 20,000,000 bushels of wheat, and from 80,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels of corn. The hog crop also is larger this year than for a number of years past, if it is not the largest ever raised.

ONE of Cincinnati's millionaires, Robert Mitchell, surprised his family by distributing half a million dollars worth of property among them on Christmas. There were twenty-six persons present at desert when silver suitcases with envelopes addressed to the members of the family and grandchildren were passed around. The grandchildren had money, the daughters and daughters-in-law valuable residences and real estate; two of his sons $50,000 in accounts receipted standing against them on the books of their father's firm, and two daughters receipts for the capital advanced to their husbands in business. It was a merry Christmas, indeed, and amounted to a distribution of a good portion of his estate. There will not be much of a will to dispute about in that family.

WHAT the Chicago fire was to all other fires, the destruction of the Iron bridge across the Frith of Tay, in Scotland, the utter destruction of a whole train with three hundred passengers in an instant, and complete fall of seventy-five feet, is to all other railroad accidents. It surpasses in its magnitude and the magnitude and the completeness of the disaster, as well as the number of lives extinguished. By its unprecedented character it appalls the imagination, and by the suggestion of its possibilities increases the horror. It is unequalled in the history of railroad tragedy, and its tragic interest is heightened by the fact that the bridge is alleged to be one of the longest, and it was supposed, the finest in the world. Doubtless it was occasioned, if not caused, by the immense strain put upon it by the fierce gale. What is curious is that it is the third fatality of the kind occurring within two months.

AMERICAN CARTRIDGES.

Russia was among the first to make use of the American metallic cartridges, and the attempted vain to imitate them. After wasting ten millions of cartridges made of inferior material, she wisely concluded to buy here, as other foreign nations have since done. Some of the American cartridges sent to Russia were subjected to the unparalleled test of a five-weeks soaking in the waters of New York harbor, the vessel carrying them having sunk off Staten Island, on her way out. They were fished up as good as new, and, triumphantly passing the ordeal, a new test of their durability, went on their way again, and have, no doubt, long since added their quota to the return of casualties. For good cartridges, which can stand a soaking in the water, are a fact which the Europeans are beginning to learn. Even so long ago as the days of the mound-builders, it was discovered that our Lake Superior region produced a copper ore of uncommon purity. One of great purity is not, it would seem, to be found elsewhere, and perhaps the process of annealing is not so well understood abroad. At all events, the brass made in the American region, abounding in the sulphur, lacks the necessary strength and ductility, and for some reason the metallic cartridges made abroad are not so good as those made in this country. The war with Turkey, Russia purchased large quantities of brass here, and a Connecticut firm alone supplying two million rounds of cartridges for the Turkish army. Other governments have no doubt, been purchasing. Ready-made cartridges have also been sent abroad in such quantities that a million has become the unit of calculation. Three forms of cartridges are given in an illustration in Scientific American, showing the United States government cartridge, another the Peabody-Martini cartridge, and the largest, the Sharps or Remington special long-range cartridge. The government cartridge contains 70 grains of powder and a hardened bullet, composed of one part of tin and sixteen parts lead, weighing 550 grains. The Peabody-Martini has 85 grains of powder, and a bullet of the same composition weighing 480 grains. The long-range bullet has 100 grains of powder, and a bullet weighing 550 grains, the charge of powder being 100 grains. The advantages of the heavier cartridges are well shown in the illustration. The Peabody-Martini cartridge is 1.25 inches long, and weighs 550 grains, the charge of powder being 100 grains. The advantages of the heavier cartridges are well shown in the illustration. THE Kentucky Legislature convened at Frankfort at 12 o'clock on the 31st inst. in a session of the day. The House, after awaiting its members, ninety-six out of the one hundred composing a full House being present, balloted sixteen times for the speaker, and finally elected Mr. McCrackin, of Louisville, by a vote of 21 to 1. The speaker, after a short session, adjourned until 7:30 p. m. The candidates put in nomination for Speaker were Messrs. Biggers, of Frankfort, and McCrackin, of Louisville. Mr. Biggers, a Republican, and Mr. McCrackin, a Democrat, were the only candidates. The House, after a short session, adjourned until 7:30 p. m. A well-to-do man, known among his friends as sagacious, swift, and enduring, and who seldom went to bed hungry, one day met a wood-chopper on the forest. The chopper, who was a short time on account of a camp-meeting in that neighborhood, had been as long as he could on the road, and he began to discuss the weather and draw each other out on the transformation of the day.

The sun never had a fair chance to look on. His rule had been to eat them first and look them over afterwards. He now observed that the sun was as pale as a ghost, and he began to grow angry. He finally made up his mind that it was the boy's red coat, and he was so easily deceived.

For 1879 the amount of liabilities was $238,000,000, or but 3 per cent. of the annual average of the preceding seven years, and 43 per cent. of the liabilities of 1878. The percentage of failures and average liability show a corresponding decrease.

THERE are many who are yet loth to believe that Edison's carbon horse-shoe lamps are a failure. Undoubtedly those in which the glass has broken are, but there are more in which the glass has not broken than, to all appearance, are fully as great a success as the inventor has claimed for them. One of the things of which Edison complains is the fact that the newspapers of the country are in the habit of heralding his efforts a success before he himself lays any such claims, thus exciting the public mind, and when, later, an experiment does not result in a complete triumph, although the experimenter has been practically successful, a revolution of opinion follows in the public mind and failure is rendered as the verdict. But Edison doesn't care a great deal for opinions. He is satisfied that he is correct in his theories and that he is capable of maturing them.

LATA news from Panama says that violent shocks of earthquakes are reported in Salvador, and that the Government is forced to the interior. In La Libertad, the earth opened literally to be dancing. Persons in the streets were thrown down, and many buildings suffered. It was thought that the earthquake had been leveled to the ground. All who could leave that Capital had done so. Many business men kept their animals loaded, prepared for flight. The Lake Titicaca was in motion, like a boiling caldron, emitting dense sulphurous vapors. Industries of all sorts are abandoned, terrified inhabitants being only concerned about their safety. The Government has had every means in its power to travel, and ample protection against lawlessness and anarchy.

SECRETARY SCHURZ says: A certain degree of secrecy is necessary in the Ute investigation, but Oursay is in no sense a prisoner. In the opinion of Oursay, as well as myself, several things are required to be accomplished in the negotiations. Firstly, to have treaty provisions that the surrender of offenders carried out, so that participants in White River murders can be brought to justice, to make such arrangements with the Ute will avert from the frontier that are threatened to be inflicted upon them by the border population of Colorado, and which certainly would come if the present boundaries of the Ute reservation were maintained. This accomplished, present difficulties will pass over without an Indian war, which will be a great benefit to the country generally. The Whipping post bill has passed the House of Representatives, and there is some doubt about its passing the Senate. It is to be applied as a punishment for larcenies less than $20.

Is this issue we announce P. U.

Major as a candidate for Circuit Judge of this district. Judge Major is well known in this district; and during his services as Commonwealth's

Attorney and Circuit Judge, he has made many friends. Judge

Major is an able lawyer of high and scholarly attainments.

We announce, this week, D. M.

Snyder, of Bellevue, as a candidate for Sheriff of this county. Mr. Snyder was born and raised in this county, and is very popular in the districts where he is known. He is in every sense of the word, well qualified for the office to which he aspires, and if he should be the lucky candidate,

the people of the county can rest assured that the business of the office will be well attended to.

about a member who has been drunk even to the jim-jams ever since he reached Frankfort: Austin Hawkins,

the member from Marion, was shot

when he was drunk at the beginning of the session, and who has been unable to remain in his place, left for home Wednesday, accompanied by his wife, who has been brought back by the news of his troubles. In case has become chronic, and there

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

St. Louis, Mo. Jan. 17, 1880.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Your valuable paper comes to hand regularly, and I peruse its columns

as I do a letter from home, and it has become a necessity with me. I could feel lost without it. It is without a doubt, a faithful Recorder of events. As we generally, about this season, form new resolutions, and generally too, for the better as regards ourselves and those around us, the conclusion of this particular instance it would be best for me, at last, to quit slowly or by degrees, or if you please, as the tower would say taper off, and may be I can stand it better. This is the first letter I have attempted to write this year for the press, and I am doing it hardly now to say that would most interest you and your readers.

We have had very disagreeable weather out this way for the past weeks, and almost everywhere is troubled with a cough or cold; in fact, coughs are as common as human beings, as with horses

during the reign of the epidemic

a few years since. The bad weather seems a good deal to have been young men, and I am sure that will have to report the most quiet

Christians ever experienced by young or old in the future.

Messrs. Moody and Sankey are in the city, but they, as yet, are not meeting with much success, and if ruler has often expressed himself as discouraged. He says this is a hard place, and quite likely he is correct, but we think ourselves about as good as our neighbors, the Chicagos, as we would say, "at least, it is possible, at least, that the Chicago would get along just as well, if it would use a little soft-soiler as he goes along. People generally dislike to be pronounced the biggest sinners

In a railway collision in Illinois, the engine and four passenger cars were wrecked. The New York Herald has given a full and graphic description of the accident.

MISS SARAH PARSONS, a sister of Charles Stewart Parsons, has published a New York house pamphlet detailing graphically "The Hoax of the Islands." The work will be distributed free of charge, and the proceeds are to go to the Irish Relief Fund.

NINETY-SEVEN years ago Cuba was shaken up by a great earthquake in which upwards of 100,000 people were killed. It is not surprising that Havana, with the memory of such a disaster, should be made proof against earthquakes by the stability of its position.

ALTHOUGH capital punishment has been abolished in Wisconsin for over twenty years, there is now a bill pending before the Legislature of that State for the re-establishment of hanging as the penalty for murder in the first degree. Crime is reported to be on the increase in that State.

The report given currency to by a telegraph operator at Saratoga, Tenn., to the effect that Samuel J. Tilden was about to be married to a Miss Fannie Rankin of Lewisburg, Penn., is stoutly denied by both Mr. Tilden and Miss Rankin. It is said that they are not even acquainted with each other.

The Mobile Register reckons that $20,000,000 will be made this year by Southern planters by the sale in Europe of what they expected to export for them, and it argues that part of this be put into the establishment of manufacturing in the South, especially for those spinning yarn from cotton.

But one of Indiana's woolen mills is at present running, all the others having shut down owing to the high prices demanded for the raw material and the low rates offered for the manufactured goods.

It is expected that the early spring will bring a change in the situation and that the mills will be put in operation again.

The fact that little Norway has the second largest commercial fleet in the world is alleged to be chiefly due to the fact that villages pool their savings to build or buy a ship instead of so here putting them into a savings bank to provide fast horses, etc., for a delinquent manager.

The widow of Admiral Paulding has made application for a pension of $50 a month. Her husband, who was one of the survivors of the War of 1812, served the country long, faithfully, and with distinction, and should not be left in poverty.

The New York Herald opens an Irish Relief Fund with a contribution of $100.

This is nearly half as much as all England has given for the same purpose in the present time. Mr. James Gordon Bennett, by this deed gives a handsome rebuke to the itinerant Parsons, who has been charging his paper with sympathy for the Irish oppressors.

THE CONGRESS on Education and Labor in Congress has deferred, for the present, action on the subject of distribution for educational purposes of the fund arising from the undiminished bounty and pay of colored soldiers, as the fund is being constantly drawn upon by the Government directly or through heirs, and its availability for the purpose is small.

A BILL has been introduced into Congress to put printing paper and certain articles used in the manufacture of paper on the free list. The measure will no doubt receive the cordial support of the news-papers, whose business suffers by the general advance in prices in the proportion that the other branches of business are benefited. The Chicago and St. Louis dailies have either increased their price or diminished their size. The Times, the former city, will, however, for the six months to come, and the others declare that all the great dailies will be obliged soon to curtail their dimensions or put up their prices to escape loss.

General Roberts has not shed any one connected with the massacre. He has imposed upon the Afghan phans the fact that, shedding the blood of Englishmen is an unwise occupation for Afghans.

THOMAS L. MURRY, who was injured by the fall of a platform at a Republican meeting in Indianapolis in October, 1878, has sued the campaign managers for $50,000 damages, alleging that they had for their importunities and inducements held out by their posters and advertisements he would not have attended the meeting, and consequently would not have been hurt.

THE Illinois State Board of Health is meeting out the clock physicians in that State. In Chicago alone six physicians who held diplomas from reputable medical colleges had their licenses revoked, while proceedings are entered against nearly a dozen "doctors" who have been practicing without the certificates required by law. If such legislation were extended to other States great good might be done.

THERE is a movement on foot on the part of the Government that looks very much as if the Monroe doctrine were to be enforced in the matter of the Inter-Oceanic Canal. Ambrose W. Thompson, relative of the Secretary of the Navy, who with others, owns a two-million-acre strip of land across the Isthmus, has come forward, and by his permission two coal-mining stations have been established, one at the Gulf of Dulce and the other at the Bay of Chiriqui.

penal prisons; Bogdan's French journey to the marshes was a member of the Figaro staff, and the version smacked more of a politician anxious to reach his place than a young bridegroom in the soft delight of the honeymoon. He set out by avowing his admiration for the Figaro, which, he declared, "I read every day." He admitted that he felt some of the emotion of the Figaro but, for example, "he declared," "so tedious to me. I should not suffer it, only my people must have it. If I didn't consent to the grand parade and costly ceremonies the tradesmen and pleasure seekers of the cities and provinces would complain." The show and ceremonial of What Dickens Said to the Boy.

When Charles Dickens visited America for the first time he stayed a few days—says an old writer in the Republican, of Springfield—at the old City Hotel in Hartford, occupying rooms on the first floor, which windows reached nearly to the street level. A Hartford man, who has since become a distinguished citizen, appeared at school one morning and loudly proclaimed: that he had not only seen Mr. Dickens at the hotel, but that the great novelist had spoken to him. Deeply did his mates envy the death, but his noble spirit was severely wounded when it was finally ascertained that he had climbed up on the window

Pearl Divers and Sharks.

The pearl divers of the Comoroand Coast are not unfrequently attacked by ground-sharks. As a rule a shark will leave a man with dark skin alone, but when hungry, it rarely makes a difference between a European and a Hindoo.

Knowing this, the divers of whom I speak frequently arm themselves with a stout bamboo, in the shape of a cross, with the extremities made sharp. With this four-pointed dagger they will dare any shark to seize them; for, as the shark comes to the surface, the diver will thrust the bamboo cross between its jaws.

Great care is taken for the strength of the bamboo; the consequence is that the shark, on closing its mouth to obtain the first taste of its anticipated meal, drives the spikes well home between its jaws.

The fishermen say that once a shark has a well-pointed and placed bamboo cross fixed in its distended mouth, no efforts of the creature can get it of the wood. Its efforts are described as being often furious and comic. The diver, as soon as he has impaled his enemy, has to get out of the water as fast as possible for a blow from the tail of an infuriated shark is no joke. As for the comic side of the picture, it must be a ludicrous sight to see a shark, with its eyes staring and its mouth open, with a bamboo cross fixed in its mouth, and its body convulsed with pain.

It was thought that the present extensive trade in the Comoroand Coast had had the effect of rendering the inhabitants, but the belief has been put to flight. Deputy Marshal Bolton made a trip into Mlton County for the purpose of arresting delinquents. About a dozen were arrested. The Deputy's assistant and firing in his face. The ball grazed the scalp and the powder singed his hair. He was taken to the hospital and the man for whom he had a warrant, and a violent struggle ensued, the moonlight finally compelling a blow from the butt and of a pistol. The day was a success, and the moonlight finally compelling a blow from the butt and of a pistol.

Only seventeen more days of the winter season remain.

This present session of Congress is especially noted for good behavior.

Hayes is reported as being a straight out Sherman man for the Presidency.

The Legislature extended its session twenty-one days. Five dollars per day and nothing being done was considerably the ring of retrenchment and reform.

The National Democratic Convention will meet in Cincinnati on the 22d of June, which is but a short time after the holding of the Republican National Convention in Chicago.

They have had a shower of shot at Lebanon, Ohio, and the citizens are considerably exercised over the phenomenon. Some declare it a spiritual manifestation.

The Democratic candidates for the Presidency can now commence setting up the pins for the nominations. The place where, and the time when, the nomination is to be made have been agreed upon.

General Grant has made his second stop towards a third term, 217 delegates to the New York convention declaring for him against 189 for Sherman, Blaine and the rest. It is hardly fair to say that machine now for Grant in New York, for the New York Custom House was re-organized against him a year ago, and worked zealously for Sherman.

Everything indicates Grant's nomination. His friends, however, say that some delegates from both New York and Pennsylvania will disregard instructions and vote for him.

The Legislative Committee to which was referred the South trouble has made its report, and a clearer effort at whitewashing is seldom made. An attempt was made to nuzzle all the responsibility for the brutal treatment complained of, on the subordinate about the prison, and thus relieve Jerry South and others high in authority. The law regulating, or at least should regulate, the prison discipline is such that there is not a shadow of an excuse for allowing the government of the institution to become so damaged. The indigent authorities should be held to a strict accountability for the condition of the Kentucky Penitentiary.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

St. Louis, Mo. Feb. 21, 1890.

This evening closes rather dull and lifeless, so far as business is concerned, though we have had pleasant weather the entire week. By the way, we notice the will geese begin to fly north which weather wise people say is a sign that winter is over. We have certainly had, so far, the mildest winter ever experienced this side of the Father of Waters. We received a letter yesterday from Johnson county, Kansas, written the 19th, in which the writer states that they have had little or no cold weather this winter, and that the shrubbery is beginning to bud.

Messrs. Mooly and Sankey are still in the city preaching and singing to crowded houses. The former begins to have a little opinion of our people than he did when he first came among us. The writer dropped in on their meeting the other evening for the first time, having, as we must confess, more of a desire to see Mr. Sankey, the great composer of hymns and music, than to hear the preaching. And right here it may not be amiss to give a description of these two distinguished revivalists as they appear to our vision: Mr. Mooly is about five feet nine or ten inches in height, of heavy build and would weigh, we suppose, over two hundred pounds. His general appearance is coarse, but speech and action quick and fervid. No man on sight would ever take him to be a preacher out of the pulpit or off the rostrum. Mr. Sankey is tall, fully six feet in height, and of fine complexion and may be considered as rather a good looking man. He, without doubt, has the strongest voice of any man I have ever heard, and it is probably his singing that draws more than Mr. Mooly's preaching. To the intelligent Bible student there is nothing in Mr. Mooly's preaching that is attractive or instructive. I may, however, state before I leave this subject that there is now more enthusiasm in these meetings than at first.

Our citizens without distinction as to race, color or politics are rather jubilant over the prospect of having the National Democratic Convention meet in this city. It looks as if they were not. The last convention left over a million of dollars in the city, and as money is more plenty now than four years ago we can calculate on at least a million and a half being left with us this time, which is probably pretty nearly as much ready cash as we shall have left just now. We will also expect to get some of the money of your country about that time, as the editor of the Recorder and many of its readers, will most likely want to see the biggest city and the most important convention in the world this time.

The Recorder of this week is to hand, bringing the sad intelligence of the sudden and tragic departure of Mrs. J. A. Davis, last Sunday. Death, death or dying are always sad terms and cause wounds from which we are slow to heal. It is especially so when the death comes to a family, while all other wounds we are swift to heal at the earliest possible moment. I have met Mr. J. A. Davis but once since he was killed, but I was glad to know that his noble father and sainted mother, and many of their gentle admonitions are treasured among the fondest recollections of my youth. I also knew the good parents of the deceased, and I am fully prepared to sympathize with them in their afflictions, and they may be assured by these present that those who hearts on this side of the Mississippi that share with them in their bereavement. My letter is now long enough and it is nearly mail time, so I will close.

The Intelligencer's Frankfort correspondent says of the Legislature: I have never seen a Legislative body wherein was developed so little party dissensionary grudge. There are men who have a possible knowledge of the rules, but a not a finished parliamentary man, and a not in the body, and more the pity. Things get tangled, wrong steps are taken, and it is only by skipping the rough places in their path that the members get back into the right way.

The Home Journal says: It is said that farmers have sold off their mules so close in the neighborhood of South Union, Logan county, that much of the plowing will have to be done with mule cows.

SENATOR BERRY, of Campbell county, never allows an opportunity to urge the necessity of a compulsory educational system in this State to escape him. He has been talking compulsory education to the State Senate.

J. K. MOODY, a half idiot got his hide full of bad whiskey in Madison county, one day last week, went home, provoked a quarrel with his brother George, who drew a pistol and shot him, the ball cutting an artery in the neck, causing death in a short time.

At last the House has passed a bill to reduce the pay of members of future Legislatures of this Commonwealth. Now if members of the present Legislature want to prove that they are sincere in the reduction made, let them return to the State Treasury, at the end of the session, the amount the law they have passed would have reduced their pay had it been in force when the General Assembly convened.

Kiddell presented her with a handsome clock. Mrs. Binnie McKim with some sewing-machine. While several other ladies whose names were not furnished us, provided the etc. for the birthday feast.

CRIMINAL COURT convened Monday, at 1:30 p. m. Judge McManama on the bench and the following cases were called on: The following grand jury was impaneled: J. W. Terrill, Foreman.

J. P. Ute, J. H. Snyder, J. W. Winston, James Breeden, Thos. A. Johnson, Benj. Rice, J. P. C. Brown, J. H. Snyder, J. H. Duncun, Ephraim Aylor, Wm. Carpenter, Sam'l B. Grant, Oscar Gault, N. B. Grant.

Judge McManama then proceeded to give the grand jury a lengthy and able instruction after which, Court adjourned. The attendance at court was unusually small for the first day.

THE County Democratic Executive Committee met at 8 p. m. on Monday, at the residence of Dr. W. C. Terrill being present. After some deliberation it decided to have a primary election to nominate candidates for the county offices to be held on the 24th of August.

We have not seen the rules adopted by the Committee for holding the election, but understand that the rules will have the privilege, if so chosen, to vote for a first and second choice, and the clerks of the election associated with the Clerks of the Executive Committee will count the vote and declare the result.

For holding the election was not fixed for the reason that the District Court does not take and action till the 24th inst., and it is the desire of the County Committee to dispose of both county and district matters at the same time.

The order of the order of the Committee will be published in due time.

Not many days since we spent very pleasantly a few hours with "Uncle Bob" (the oldest man in the county). He was born in Bourbon county about six miles from Paris, December 20th, 1788, and came to this county (then a portion of Campbell county) with his parents in 1796, since which time he has not lived more than half a mile from where his father settled when he came to this country. One hundred acres of the farm on which "Uncle Bob" now lives cost him $22 per acre, while the remainder cost him $18 per acre. Although 83 years old, "Uncle Bob" has a vivid recollection of the long train of events of his boyhood in this county when the howl of the wolves made a night life, except to those who went to frontier life. One of "Uncle Bob's" principal characteristics is his genuine Kentucky hospitality. His mental and his physical condition indicate that he is to live many years yet, and the writer trusts he may.

A DISPATCH from Russellville, Indiana, to the Cincinnati Enquirer of the 12th inst., reads as follows: "Tuesday we reported the arrest of a notorious horse-thief, Douglass, the notorious horse-thief. He was indicted this morning for stealing a horse from G. F. Kennard, brought to Court this afternoon, found guilty, and was sentenced to the Penitentiary for four years. This makes his third term, and it is no doubt he has lost as he is suffering severely from a pistol wound in the right lung received last summer while riding an off at Bellevue, Kentucky. Cotton and Harris, of Patriot and Rising Sun, are here, and will take the horse back that was brought here by Douglas."

The people of this county at once remember the man mentioned in the above dispatch as a notorious horse-thief, and so long in our jail in a dying condition, and the one who stole Mr. J. W. Crigler's horse. He was recognized to appear and answer at the present term of the Criminal Court, to two indictments against him for horse-stealing. He won't be here.

SOME sanitary reforms are really being effected in Memphis. All the rotten wood pavement, which is believed to have the germs of yellow fever, is being replaced by stone; a new system of sewerage will be completed before hot weather, and the Health Board possesses greater powers than heretofore.

ON commenting upon the President's nominations, an exchange says: "We are glad to hear that Bret Harte has been promoted to be Consul at Glasgow. The salary is $3,000 a year, and Bret has not been averse to the promotion, as he is only a writer, and he didn't know any thing about the matter at all."

MR. VINEY FORTER, a gentleman of wealth and position in Belfast, Ireland, has placed $15,000 at the disposal of young men and women between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five at the rate of $2 or $10 a head to assist them in emigrating to the United States or Canada. This seems a small amount to each individual, but it has decided many to make the venture.

SAYS the Washington correspondent of the Richmond (Va.) States, writing to that newspaper last Wednesday: "Washington is going crazy over the 'fifteen game puzzle.' To-day I noticed several members of Congress sitting on sofas near the clock room, amusing themselves with it. White General Garfield, addressing the House, illustrated his argument by references to the manner of shuffling the wooden blocks."

IF Queen Victoria would be of her personal, effective and kind letters to the President of the United States, thanking the Americans, through him, for what they have done to help the sufferers in Ireland, the Whitehall Review thinks there would be an end of anti-Irish agitation in this country for another quarter of a century. Perhaps if her Majesty would dip down a little deeper in her own pockets for the aid of the fund it might have a still better effect.

TWO ladies living in the proximity to the Platte River, near Omaha, Neb., are said to have been indicted for a conspiracy to injure the reputation of the United States.

YOUNG JAMES, Ireland, says that distress in the famine districts is increasing daily. Grants of money by the Mansion House Committee exceed the receipts.

JOHN McDONNELL, a convict sentenced to six years in New York, committed suicide by putting his head into a furnace.
Tennessee has been suffering severely from heavy rains. In Nashville over two hundred and fifty families were driven from their homes on account of the rise in the Cumberland River.

The city editor of the Philadelphia Times, Calhoun Taylor, while suffering from malarial fever, brought on by business reverses, his health and overwork, committed suicide by shooting.

P. F. BASSON, one of the proprietors of the famous Grand Central Hotel, at Oakland, Cal., has been arrested for bigamy.
The Tammany Democrats of New York have hired a hotel at Cincinnati for convention week, and it is authoritatively reported that three hundred of them will be present during the convention with a view to opposing Tilden's nomination.

ST. PETER'S DAY was not the joyous, rollicking day that it used to be. It is alleged that the city of St. Peter, in the United States, has been suffering from a severe drought, and the people are in great distress.

MRS. LILLIE MCKEE has notified the Kentucky Legislature that unless it provides for the erection of a monument to her father, Humphrey Marshall, she will build one herself and inscribe it with an epitaph reflecting severely on the base ingratitude of the State.

SOME sanitary reforms are really being effected in Memphis. All the rotten wood pavement, which is believed to have the germs of yellow fever, is being replaced by stone; a new system of sewerage will be completed before hot weather, and the Health Board possesses greater powers than heretofore.

ON commenting upon the President's nominations, an exchange says: "We are glad to hear that Bret Harte has been promoted to be Consul at Glasgow. The salary is $3,000 a year, and Bret has not been averse to the promotion, as he is only a writer, and he didn't know any thing about the matter at all."

MR. VINEY FORTER, a gentleman of wealth and position in Belfast, Ireland, has placed $15,000 at the disposal of young men and women between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five at the rate of $2 or $10 a head to assist them in emigrating to the United States or Canada. This seems a small amount to each individual, but it has decided many to make the venture.

SAYS the Washington correspondent of the Richmond (Va.) States, writing to that newspaper last Wednesday: "Washington is going crazy over the 'fifteen game puzzle.' To-day I noticed several members of Congress sitting on sofas near the clock room, amusing themselves with it. White General Garfield, addressing the House, illustrated his argument by references to the manner of shuffling the wooden blocks."

IF Queen Victoria would be of her personal, effective and kind letters to the President of the United States, thanking the Americans, through him, for what they have done to help the sufferers in Ireland, the Whitehall Review thinks there would be an end of anti-Irish agitation in this country for another quarter of a century. Perhaps if her Majesty would dip down a little deeper in her own pockets for the aid of the fund it might have a still better effect.

TWO ladies living in the proximity to the Platte River, near Omaha, Neb., are said to have been indicted for a conspiracy to injure the reputation of the United States.

A recent issue of Rochester, N. Y., says that a woman named Mrs. A. B. C. had been indicted for a conspiracy to injure the reputation of the United States.

fully, and by the side of the bed, a bowl filled with blood and broken bones. Carson was seated a jolly set of the typical prosperous Southerner. On the night of the arrival of the excursion, the city was one blaze of illumination and glory, the entire population seemed to have turned out to greet him, and all night long, the ringing of bells, and cheering and hurrahing filled the air with a merry peal. We cannot enter into the details of the banquet itself. Suffice it to say, there was plenty of the best, in which two thousand people in one body sat down, and drinking, and toasting, and joking and speech-making, with the addition of the Thomas' Orchestra, must have hurried the feeling moments with a startling rapidity. The Southern Railway is doing, a new chapter of commerce is opened up, and doubtless both Cincinnati and the entire South are happy over the great success, and its crowning event.

We have finally found it necessary, to take cognizance of the scandal now attracting attention at Washington, so notorious is the case becoming. Miss Jennie Raymond, a young Southern lady, some time since published a charge against Senator Ben. Hill, of Georgia, with having seduced her and being the father of her child. Shortly after the charge, a document was published, retracting the charge, to which the signature of Miss Raymond was attached. It also stated that at about this time, Miss Raymond, who on her arrival at Washington, was penniless, was taken to her home by a friend, and that she had been seduced by Senator Hill.

Senator Hill, who naturally enough has evinced a disposition to avoid an interview with her, has managed to evade her at every point. Finding it impossible to intercept him at the Capitol, the lady finally located herself at his residence, where she awaited his return from the Senate chamber, and on his approach stolidly planted herself in front of him, and refused to move.

He was not known. However, she was seen to be rapidly talking and gestulating, and the Senator was seen to be wildly gesticulating and rapidly talking and gestulating. The scene, as it were, was a comedy, and after a few moments' conversation, Miss Raymond and the Senator were seen to be laughing and talking.

Last week, Judge McManama fined several of the witnesses who went before the grand jury at a previous term of court and indicted persons, and then failed to be present when the cases were called for trial.

Mr. HAYES is exercising his mind over the intended hanging of a negro convicted of murder at Washington. He does not know what to do about it, and unfortunately for the murderer, indecision on the part of Mr. Hayes will not prevent the hanging.

This week we announce Geo. W. Holder, of Walton, as a candidate for Sheriff. Mr. Holder is, at present, constable in the Walton district, and has, so far as we know, made an efficient officer, and if elected to the office of Sheriff will fill the position with credit to himself and the county.

AUDITOR HAYES reports to the Senate that in twenty-four counties the Sheriffs have given no bond for the collection of the revenue, and that there is now due the State from the Sheriffs $338, 888 19, and that of the revenue of 1879 there remains $681, 573 64 uncollected. The Auditor says that the root of all the trouble in our revenue lies in the mode of assessment, and claims that a fair and equitable assessment of all the taxable property in the State will yield a revenue sufficient to meet all expenses without an increase of taxation. He favors paying the Assessors a per cent. on the amount realized by their assessments, as the best means of producing a fair valuation.

A LATE dispatch from British Columbia says: "The Express brings a deplorable news from the upper country. Cattle, sheep, horses and dogs of the pack-trains are dying with great rapidity. Nearly all the live stock will perish before Spring. The loss is estimated roughly at $1,000,000. Scores of stock raisers will be reduced from affluence to poverty. The snow lies from three to five feet in depth and gives no evidence of thawing."

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Williams & Meis which appears in this issue. They are prepared to meet the wants of the people of Boone county when in either Rising Sun or Covington.

The grand jury failed to find an indictment against "Oon" Anderson who was lodged in jail several months since with the charge of breaking in C. H. Houston's store at Beaver Lick, opposite his name. The court discharged him.

LAST week there was a case of scarlet fever to everybody's family in Taylorport. Considerable aneurism was manifested on the part of parents in that neighborhood. That disease has been harassing the northern part of the county for two or three years.

DR. J. C. TERRILL and Clinton Snyder, of Sullivanville, have contracted the "Goose and Fever," and will leave for Colorado in a few weeks. The doctor will probably spend a month or so out there and then return, while Mr. Snyder will try to obtain permanent employment.

The land owners in this county are rapidly awakening to the fact that rail-timber is becoming very scarce, and that in a few years they will have to depend on something besides rails to enclose their fields. To obviate this difficulty we refer them to the proposition of the Dayton Hedge Co.

The following business was done in the County Court last week: H. F. Marshall and D. G. Rice, renewed their ferry bond.

ELLA TERRY, a minor over 14 years of age, whose T. J. McNeal as her guardian, and W. Anderson, W. N. Cloud and W. T. Terrill were appointed commissioners to divide the lands of William McNeal, deceased.

JUDG RIDDELL, the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of this county, and also Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee of this judicial district, commissioned Mr. R. O. Green to act in his stead at the meeting of the named committee in Owensboro, Wednesday, Mr. Green started to Owensboro Tuesday.

Mrs. ELIZABETH CHICKER, of Milan, Ripley county, Indiana, and at one time a child of this county, is 92 years old and has 81 great-grandchildren. The Recorder has the honor of being her favorite paper, and she sends its columns with great care to a person of her age. We hope that she may continue to obtain information from it for many years yet to come.

One day last week James Westaway, a leading Republican of this locality, was coming from the city to Silver Lake, on the cars, he commenced conversing with the coach in which he was riding to ascertain how the Grant boom was taking. Seeing an intelligent looking negro he approached him on the subject, and said, "How would you like to vote for Grant for President?" "The negro answered immediately: 'I don't think Mr. Grant is an American, would you vote for him?'" The black reply took the wind out of Jim's sails and he let the subject drop.

THE Webb Brothers, of Taylorport, in making an excavation for laying a foundation for a barn, found some three or four feet below the surface of the ground, an old tin snuff box, bearing the date, 1778. On one side of the box was the representation of the head of George III., while on the reverse side is a representation of the head of Eric, surrounded by a crown. It was considerably worn.

THE Greenup Independent gives in its last issue the following item which it credits to Boone county: "Special U. S. Bailiff J. F. Hamner was left in charge of some moonshiners at Glasgow, and the whole party got on a boat, and drank, and the boat was fired. Hamner was shot and sent him to jail for thirty days for being drunk and disorderly and carrying concealed a deadly weapon."

We have not the least doubt but that the item quoted above is correct, except that no U. S. Bailiff was ever in Boone with a lot of moonshiners; that Glasgow is not in Boone county; that no U. S. Bailiff and some moonshiners ever got on a motorboat drunk in Boone; that the person by the name of Hamner was ever fined $50 and sent to jail for being drunk and disorderly for carrying concealed a deadly weapon in Boone.

We are called upon this week to chronicle an occurrence that calls a crowd of gloom over the house of one Joseph whose name is Riddell, and dwells on Gunpowder. "The death of this man was the sudden and unexpected death of his almost lifelong companion, 'Old Bill' Bill, although not endowed with as much beauty as a mile of a deep river, was possessed of many sterling qualities that endeared him to his protector. For many years he had been in the service of the late Mr. Riddell, and was a member of the family, and when the messenger from the pastures of perpetual rest came to summon him to his home, he found him fighting the battle of life as he had been in his declining years. His death was the loss of a valued blood-reel, superintended by a strain.

"Old Bill" is dead and gone—His work on earth is done— "By Jingo," 'twill miss him.

When the spring plowing's come!

"A storm" has been soon carried, and a small amount of business, a short term of court, has been fully accomplished last week by the very early adjournment of the Criminal Court which adjourned last on the afternoon of the third day of the term, having devoted but two days to the trial of cases. All the cases tried were for minor offenses, except the Barlow case. This, it will be remembered, grew out of the shooting affair, Henry Barlow on the one side and Marcus McNeely on the other. At the time the shooting was done the County Surveyor, McNeely and the Barlow boys were cutting timber, and the man who was shot did not appear against Barlow on the trial, and the jury rendered a verdict against Barlow for $50.

Quite an amount of fines were assessed against witnesses who were summoned and failed to appear and testify.

The grand jury was in session two days and found three indictments, all of which were for small offenses. One of those was settled by the party's being fined, hence there will be but two indictments to try at the next term.

Married.
Last night, by Rev. T. W. Barrett, James Lee Connelley, of Louisville, Colorado, to Miss Sarah Francis Bays, of Taylorport, daughter of C. J. Corwin, of the Colliery.

Mr. Connelley is a brother-in-law of Mr. J. S. Ambros, and is well known as a wide-ranger and enterprising young man who is bound to make his way in the world. He is a native of Kentucky.

Miss Fannie Corwin was born in this city. She is a young lady of unusual talents and accomplishments, a fine artist and artistically inclined by her mother, Mrs. Jefferson City, Mo., Daily Keltipp, Mar. 12.

This is Mr. Connelley's native county, and he has many relatives and friends here who will read the above with interest. Here's our best wishes for you and Mrs. Connelley's happiness.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.
Plattburg.
An attempt is being made to have a three months school at the Woolper school-house, to commence the first of April. Miss Annie L. Grimsley, a highly educated and refined young lady, of Moorshill, Dearborn county, Indiana, proposes to take charge of the school. We heartily advocate the cause of education, and will say to the patrons of the school above all things, that you would do for your children, educate them. What say you, Mr. Ed?—We say give Miss Grimsley the school.—Ed.

The Woolper and Ashby Fork schools closed, last week, and on Saturday an exhibition was held at the Woolper school-house, commencing at 1 p. m. and closing at 5 p. m. It was a grand affair, the actors performing well their parts, and great credit is due Professors Vasholt and Snyder for the manner in which it was gotten up and conducted. The attendance was large and the order prevailed throughout the afternoon.

The Woolper Sunday-school was organized, last Sunday. The following officers were elected: Thomas Hyatt, Superintendent; J. N. Schreier, Treasurer; William Grimsley and Edward Phillips, Secretaries; J. C. Schreier, Leader in singing. The following teachers were appointed: Mrs. Mary Rector, Mr. Narcissus Tolin, Miss Lizzie Hensley, Clifton Hensley, Woodford Sullivan and Thomas Hyatt. The school will meet at 3 p. m. every Sunday.

Last Sunday morning when Richard Beeson went to feed he found one of his most valuable horses dead. Its neck was broken—cause unknown.

Of late there has been considerable talk about building a pike from here to Interden. The road already built. Some are willing for it to pass over their farms, while others are not. We think that if the pike is built all concerned will be well pleased.

The funeral discourse of Mrs. N. Underhill was preached by Rev. W. T. Winston at Gunpowder church, last Sunday, quite a large congregation of friends and relatives were present.

Rev. C. C. Barnett's nephew has been visiting him for the last few days.

Miss Mary Barnett is teaching school at this place.

We guess this place on coast of being the boss egg market, but doesn't belong in it in trade in one week.

One day last week a number of dogs concluding to have some fun, attacked Aaron Tanner's sheep and killed several. We had all concerned with this, the dog, a calf, and now some of these dogs are no more.

Mr. W. E. Cigler and son, of Mt. Sterling, are visiting here at this time. Mr. Cigler reports business dull in middle Kentucky, on account of rain and mud.

Indications are that there will be but little fruit.

Mr. James Barlow has returned to his home in Johnson county, Missouri.

Mr. W. M. O'Connell continues his cattle sales. Last Saturday he sold several good ones instead of oysters, and he says they were enjoyed readily.

Jim Cook, of Hebron, had a grand time here a few days since, taking the girls on a buggy ride. Jim is a prince among the girls.

Felix Moser, of Florence, held the jack while the other boys went out to drive the ducks and other things from—Lawrenceburg.

Our Postoffice is worked strictly up to Government rules, and for the last three months the sale of stamps has averaged $100 per day.

Outside of the Recorder the Lawrenceburg Register is about the spiciest little paper in our county, and it is not a terrible little either.

The Recorder, last week, planted about 15 acres too many willows for Mr. John Beckburn, but he says he thinks that he can manage to tend them by hiring a few more hands.

Dr. Ed. Willmett met with a serious accident a few days ago, while driving his horse which became unruly, and backed the buggy over an embankment, landing him and breaking the doctor's arm at the wrist.

Mr. John Beckburn has returned from Jackson county, Indiana. He thinks that it would be impossible for a coon to live there on account of the immense size of the crowd. He did not see a coon track while out there.

Smith's Wild Cherry Cough Balm, only 25 cents.

T. S. PARK, heretofore a prominent citizen and a leading business man, of Rising Sun, turns out to be a forger for large amounts. The Rising Sun Bank will lose about $1,200 by his forgeries. He used his father-in-law's name. His whereabouts are unknown.

THE DAYTON HEDGE CO.

The collection of several of our neighbors, and prompted by our own necessity for fencing, we decided to accept the invitation of the representative of the Dayton Hedge Company, Mr. R. M. Davall, to visit Ohio, and inspect their hedges of various years growth, and ascertain their financial standing and reputation among their patrons. In this decision we fully realized the responsibility we assumed, knowing that upon the character of our report depended the giving or withholding of quite a large patronage from the farmers of our respective neighborhoods. We therefore devoted some time in making a careful and even critical examination of a large number of hedges of different ages and stages of advancement, finding them thrifty, thoroughly stock-proof and ornamental.

We visited the following places and farms, and examined the Company's Hedges thereon: The suburban residence of Mr. G. B. Harman and Mr. Isaac Van Auden, the former of the Banking firm of Gebhart, Harman & Co., the latter of the wholesale carpet firm of Van Auden & Harman; the National House for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, upon which the Company has over five hundred (500) rods of young Hedge, presenting a beautiful appearance; also the following well-to-do farmers, owning the farms and Hedges in the vicinity of Dayton: Jonathan Garner, H. A. Yost, J. J. Weaver, J. R. Brumbaugh, John Jacob and Geo. Hapner, brothers, who have together over (1,700) one thousand seven hundred rods finished and of various ages, and very satisfactory to us. In short we found everything good if not better, and more satisfactory than we expected to see.

None can shut their eyes to the fact that some substitute must be found for the old method of fencing with timber. We honestly think that this is found in the system of Hedging adopted by the Dayton Hedge Company.

The process of planting is simple, and is done on such common sense principles that we think that no one could fail to understand and appreciate it, who will do as we did—investigate it thoroughly.

The cost of the hedge having been grown to a sufficient size are inclined at an angle of 40° to 45° making the band below the surface of the ground, and secured together by means of annealed wire, making a base that effectively turns small pigs, and the profits growed therefrom is greatly proved in proper size and form, which may be varied in height to meet the requirements of turning any kind of stock, and present a regular and ornamental appearance. We are satisfied that they have the only correct plan of Hedging, and that they have the means, organization and intention, to carry them out.

We also satisfied ourselves beyond question that the integrity and financial standing of this Company are above reproach, as evidenced by the hearty endorsement so readily and abundantly accorded by all with whom we conversed concerning them.

As a result we have given them our individual patronage, and do not hesitate to advise our brother farmers of Kentucky to do the same.

CLIMAX STEEL PLOW

THIS MATCHLESS PLOW is without doubt, superior to any ever used in our kind of soil. Many of our practical farmers who know it best, will use no other. It will plow ground with more weeds and brush on it without choking than any plow in the market. Mould board, share and cutter thoroughly hardened. Round Wrought Iron standard. For steady running and lightness of draft, this favorite plow richly deserves the name of "Climax."

THE VERNON CHILLED PLOW

Is warranted to give satisfaction in any soil, and as light draft as any plow ever made. Subject to a two day's trial. All orders promptly attended to, plows delivered to any part of the county free. For full description, price, &c., call at my shop, or address

A CALL.

The members of the Boone County Democratic Executive Committee are requested to meet in my office in the Court-house at 10 o'clock p. m., next Monday to attend to important business.

CR. RIDDELL, Chairman.

Some time since Mrs. P. P. Ogilvie, of Bellevue, received a letter that gave her considerable pain, but was not considered serious. She had not recovered from the effects of the fall, and when she arose last Thursday, she was complaining, and continued to grow worse till death relieved her Thursday night. The remains were interred in the Sand Run cemetery last Saturday. The bereaved husband and family have the sympathy of the entire community.

At a very early hour last Thursday morning two buggies were seen drive up to the Boone House and two couples alight therefrom. It was one of the cars of all those who had left their downy couches that a wedding party was at the hotel, and that immediately after breakfast Elder R. J. Foster's residence would be the scene of the matrimonial celebration. This proved to be a well founded rumor, and before the hour of 8 a. m. arrived, Elder Foster had invited Augustus Cummings and Sarah R. Baker in the holy bonds, and they went on their way rejoicing.

GEORGE PAICE, the negro sentenced to be hanged, in Cincinnati, on the 26th of May, for the murder of Willie Barker, of Covington, is suffering the torments of the last. When first confined in jail he was a robust man. Now he is thin and weak, and of late has been troubled with spasms. Since the recent death of his child, the namesake of the man he murdered, he has suffered with fits of nervous fear and excitement that seemed as if they would prove fatal, and even his wife cannot soothe him. He will scream at night with horror at his approaching death.

Pursuant to the call of the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, of the 11th Judicial District of Ky., the several members of said Committee met at the law office of J. D. Lillard, in Owenton, Owen county, at 10 o'clock, a. m., Wednesday, March 24th, 1890. Composed of the following members: R. C. Green, of Boone, representing Cyrus Ridgell; J. H. McDaniel, of Gallatin, representing J. S. Gaunt, of Carroll; Peter Jett, of Franklin; R. H. Elliston, of Scott.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. R. C. Green, of Boone county, and R. H. Elliston, of Grant county, chosen Secretary. The following Resolutions were then adopted:

Resolved, That a Democratic Convention be held on the 4th day of May, 1890, at the town of Glasgow, Gallatin county, for the purpose of selecting candidates for the office of Circuit Judge, and for Judicial District Attorney for the 11th Judicial District.

Resolved, That the ballot of representation in said Convention shall be one vote for every one hundred votes and fractional fifty cast for Hon. Luke P. Blackburn as the last gubernatorial election.

Unless there should be no magisterial districts in the counties composing said district where the Democratic vote does not amount to fifty, the entire county and district is to be entitled to a vote and each man receive his pro rata part of said vote in said convention, and in no event the vote of any county to exceed the number as is entitled to under the basis hereby established.

Resolved, That the delegates to said convention be selected by the Democratic voters, composing each magisterial district, in the various counties of said district. The voters in said magisterial districts to meet at their district on the 1st day of May, 1890, at the hour of 9 a. m., and proceed to the selection of delegates. The delegates then selected, to be instructed to give every man his pro rata strength in the convention.

Resolved, That the several Democratic papers in the district, the Cincinnati Enquirer and Louisville Courier-Journal, be requested to publish this proceedings. The committee then adjourned.

R. H. ELLISTON, Secy.
By reference to the vote cast for Governor Hickman, we find that Bellevue gave him 81 votes; Burlington, 106; Burlington, 14; Taylorport, 14; Union, 112; Verna, 93; Florence, 176; Hamilton, 123; Petersburg, 72; Walton, 114. The above vote apportioned delegates to the district convention from this county as follows: Burlington, 1; Florence, 2; Hamilton, 1; Petersburg, 1; Taylorport, 1; Union, 1; Verna, 1; Walton, 1. Under the provision of resolution two, in the order calling for the convention, Cates and Bellevue are each entitled to one delegate which gives the county 11 delegates in the convention.

These men are, at the same time do claiming that it is a sin to levy any tax on quinine. Such is protection. While these sharpshooters are declaring that their business is "utterly ruined" by the repeal of the duty on quinine, we learn from a Philadelphia paper (the largest quinine firm is located there) that the manufacturers are informing their customers that they are overruled by business. —Courier-body of the usual size but malformed.

It lived only a few days.

—Mt. Sterling Sentinel: John Prater, of Morgan county, has just cut and worked up a board tree which he bought thirty years ago and which he had stored in his storehouse. The board tree, which was three feet in diameter, had grown to a number of hands, but the tree was never reserved as the property of Mr. Prater.

—The town of Fulton is divided by the Tennessee State line in such a manner as to afford a great convenience to young men and other men who wish to avoid annoyance from grand juries. When a grand jury is in session in Fulton, men who don't want to be annoyed move across the street in Tennessee, and are safe.

The sitting of a grand jury in Ohio county, Tenn., caused a similar movement toward Kentucky.

—True Kestonian: Meeting Col.
T. L. Jones, in Cincinnati, we said:
"I am so glad to see you and Geo.
Stevenson have again become friends." "Yes," said he "I had heard of the Governor expressing a desire to be reconciled, so when I saw him in the bank I went forward and offered him my hand and he cordially grasped it and went on to allude to our misunderstanding, when I said let it all pass as though it never happened."

—The Lexington Press, under head "Tramps," says: Prof. Frank Smith and Daniel McShane, of Cynthiana, both clever gentlemen of means and culture, have in contemplation a trip to Europe, and the "daring" of that country on foot.
They will make the journey possible with staff in hand and walking on their backs. If tramping has become the evil in that country that it is in this, they will do well to consult attorneys at the principal places through which they pass.

—The Southern Baptist Convention will meet in Lexington on the 5th of May and continue in session until the 13th. Nearly 500 delegates will be in attendance, and including the ladies and other visitors who will accompany them, at least 1,000 persons will be present, representing every Southern State. Ex-Gov. Preston H. Leslie, of this State, and ex-Gov. Joseph E. Brown, of Georgia, are among the delegates.
This will be the largest body that has assembled in Lexington for many years, and the people of that city will "just express themselves" in a display of hospitality.

—The good people of Frankfort were alarmed at the enforcement of the Sunday law at the beginning of this week. They had to do without bread, meat, milk, cigars, tobacco and beer, and could get medicine only on the order of a physician.
The ordinance was rigidly enforced, and the Yeoman says that, members of the Legislature who desired to present a responsible appearance at church were obliged to have barbers come to their rooms. "It was a Sunday of the olden times—a Puritan-like, blue-law day, such as was known in Connecticut when it was a punishable offense to kiss your wife on Sunday.

MISS SALLIE RICE, of Kenton county, who has been visiting her sister at this place for some time, returned home last Sunday. Her many friends were sorry to part from her.

Died.

At the home of their parents, near Taylor, the following persons died: On March 11th, Nathaniel 11 years and a few months; second daughter. Also on March 20th, Kithie, aged 18 years, lacking a few days, oldest daughter of George and Margaret Moore.

Thus, in less than ten days the oldest two of the above household were taken away, and the hearts of the community here, as well as sympathy for the bereaved family.

These children were bright and intelligent, and their vacant places will leave a shadow over the hearts and homes of the mourning parents and friends.

Taken violently ill at first, both seemed conscious they would die, and kissed good-bye to the loved ones around.

When the youngest of the two, named her mother, and clasping her arms around her neck, asked: "Will you miss me when I am gone?"

COLORADO LETTER.

GREENLEY, COLORADO, April 1, 1880.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Having been a resident of Boone county, Kentucky, for the last three years, and a reader of the RECORDER, I was very much pleased yesterday by receiving a copy of the interesting paper from the hands of some kind friend.

I was glad to see it so friendly and full of news, and I was glad to see it was published especially the Union and Richmond news, the place of my old home.

Thinking that perhaps some of your readers would like to see a few lines from this part of the country, I take the privilege of writing.

This town is on the Cache La Poudre River, four miles from its mouth, and the South Platte River, and on the railroad half way between Denver and Cheyenne cities. It is within 25 miles of the Rocky Mountain Range, 70 miles of Long's Peak.

Greenley is ten years old, has 5000 inhabitants, is a thrifty, lively business place, is strictly a temperance town, and is supported by the farmers and stock raisers.

Heretofore there have been but about 50,000 acres of land under irrigation at this place, but in March, a new irrigation ditch was completed (having been in operation under process of construction), covering 70,000 acres more of good farming land, the Government part of which is about all taken up, and the R. R. Company is selling its part now. They own every other section.

There is a great flow of emigration to this part of the country this spring.

By use of irrigation the land seems to be very productive of wheat, oats, potatoes and garden vegetables. Fruit is also brought to do well here. I have seen some fields on the farm where they have raised 50 bushels of wheat to the acre last year. From 25 to 40 bushels they consider an ordinary crop.

The past winter has been very mild in Colorado. The cattle men tell me that their stock did not suffer at all through the winter in good condition. Sheep are considered very profitable stock to raise, one man, who has a dog, can tend 2,500 as easily as 500. The maremen sheep are considered the most profitable here, as they remain healthy in large flocks, and are more easily kept together in the herd.

I have been here seven weeks and have not seen a drop of rain fall yet. Have you any to spare us? With best wishes for the RECORDER and its readers, I close.

AN ORDER FOR A PRIMARY ELECTION.

At a meeting of the Democratic Committee of Boone County at Burlington, April 2d, 1880, it is ordered that a Democratic Primary Election be held on Saturday, the 24th of April, 1880, in said county for the purpose of electing Democratic candidates for the office of Sheriff and Clerk of the Circuit Court; and the following persons are selected to provide poll-books and to hold said election, record the vote and make return thereof, to Burlington, to wit: Union—D. W. Gaines, Clerk; H. B. Bannister, Wm. Wilkie, Judges.

Walton—Samuel T. Johnson, Clerk; Sam Bird, W. L. Norman, Judges.

Hamilton—John Green, Clerk; Hamp Adams, Charles Smith, Judges.

Yonkers—W. W. Rogers, Clerk; J. M. Sleet, W. B. Craven, Judges.

Carlton—J. A. Wilson, Clerk; J. H. Walton, Geo. Orwig, Judges.

Bellevue—J. L. H. Arnold, Clerk; M. B. Green, Jas. Rodgers, Judges.

Petersburg—Elijah Barker, Clerk; N. S. Walton, John Leister, Judges.

Hebron—David Beall, Clerk; Francis Gordon, Wm. Ayler, Judges.

Burlington—J. F. Foster, Clerk; W. T. Gorman, C. Crider, Judges.

Florence—Dr. S. S. Scott, Clerk; T. J. McNeil, F. A. Boyd, Judges.

The Democratic committee of the county are requested to assemble at their respective usual voting places (except as otherwise laid out by order of the court) at the election there being held on said day, cast their votes for their choice of the candidates for Union, District Judges, Clerk, and second choice, and when there are more than two persons being voted for the same office the voters are requested to vote for a first and second choice, &c.

The persons appointed hereby to hold said election, will open the polls at 7 a. m., and close them at 7 p. m. on said day, and they will, in test for the voters, record their votes as to the voter's first and second choice, and any further choice he may have. If he should indicate more than one choice, the first choice will be shown by figure (1) one under the name of the voter's first choice candidate; his second choice by figure (2) two under the name of the voter's second choice candidate, and so on.

The said clerks holding the election in the several precincts of the county are appointed a committee to compare the polls and count up the votes and announce the result to the Chairman of the County Executive Committee, who shall be the Chairman of the board counting the vote, and for that purpose the said clerks holding said election, and the Chairman of the County Executive Committee shall meet at Burlington, on Monday, the 26th day of April, 1880, at 10 o'clock, a. m., and proceed to compare the polls and ascertain which of the candidates for each office has received the highest number of first choice votes as shown by the poll-books when counted up in the manner following, to wit: The number of first-choice votes cast for or candidate for each office shall first be ascertained, and the candidate receiving the lowest number of first-choice votes shall be dropped from the list of candidates, and the second choice of those who had voted for the dropped candidate shall become their first-choice votes and be so counted as between the other candidates, and the Committee will so count them, and cast-up the vote between the remaining candidate, and the candidate receiving a majority of the first-choice votes cast, or as counted as between the other candidates, will be the nominee. If no such majority be received, the highest number of first-choice votes cast, or as counted as between the other candidates, will be the nominee, and the Committee will so count them, and cast-up the vote between the remaining candidate, and the candidate receiving a majority of the first-choice votes cast, or as counted as between the other candidates, will be the nominee.

At the election provided for in this order, persons identified with the Democratic party, who desire to identify themselves with the Democratic party, will be entitled to vote.

Ordered that the Chairman of the County Executive Committee for Boone county be the Chairman of the board counting the vote, and that the clerks taking the vote be a board of three officers.

The election in the Taylorport district will be held at Hebron.

THE NEW SUNDAY LAW.

AN ACT to amend section 10, article 17, chapter 29, of the General Statutes of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Section 10, article 17, of chapter 29, of the General Statutes, be amended by the addition of the words following to-wit: That it shall be unlawful for any tavern keeper (whether licensed by the State or by authority of the county court, or taster or other authority of city or town, or for any saloon keeper, or any other dealer in intoxicating liquors, to have open a bar-room or other place for the sale of such liquors, or in any way to sell, give or otherwise dispose of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors on Sunday.

12. The keeping open of a bar or store, or any other place for the sale of such liquors, or the selling or otherwise disposing of such liquors on Sunday, shall be deemed a violation of the statute to which this act is an amendment, and shall, upon conviction, subject the offender to the pains and penalties prescribed therein; and shall moreover for the third offense forfeit his license, whether State city, county court or town license.

13. That all acts or parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act, shall be null and void.

14. This act shall take effect from its passage.

It is estimated that 10,000 Canadian emigrants will seek new homes in the West and Northwest the present summer. The emigrant movement to Western points is already heavier than at any time last year.

ENGLAND seems to have overthrown the Beaufort government because it was tired of wars and rumors of wars. Yet it really makes very little difference to England whether it has a war on its hands or not. Its loss of men and ships keeps going on with the greatest regularity, and it would really be much pleasanter for its marines to lose their lives in a sharp naval engagement than to go to the bottom helplessly in one of those overgrown iron monsters that comprise the British navy. The Captain, an iron giant, went down with all on board. The Eurydice capized in sight of land and not a soul was saved but two of her 825 men. Now her sister ship, the Atlanta, with over 800 on board, is lost.

This work on the tunnel under the North River to connect New York with Jersey City seems to be going forward at a very lively rate, although not much is heard of it. The tunnel will be two miles in length, from Washington square, in New York, to the terminus in Jersey City, and three-quarters of a mile will be under the river. It will carry a double track, or, rather, it will be a double tunnel. Three gangs of men are now employed, and work never stops day or night. As the mud and rock are taken out the sides of the bore are lined with boiler iron, and inside of this a circle of hard timber is laid. The work is laid with cement. Some difficulty is expected when the work reaches the channel of the river, but the engineers have calculated all the possible troubles and are confident of success. It is expected to have the tunnel completed in three years.

The philosopher of Peck's Irish has discovered a flaw in the Irish suffering business. He says: "At Ennisborty, where Mr. Parnell attempted to speak the other night, he was driven from the platform by a shower of bad eggs. It will be seen from this that eggs are no plenty in Ireland that they are allowed to spoil."

GEN. HATCH surrounded and captured, a few days since, four hundred Apache warriors, in the San Andre Mountains. PECK'S Sun: Just six months ago the tax on tobacco was reduced by the act of 1876, and the result has been an increase of $776,000 in the revenue of any other six months of the last ten years. This proves, what we have always claimed, that Congress occasionally does a sensible thing. We have been abused for holding this view many times, but we were conscious that we were right and stuck to it.

SARA BERNHART is taking a rest. Because a critic found fault with her acting in a new play in the Theatre Francaise, Paris, she resigned, and now has a lawsuit on hand. Immediately upon the announcement of her resignation, she was seized with a nervous attack in this country, either of which seemed fabulous, but she rejected them. She knows how to get free advertising. She'll be over here next winter.

The difference in Mr. Vanderbilt's income as the result of converting $51,000,000 of New York Central Railroad stock into United States four per cent. is, if we estimate the stock as yielding ten per cent. per annum, $3,000,000; but as it still leaves him an annual revenue of $2,400,000, or nearly $175,000 a month, $46,500 a week, $6,500 a day, $275 an hour, and $4.60 a minute, he need not yet sell his fast horses or his new pictures in order to make both ends meet.

The most interesting event of last week in England was the laying of the foundation stone of the Cathedral by the Prince of Wales, where the Duke of Cornwall, made his invitation to and presence at the ceremony, particularly appropriate.

The event was made still more interesting from the fact that this is the first cathedral erected in England since the Reformation.

A collision occurred on the Wilmington and Northern Railroad, near Honesdale, Pa., on the 27th of May. The train consisted of a north-bound freight and a south-bound passenger train.

Both engines were completely wrecked, and the trains were run for a considerable distance. Ten or twelve passengers were more or less injured, among them a number of ladies. In some cases the injuries will result fatally.

The sub-committee of the House committee on the purchase, for $250,000, of the remainder of the square, which the city owns; also, additional machinery, and having the Philadelphia Mint, rather than the establishment of another Mint, in the city.

It is now ascertained, even if it is not deemed of public interest, that the city will not be able to raise the money to buy the land, and that the city will have to be sold.

Mr. CARLISLE does not think Mr. Tilden available. He prefers Seymour.

At the big guns in the Republican party are now quartered in Chicago.

In Christian county they pay 55 cents tax on the $100 for county purposes.

The Penitentiary Commissioners are advertising convict labor for hire. Don't want it.

The Democrats will presently know whom they have to beat, or by whom they will be beaten for the Presidency.

The Jefferson county grand jury refused to indict any person for a violation of the Sunday law, except liquor dealers.

Col. BLANTON DUNCAN has sued the Courier-Journal for $25,000, for saying he was connected with the raid of 1865.

The Irishman who had his toes and fingers frozen by being put off the train on the Chicago and St. Louis railroad, between Christian and Cropper's Depot, last January a year ago, and brought suit against the Railroad Company for $20,000 damages, obtained a verdict for $5,000 in Oldham Circuit Court last week.

It is said that in Russia there are more editors in prisons than there are out, and that the majority of them are bachelors. This is a sad commentary on quill-drivers. Probably if the fair sex had exercised their Leap Year prerogative, they might have kept these poor fellows from being immured in Russian dungeons.

Prices, the murderer of Villa Black, did not expire his crime on the gallows last Friday in Cincinnati.

Governor Foster, upon a mere word of the jail physician indorsed by one other doctor, granted a reprieve until the 9th of July, which makes it altogether doubtful about his ever hanging. A like action on the part of the Governor of Kentucky would be a sweet morsel for our neighbors to use in charging the people of this State as being a band of out-laws, supported by their chief Magistrate of the State.

The Cincinnati Enquirer's correspondence from Grayson thinks that Judge Stewart is doing Carter county worse injury in representing that the Regulators are no more nor less a band of out-laws, who are a terror to that part of the State. The writer claims that the Regulators number about three or four hundred, and that their only aim is to rid the country of a lot of bad men who have taken refuge in the mountain recesses since the war, and who have been perpetrating lawless deeds for which the courts have allowed them to go unpunished. He claims that the state of morals in that section are now better than they have been for some time.

The Carlsle whisky bill is now a law. It is of more importance to Kentucky distillers than those of other States, and by its provisions they do not have to pay tax on the whisky that evaporates while in bond.

The Blaine delegation from Maine to Chicago intended to go on a special train with a brass band in the front car and a cannon for firing salutes on platform car at the rear. It is doubtful if they return with as much pomp.

Governor BLACKBURN wishes it distinctly understood that in the maintenance of the law in any part of the State, he will not hesitate to order the best man of the militia force to the field, so says the Frankfort Yeoman.

The convention which met in Lawrenceburg, last week, to nominate a Democratic candidate for Congress, nominated Hon. W. S. Holman, of Aurora. Mr. Holman had no opposition in the convention. His election is considered certain.

Under a late law it is now a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $25, for a person to solicit a Sheriff, or any other officer, to be summoned on a jury and it also makes it the duty of the officer to report the names of all persons so soliciting him.

The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund elected Mr. Thomas J. South, a son of the late Colonel W. J. South, as Deputy Warden of the Penitentiary, and Captain J. D. Howell of Pleasantville, as Clerk. There was a large number of applicants for these two positions.

Gov. BLACKBURN has pardoned Fred Megowan, sentenced to the Penitentiary for nine years for murder in Montgomery county; Joseph Skorp, sentenced for ten years for rape in Taylor county; and Alfred Smith, sentenced for two years for horse-stealing in Fayette county.

Is open or shut in Boston. Instead of shut doors in liquor saloons on sundays the new law orders open windows all day long. All curtains, wooden screens, stained glass, or ground glass doors and windows must come down or stand aside, so that everybody can see what is going on or going down within.

A DISPATCH from Judge James Stewart to Governor Blackburn, says that two hundred Regulators came to Louisville and made full surrender and gave the names of all the members in Carter county to the grand jury. There are about eight hundred. The Yeoman thinks that step practically puts an end to disorder in that section.

THE IRLISHMAN, the Irishman who had his toes and fingers frozen by being put off the train on the Chicago and St. Louis railroad, between Christian and Cropper's Depot, last January a year ago, and brought suit against the Railroad Company for $20,000 damages, obtained a verdict for $5,000 in Oldham Circuit Court last week.

preaching of Geo. O. Barnes there last year accomplished more in securing peace and order than all the courts and soldiers had beforehand.

The Midway Copper Mine: A gentleman in the county who had his horse hard on a rope, and at night one of them was taken with lockjaw. He was relieved by having several buckets of cold water dashed into his face.

During a fire at Frankfort, when no body else could be found, a dog enough to go upon the roof of a house in danger, Miss Minnie Pollard climbed to the roof and with a broom swept away the hot coals that showed upon the shingles.

Judge Anderson, of Flemingsburg, Republican Judge of the Eleventh Criminal District, says he is going to enforce the recent decision of the Supreme Court, requiring in all cases where a negro is a party, that the jury shall be selected accordingly.

Capt. Taylor, of the 1st Regt. of Artillery, returned last week, from a tour on the moonshiners in the mountains of Perry, Letcher, Leslie, Clay and Laurel, destroying 10 illicit distilleries, captured 10 prisoners, destroyed 20,000 gallons of "beer" and a large quantity of whisky.

Clinton Democrat: This county is considerably larger this season, than ever before. In fact, almost every available foot of cleared land is set some kind of crop. And, too, the country has been made more fertile by the use of manure and fertilizers. It should fair seasons follow, abundant harvests will certainly crown the husbandman's labors.

Governor Foster, upon a mere word of the jail physician indorsed by one other doctor, granted a reprieve until the 9th of July, which makes it altogether doubtful about his ever hanging. A like action on the part of the Governor of Kentucky would be a sweet morsel for our neighbors to use in charging the people of this State as being a band of out-laws, supported by their chief Magistrate of the State.

The Cincinnati Enquirer's correspondence from Grayson thinks that Judge Stewart is doing Carter county worse injury in representing that the Regulators are no more nor less a band of out-laws, who are a terror to that part of the State. The writer claims that the Regulators number about three or four hundred, and that their only aim is to rid the country of a lot of bad men who have taken refuge in the mountain recesses since the war, and who have been perpetrating lawless deeds for which the courts have allowed them to go unpunished. He claims that the state of morals in that section are now better than they have been for some time.

This following interesting statistics concerning this county, we gather from the Assessor's book for the year 1880: acres of land 145,245

This following is the report of a political speech, which Mr. F. A. Hall, an attaché of this office, heard on the street corner the other evening. It may be well to state in this connection that Frank is studying Pimman's system of short-hand writing:

Under a late law it is now a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $25, for a person to solicit a Sheriff, or any other officer, to be summoned on a jury and it also makes it the duty of the officer to report the names of all persons so soliciting him.

The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund elected Mr. Thomas J. South, a son of the late Colonel W. J. South, as Deputy Warden of the Penitentiary, and Captain J. D. Howell of Pleasantville, as Clerk. There was a large number of applicants for these two positions.

Gov. BLACKBURN has pardoned Fred Megowan, sentenced to the Penitentiary for nine years for murder in Montgomery county; Joseph Skorp, sentenced for ten years for rape in Taylor county; and Alfred Smith, sentenced for two years for horse-stealing in Fayette county.

Is open or shut in Boston. Instead of shut doors in liquor saloons on sundays the new law orders open windows all day long. All curtains, wooden screens, stained glass, or ground glass doors and windows must come down or stand aside, so that everybody can see what is going on or going down within.

A DISPATCH from Judge James Stewart to Governor Blackburn, says that two hundred Regulators came to Louisville and made full surrender and gave the names of all the members in Carter county to the grand jury. There are about eight hundred. The Yeoman thinks that step practically puts an end to disorder in that section.

THE IRLISHMAN, the Irishman who had his toes and fingers frozen by being put off the train on the Chicago and St. Louis railroad, between Christian and Cropper's Depot, last January a year ago, and brought suit against the Railroad Company for $20,000 damages, obtained a verdict for $5,000 in Oldham Circuit Court last week.

It is said that in Russia there are more editors in prisons than there are out, and that the majority of them are bachelors. This is a sad commentary on quill-drivers. Probably if the fair sex had exercised their Leap Year prerogative, they might have kept these poor fellows from being immured in Russian dungeons.

Bellevue.
Our most belicved and highly corpulent Constable has forever immortalized himself by the promulgation of a fiery manifesto, which, to an ordinary mortal, in about as intelligible as the ancient hieroglyphics of Egypt. Experts who have undertaken the task of deciphering this manifesto—"Notis," are of the opinion that it bears on the prevailing stock law, and it seems spirited war and are surrounded only by the yardman of the inevitable costs.

Rev. A. Yardman and wife have returned from Owensboro, Kentucky, whither they went to attend the Baptist State Association.

The census enumerators for this county are far as known: Geo. W. Quinn, for Walton and Verona; J. W. Hughes for Hamilton; A. Q. Baker for Carlton and Bellevue; and T. H. Baker for Taylorport. They all enter upon the discharge of the duties of their position on the first day of June.

Mrs. Mollie O'Nan who has been on a visit here for some weeks will return to her home near Frankfurt the current week.

Mrs. Mattie Steel, of Rabbit Hill, and Lou Burrier, of Evansville, Ind., were visiting the Misses Smith, last Sunday.

Some bold, bad men so cruelly suggest that while Tom Baker is engaged in "raking in the money" it would be an admirable thing to take his share of that valuable commodity for his own exclusive use.

Mr. Dudley Rowe now has his goods transported to Silver Lake, from whence he has them hauled in wagons.

The Gosz-Ryan prize-fight between Joe Gosz and Foddy Ryan, in West Virginia, Tuesday, resulted in Gosz getting pounded almost to death. Ryan was hurt pretty badly. What class was it? Have we never heard he would never enter the ring again in this country. Gosz had sworn off again now.

We learn that during the absence of Mr. Gosz, each one of the Bellevue neighborhood, last Sunday, a negro man entered his house by the way of the window, and not until Mrs. Babcock drew a shut gun, did the fellow leave the place. The scamp hated the country and it was well for him that he did.

We are authorized to announce J. D. GAINES as a candidate for Constable in the Union precinct, at the August election, 1880.

T. A. MARSHALL is a candidate for Constable in the Union District at the August election, 1880.

Wm. H. HARRIS is a candidate for Constable in the Hamilton District at the August election, 1880.

The Republican Convention, after a week's boisterous and tumultuous session, nominated Senator Garfield of Ohio. He was a very dark horse, and on the thirty-fifth ballot he was led out, and on the thirty-sixth ballot he was nominated, all the forces except Grant's uniting on him. The last ballot Grant received his full strength, 309 votes. Garfield is represented as being a good and strong man. He is evidently an able man. Under all the circumstances Grant's defeat is certainly very humiliating, and he wanted to be President next time worse than any man in the United States.

CONGRESS expects to be able to adjourn by the 15th of this month.

CINCINNATI's base ball team is considerably below an average.

JOHN D. WHITE was Chairman of the Kentucky delegation at Chicago last week.

CHICAGO turned herself loose in arranging to entertain the Republican convention.

THE convention at Chicago has a great portion of the time been a perfect pandemonium.

CHICAGO has been a windy city for the past two weeks. It has been visited by a political cyclone.

J. D. LILLARD, of Owen county, is a candidate for Congress in the Seventh Congressional District.

THE farmers are all in a good humor on account of the flattering prospects for another bountiful crop.

The jury in the Green-Harris case rendered a verdict of not guilty after about thirty minutes consideration.

CONSTABLES have to be elected at the August election. Who will be the candidate or candidates in this district.

CRADDOCK took in the Chicago convention. He takes in everything of the kind far and near. He approximates ubiquity.

It has been suggested that Governor Blackburn will convene the Legislature to take into consideration the colored jury question.

THE Grant county bar pass resolutions expressive of the feeling of the bar and officers of said Court on the retirement of Judge Drane from the bench.

THE Yeoman sent out last week a supplement containing a synopsis of all the acts of the late Legislature. The sheet is of much value for present reference.

SAYS the Courier-Journal, twenty-seven young ladies of Newport have taken upon themselves a vow never to marry a young man who drinks strong drink.

THANKS to Hon. J. H. Carlisle for a copy of Investigation of Diseases of Swine and Infections and Contagious Diseases incident to other Classes of Domestic Animals.

THERE are two hundred army of officers away from their regiments, drawing extra pay from the Government. Of this number, there are several who never served a day in the field.—Louisville Commercial.

THE Lexington convention will be one of the largest, and we doubt not, one of the most harmonious, ever held in the State; and what ever may be its action, it will be heartily indorsed by the party at large.—Yeoman.

THE Saline County (Mo.) Democrat, says: Both the Missouri and the Kansas delegations to Cincinnati may be set down as wedded to no particular candidate, but as for the man whose chances for success are greater, whose nomination is more sure to bring victory with it.

The number of delegates to which Boone is entitled in the Lexington convention demonstrates the necessity of the Democrats polling a full vote at the general elections. Many of the counties that are much smaller than Boone have a larger delegation in the State conventions. Henceforth let the party strive to be ascertained that the basis of representation may give her more votes in conventions.

THE Legislature decreed that another vote shall be taken on the proposition to call a convention to revise the constitution of this State. The people of the State may as well decide to have said convention called, for the Legislature will continue ordering a vote taken thereon, till the elections caused thereby will cost the State more than the session of the convention.

TWO three hundred thousand dollars appropriated by the general government to improve the Kentucky river insures the thorough repair of the existing locks and dams and the building of one new dam, at least. This money will be expended under the direction of Capt. Cuyler, the United States Engineer, who will put the work through as fast as men and money can do it.—Capital Gazette.

THE Supervisors of tax in some counties in the State have considerably increased the value of taxable property. In Owen county the Supervisors created considerable commotion among the land owners by raising the figures, and they contemplated carrying the matter to such an extent that the board adjourned for several days in order to notify the persons on whose property the increase was made.

THOS. G. STUART, junior editor of the Clark County Democrat, and Secretary of the Kentucky Press Association, is favorably spoken of as a candidate for District delegate to the Cincinnati convention. Mr. Stuart is an earnest worker in the Democratic ranks, and a young man of rare ability. We would be glad to see him favored with the position, which he would fill with honor to the party and credit to himself.

THE State Journal suggests that in the event there is a special session of the Legislature, that Hon. T. W. Hill, of Campbell county, be chosen Speaker of the House. It claims that Mr. Hill understands perfectly all parliamentary rules and possesses the promptness and decision of character so necessary to a Speaker. Let somebody who is a parliamentary expert chair the next time. Last winter's experience demonstrates that such a person is a necessity.

DON CAMERON, who contemplated making Walter Evans temporary chairman of the Chicago convention, was told by a "prominent Kentuckian" that Walter has neither the ability, experience nor dignity to fill the place, nor have Kentucky Republicans a desire to see him in it." So says the Louisville Commercial.

THESE Kentucky Republicans are hard on each other. W. Evans did the best he could in the gubernatorial race with his mouth-piece and revolver, and his brethren should not kick him after he is down.—Courier-Journal.

SINCE the convention held last Saturday we have heard the question asked, "what will the five delegates appointed do in the event that other Democrats from the county attend the Lexington convention and claim the right to take part as delegates?" It seems that the motion appointing every Democrat who may attend the convention a delegate is considered out of the usual order, and is an innovation on the rights of the delegates. Have these gentlemen who are seeking for the information forgotten that the following was adopted by the mass meeting held in this county the first Monday in February, 1879, and which appointed delegates to the State convention, held in Louisville for nominating a State ticket?

Of motion, any Democrat of Boone county who will attend the Louisville convention shall be a delegate.

At the meeting in which the above motion was adopted there was a very large attendance, every part of the county being represented and taking part in the action of the meeting, while the attendance last Saturday was very limited, large portions of the county having no representation whatever. Now, under all the circumstances, we hold that if it was right to adopt the motion mentioned, on the first Monday in February, 1879, it was certainly proper to adopt it last Saturday. It is the general practice of Democratic primary meetings to take such action, and as all the delegates in the past have taken care of the duties assigned them, it is presumable that those who attend the Lexington convention will be able to do the same.

THE following which we clip from the State Journal shows conclusively that a new constitution for this State has become a necessity: The darlings of Kentucky have a millennium. Judge Barr, recently appointed by the President as one of the judges of the United States Court, gave it to them on Saturday last in Covington in the case of Wm. Gillis and John Davis, two colored men taken from the Bourbon county Jail under writ of habeas corpus. Gillis and Davis were indicted for "malicious shooting" at a term of the Bourbon County Court. The grand jury which indicted them was composed exclusively of white men, according to the Constitution of Kentucky, which expressly excludes colored men from serving on this body. This is manifestly a contravention of the Constitution of the United States as amended, hence the Judge declared the indictment of the grand jury quashed, and ordered the Marshal to take the two men back to Lexington, there to hold them in custody three or four hours, and to set them at liberty in case the Bourbon county officials did not at the end of that time make a demand for them. And now the Bourbon county authorities don't know what to do in the matter. In order to hold them they must have them reindicted by a grand jury partially colored. This the Constitution of Kentucky forbids them doing. It is likely, therefore, that both men will be permitted to go free. And still worse, the example will be followed up by other colored persons under arrest and convicted since the passage of the amendments to the Constitution of the United States relative to such cases. The rush for writs of habeas corpus by colored prisoners in the Penitentiary will be simply immense. Surely, the millennium for the vicious Kentucky darlings has arrived.

THE Carter county apple crop will be a failure.

MURKIN is killing the cattle in Morgan county.

Georgetown College will have three graduates.

The Winchester Sun has a petrifried copperhead snake.

Two Mormon missionaries are preaching in Christian county.

Harvest hands are being engaged at $1 per day in Clark county.

The Owensboro papers speak of wheat in that section being six feet high.

It is thought that all the Kentucky delegation to Congress will be returned.

The new crop of Blue grass seed is selling at 14c per bushel from the stripper.

Levi Taylor, of Wayne county, worked at corn-planting on the day he was 100 years old.

There is war in Ballard county over the removal of the county seat from Blainville.

A little girl six years old was shipped from Harrodsburg to Lexington, Mo., by Adams express.

The indications are that the present meeting at Ashland will be the largest ever held in Kentucky.

It is said that a cow in Hart county gave birth to a calf weighing 106 pounds, which is probably a lie.

The wool clipped in Kentucky will not be as large as it was last year, owing to the mildness of the winter.

A shepherd dog belonging to Marcus Bean, of Clark county, does not allow a crow to alight upon his master's farm.

Hon. Oscar Turner has written letters to friends in the first district announcing that he will be a candidate for re-election.

Jerry Little, of Breathitt county, tried in the Morgan Circuit Court upon the charge of killing Judge Burnett, was acquitted.

A colored military company has been organized at Bowling Green, and will seek application for recognition as State guards.

A Card.

I wish to contradict a report that is being circulated in this part of the county, that I am selling whisky by the drink from my bucket wagon. I have traced the report up, and find that the man from whom it is said it started knows nothing about it, and denies ever mentioning any name in this connection. A. T. AUSTIN.

This fine young stallion will make the season of 1880, at my stable on Gunpowder, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week, and at Burlington on Friday and Saturday, at $10 to insure the mare foal, the money due when the fact is ascertained by mare parturition.

DESCRIPTION AND PEDIGREE. Crigler's Denmark is 6 years old, 16 1/2 hands high, is a bright blood bay of fine length with six fine legs, join in quarters as were ever put on a horse. His blood-line is full of expression, indicative of the finest disposition, and taken all in all, he is one of the finest horses ever bred in Kentucky. He was sired by Denmark Chief, he by old Black Denmark, formerly owned by R. A. Alexander, of Woodburn, Kentucky. Old Denmark was sired by the old race-horse, Imported Hegeford, Old Denmark's dam was by Old Cockspur, g. d. by Dick Singleton, a thoroughbred. The dam of Denmark Chief (Brown Kitty) was by Crusader, he by Virginia Whip. Brown Kitty's dam was a Messenger mare, Crigler's Denmark's dam was sired by Ed Hawkins, g. d. by Star Messenger.

Will make the season at my stable at $10 to insure.

King Herod is a beautiful black, 15 1/2 hands high, fine style and action, was sired by old O. M. Clay, and out of the best breeding mare ever in the State. She was owned by E. L. Crigler.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents but we will not be responsible should any occur. W. A. CRIGLER & SON.

The special term of the Circuit Court convened Friday morning, Judge Drake presiding and about fifteen lawyers in attendance. The court was principally for the disposition of the Price case.

J. M. CONNER, of the firm of Sleet, Wilkerson Co., was in town Friday. J. R. reports their business in live stock booming, which was all to re-report. Three of the firm are Boone county men, in whom the people have implicit confidence.

On this (Thursday) evening there will be a strawberry festival in the Baptist Church in Florence, the proceeds to go for the benefit of the church. Extensive arrangements have been made for the entertainment of those who attend. A large attendance and a pleasant evening are anticipated. Doors open at 8 p. m. Tickets, 25 cents.

We don't know that we ever heard of a jump of the Price in the State being compelled to go to the Poor-house while holding said office, but this week we record the fact that on last Friday night was the case, and the Justice to whom we refer is Henry Bannister. He wished to examine the work on the new building.

UNCLE WM. TANNER, the boss barbecue cook of North America was in to see us last Monday. He is expecting a call to host the cooking for a barbecue in Ohio. Mr. T. evidently knows how to prepare meat for such occasions, having been engaged in that business for many years. In this county, we'll bet he makes the Buckeye smother their lips if he cooks for them.

Mr. W. A. CONNER had a very fine cow folded the other day, and immediately between its ears a perfect cap about the size of a silver dollar. This cap is black, while the cow is a beautiful bay. The head being movable, is fastened to the head by a small thread line, and is a spunky substance. Mr. Conner has received $500 cash for it. It was hired by King Hedges.

On Saturday Mr. Mollie Kirtley, of East Bend, was in to see us. He reports the corn and wheat crops on the Lehigh Creek Mills as in fine condition. The crops in the bottoms, rather better than in the county, was just what they needed for planting. He says a large acreage of potatoes were planted, and the bugs are numerous; but the raisers are making a hard fight with them. Meadows in his locality are not very promising.

Geo. KOVENS, Constable in the Florence district, had an interesting and exciting time, for a few minutes, with a powerful dog belonging to the widow Gruba who lives on the Lexington pike above Florence, a few days since. In the struggle the dog came near depriving Kovens of his clothing, but did not inflict any flesh wounds on his person. However the second official that has whiped that dog.

DEATH.

ROBT. ON the 6th inst. after two months suffering with consumption, in the 24th year of his age, Mr. Sallie Rigg, wife of W. W. Rigg and daughter of Cyrus Riddell. The funeral was preached by Rev. W. O. Barnett in the Hebron church, on the 8th inst., after which the remains were deposited in the Hebron vault. The final interment will be in the Burlington cemetery.

VIOLA PARK was the scene of quite a gay assembly of young folks last Saturday afternoon, and the picnic passed off very pleasantly. The weather was favorable for out-door pleasures and the young ladies tried how handsome they could look. The dancing continued until about seven o'clock when the crowd dispersed, well pleased with the entertainment afforded them. We understand that another picnic will be given there some time during the month of July.

THURSDAY last, Church Clore, J. F. Blythe, Frank Kirk, Ben Kirk, Dr. J. P. Smith and the writer, provided with fishing tackle and a variety of bait sailed forth in the morning rays of old set. A wage was upon the fish inhabitants of that classic stream, Gunpowder; but after a half day's earnest and faithful fishing, the party disbanded, having a few small minnows to show for the afternoon's labor. Uncle Church could not account for the hard luck on any other grounds than that the fish would not bite.

LAST Thursday, J. T. Bell, Constable in the Hamilton district, arrested Nicholas Portwood on the charge of being a vagrant in Madison county about seven years ago. The officer took Portwood to Richmond where he was lodged in jail in default of $500 bail, to await trial at the September term of court. Portwood had been from place to place, and it was difficult to find him. When arrested he was at work for Mr. James McKee near Big Bone church. Portwood's accomplice, it is said, has served two years of a five year term in the Penitentiary.

A BOONE county census enumerator like other animals, has his ups and downs in this world as evidenced by the following: Q. K.—Are you married? Lady—I am. Q.—How long have you been married? Lady—About three months. Q.—Have you any children? This latter interrogation was answered by a burst of laughter on the part of several persons in the room, and as soon as the C. E. became sufficiently collected he put his book in his sash and departed.

LAST Sunday we made a flying trip to Covington in company with one of John Foster's Sunday-school scholars. While in the city we called at Mr. J. M. Conner's and was entertained by Mrs. Conner and her mother, Mrs. Michael Clore, in genuine Kentucky style. Mr. Conner's Sunday-school was in session, and in order to see him it was necessary to visit the meeting of his class, which is at a point in Covington, known throughout the State and country as the Covington Stock Yards. Mr. Conner's associates in the firm are Hiram Wilkerson, B. K. Sleet and L. W. Wilkerson. We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Wilkerson and feeling his acquaintance. This firm handles a large portion of the stock that is sent to the Covington yards, and it is considered as doing a thriving business, and we trust that it is.

MONDAY, Mr. W. H. Murdoch, of Indiana, was in town advertising the working display of farming implements, and sale of live stock, at the Lawrenceburg Fair Grounds next Saturday. Any one wishing to dispose of horses, cattle, etc., will be afforded an opportunity to do same by taking them there. The charges for sales will be moderate, and without sale there will be no charge. We will say to our readers that we have no doubt but what they will be well paid if they attend the exhibition Saturday, in the way of bargains in live stock and other things that are offered for sale. Mr. Murdoch is a farmer, and is desirous to advance the interest of the county and will make these exhibitions permanent if he receives the proper encouragement.

In the County Court Monday, Robert McMurry was appointed guardian for Nannie and Jessa Loudon. Clinton Gaines permitted to move the gate from across the Sand Hill and Francisville roads. Viewers appointed to view a proposed alteration in the Union and Walton roads. J. F. Curley, of Walton, granted merchant's lien for money. William Wilkerson qualified as Police Judge for the town of Union. Court Saturday for the first of August each month. J. H. Hume resigned as road Supervisor. County Judge and County Attorney appointed a committee to secure insurance for the Poor-house. County Judge and J. A. Kendall appointed a committee to borrow $1,000 for the use of the inmates of the Poor-house. The money to be returned January 1, 1881, with interest not to exceed 8 percent per annum. Mr. Riddell retained to assist the County Attorney in defending the injunction suit of McKee against the county.

Don't forget to see Collier's big assortment of ready-made clothing, on second floor over dry goods and shoe rooms, Rising Sun, Indiana.

In pursuance of a call of the Democratic State Central Committee, a convention for the county of Boone to choose delegates to the State convention which meets in Lexington, on the 17th of this month, was held in the Court-house at 1 p. m., last Saturday.

The meeting was called to order by the Chairman of the County Executive Committee, who stated the object to be the selection of delegates as above mentioned.

On motion of J. K. Sleet Valley, Dr. Sleet was chosen Chairman and W. L. Riddell, Secretary of the meeting. On motion of Dr. S. S. Scott the Chairman appointed a committee of five to select and report the names of five delegates to represent the county in the Lexington convention. The committee was composed of the following gentlemen: Dr. S. S. Scott, T. W. Finch, J. Frank Grant, J. A. Gaines and Judge Joseph. J. Frank Grant requested to be excused from serving on said committee, whereupon the Chairman appointed Capt. Geo. W. Terrill in his stead.

The committee retired and after a short conference reported the following names as delegates to the Lexington convention: J. Frank Grant, John Stephens, W. L. Riddell, Dr. S. S. Scott and Reuben Conner.

ALTERNATES. G. W. Terrill, John P. Green, Milton Kirtley, Judge F. A. Boyd and Dr. Jonas Terrill. On motion of Capt. L. O. Norman the report of the committee was seconded as to appoint every good Democrat of Boone who may attend, as a delegate to the Lexington convention. The report as amended was adopted.

Mr. J. A. Gaines moved that the delegates be instructed to vote for James H. McCree as elector for the State at large. A rising vote was taken, and resulted in the defeat of the motion, it being necessary for the Chairman to vote, to settle the question.

The meeting then adjourned.

W. L. RIDDELL, Sec'y.

B. K. Sleet attended court at Paris, Monday.

Mr. C. L. LATTIMER returned to his home in Missouri, Thursday.

J. A. KENDALL acted in the capacity of Special County Judge, Monday.

Mr. JAMES B. FINNELL, of Georgetown, attended the special term of Circuit Court here last week.

Mr. JOHN GRAYES, of Scott county, was in town a day or two last week, looking after legal business.

Mr. GEO. T. GARNER, of Walton, was in town Friday. He reports the crops in his neighborhood in a good condition.

Hebron.

Strawberries are selling at 10 cents per quart.

Last Friday Mrs. Mollie Sprague's school closed for the summer.

An election was held Saturday for school trustees.

The late cold snaps had no injurious effects on the apple crop and if not destroyed by the bugs they will be plentiful.

Last Saturday while Mr. T. A. Rouse was standing near a fence on the opposite side of which was a horse, he caught a plank of the fence, and it struck Mr. R. on the head, cutting a very ugly gash.

We think the new wheat is a better looking prospect for wheat in this neighborhood than now. Mr. J. A. Rouse has on his farm near this place, 25 acres of wheat many of the ears of which will measure six inches in length. We will venture the assertion that this is the best wheat in the State.

The late arrival of the RECONCILER at this office reduced the attendance at the strawberry festival to about twenty persons. There was about 125 persons present, and many of them were heard to remark that it was the first festival they ever attended at which they got enough to eat. There was an abundance of every thing. The selections for the art gallery were very choice.

Galesville.

According to the announcement in last week's issue, the marriage of Mr. Thomas Hind and Miss Anna Jurek took place last Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Bullittville Baptist Church. Rev. J. A. Kirtley officiating. The attendants were—Mr. Reuben Kirk and Miss Louisa Scholch and Mr. W. Scott Sabree and Miss Emma Johnson. After the ceremony had been performed, the bride and groom, with their attendants and a number of friends proceeded to the home of the bride, where the feast had been held at 10 p. m. There was a general round of cheerful conversation for a short time, when the guests retired with many good wishes for the young couple.

At Kernevel, in Germany, the day, just as a religious procession lower, weighing half a ton, came down with a tremendous force, crashing into the wall of the building, and at the foot of the man who was standing on the procession bearing the banner. A moment later and a fearful catastrophe would have been the result. As it was, the man was hurt.

WILLIAM BLACK, the novel writer of stories is a business. He is shrewd, practical and quick. He is a Scotchman, and he has a very useful house which overlooks the city. He makes about $25,000 a year from his writings. He does not depend on his pen for his pocket money, but he is a publisher. He has a house in Glasgow, and is in his fortieth year. He went to no college, and his journal was founded at London New.

THERE is a long grudge between the Haute and Leeward Railroad, in Idaho. A heavily loaded freight broke loose on a train and a freight car fell from the train and started a fire of great speed and with great destruction from which a fast passenger train was soon to come. A dreadful loss was thus imminent. A locomotive was wrecked and a passenger train was lost. The chase was most exciting. The engineer, by forcing a speed of six miles an hour, finally overtook from behind the freight train and effected a reverse direction, just in time to avert a disaster.

"CLOWED ON PARK." It was the famous sign in Paris. It was there for many years. It was the sign of a jeweler's shop in the Faubourg Marianne, but as no signs were shown to the establishment being opened again, the sign was removed. The sign communicated their fear to the Commune.

and found it despoiled of the whole set of jewelry, said to have been worn by the woman. The trunk was found to have disappeared, leaving a multitude of small, round, white, marble-like balls unaccounted for, some of which, being goods supplied, are of considerable value. The woman, who had been trading, had paid no rent, and had not even frayed the expense of his shop to travel.

It is significant fact not known that at a certain point in Upper Columbia, close to the water edge, the fine sand is continually turning over, and in the process of the Task of the great army of Xerxes on march—what was that to the my battalions that pace the margins of the sea—this sand is continually with these tiny travelers, what the "leaves of the forest when slain are green." This sand is being continually turned over, and the sand falls away with the death of the sea it dries, is taken up by the winds, and rid back up stream, is blown into the air, and is continually doing the work of transportation back forth, by land and by sea, goes on and over.

A CASE OF NERVE.

William and Frederick Reed were work in the coal mines near Pottsville, Pa., on their arrival from Germany. They were met by their relatives, as Mollie Maguire and surround the Reeds in the night. With pistols and black cartridges, they were an indication of the power of the law of the young Germans, and shrieking as top of their voices, and so badly scared the Reeds that they ran for their lives. The fugitives they fled on a train for Reading. They stood on their strange actions attracted attention and they were not without effect. They were thus fished to give an account of their doings. They were under the impression that Molins had followed them to Reading and that he was now waiting for them along a back street. They were going work on the city public works, and when they discovered that their friends had left, they were not without some serious doubts as to whether their friends were really dead. They were not, but it was believed that they both concluded to remain in the city for that day, but they would not do it together. They separated. Frederick was followed secretly, and was discovered near the city walls. He was taken to the prison and ferrely, swaying his head and weeping. In his right hand he held a small book, which he was just about plunging into his belt, when he was taken up into his quarters. He showed his arms, and let him book be seen. He was then taken to the prison, where he was known that the brother William was missing. Search was made for him, and he was found working as a millman. He was taken to the city book away, and was preparing to jump in.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The prices for Newport cottages now range from $1,000 to $5,000.

The popular actor, Joe Emmet, has been committed to an inebriate asylum in New York.

China seems to be determined to come to the scratch with Russia. She will catch a Tartar.

There will be no trouble in finding plenty of uses for the sparrow. He is recommended for pot-pies.

The waters at the hotels at Rye Beach, N. H., this summer, are all students at Dartmouth College.

The poet Tennyson is worth $1,000,000, all of which is simple enough for a man who gets $30 a line for his poetry.

Educate your boy to be a railroad brakeman. There are seven Senators who started life in that line of business.

Greek pirates have been ravaging the coast of Asia Minor recently. One town has been entirely sacked by the marauders.

The Lords of the Treasury have refused to lend the municipality of Dublin more money. It already owes over $5,000,000.

Or ten candidates voted for at Chicago, seven—Grant, Sherman, Garfield, Hayes, Windom, Sheridan and Harrison—are natives of Ohio.

Garibaldi says that Italy is scourged by robbers, throttled by office-holders and kicked by tax-payers, and he predicts rebellion within ten years.

In the next fifteen years almost all the Russian railroads now in operation will undergo the process of redemption and become government property.

Mr. ALFRED TENNYSON is mentioned as receiving $1,500 for "De Profundis," his poem of sixty lines recently published in the Nineteenth Century.

MINISTER MAYNARD has sentenced Mirza, who murdered an American in Egypt, to be hanged. His authority is, however, disputed, and an appeal will be taken.

ANNIE LAROCK, of Kansas City, though only sixteen years old, has already caused a separation of two married couples and the suicide of two bachelors.

The French people, after fifteen years of trial, do not appear to be willing to renew the reciprocity treaty with England. Free trade ideas make good progress in France.

LYMAN TRUMBULL, the Democratic nominee for Governor of Illinois, is sixty-seven years old and changes but little in appearance from year to year. His youngest child is not two years old.

CHILI demands rather exacting terms of peace of Bolivia and Peru. Bolivia will be obliged to cede its coastal territory, and Peru to pay the handsome sum of $200,000,000 as a war indemnity.

FOURTEEN girls, students in the Elmira College, are writing a continued story, which one of the Allegheny County papers is publishing from week to week. Each girl signs her initials to the chapters which she writes.

It is said that Governor Andrew, of Connecticut, has appointed a State Detective to make a further effort to solve the mystery of the murder of Mary Stannard, which the Rev. H. H. Hayden was tried.

Mrs. CHRISTIANITY, it is said, will not insist on the $150 a month alimony, but will soon marry the lover who at the time of her marriage with the Michigan Senator, promised to wait until—the present moment, apparently.

The water supply for the city of Memphis is obtained from Wolf River, and has to be filtered before it is used. The Memphis Advertiser says that the water is so impure that it will kill any vegetable it comes in contact with.

HYDRO-CARBON comes to the front as a major just now, and steam is supposed to be trembling in the pipes at its impending displacement. It is a good stand-by, however, and electricity may be handicapped heavily in the race for power.

Two exhibitions on a small scale are now being held in Europe—a fair at Antwerp and the Exhibition at Brussels and the Belgian Exposition. It is satisfactory to hear that America will be represented both at Brussels and Berlin.

A FAMOUS counterfeit named Harrison was captured at Toronto some days ago, and, being "an old man and not likely to have further use for them," gave up a number of well executed plates for printing United States and Canadian bills.

This is a big country. The other day the dispatches contained little items about sunstrokes, freezing to death, floods, cyclones, vessels becalmed, snow storms, deluges and comets, all picked up in an hour to get up an "Appetite."

up that day from different corners of Uncle Sam's little farm.

JAMES FISK, of Brattleboro, Vt., the father of James Fisk, Jr., has gone to Michigan to enter the show business. His show is an unique affair, combining a gladiatorial and a tent for holding religious meetings and for exhibiting a harness which he has invented.

In 1875 Governor Albert G. Browne, of Mississippi, wrote a letter to a young friend, in which he urged against the manner of life in which he had been the most successful—of the politician and office-holder—and declared that farming was the noblest of occupations.

REV. EDWARD COWLEY, late of the Shepherd's Fold, will still continue his ministrations at Blackwell's Island. His contemplated change of scene has been with the concurrence of the Supreme Court—been abandoned; and he will remain for the time specified in his settlement.

The action of the Nicaraguan Government in making concessions to the American Inter-Oceanic Canal Company has been ratified by both Houses of the Nicaraguan Legislature, and their action has been received with demonstrations of approval by the people of that country.

A CIRCULAR compiled by the Census Commissioners estimates the census this year will show that the United States has a population of 50,000,000 of people, or about one-sixth as much as the whole of Europe. This will place the United States second to Russia, which has 72,000,000 people.

The emigrants are coming in fast, but there is room for all. In the territories alone there are still 450,530,000 acres of land still unoccupied, many of them believed to be the best wheat fields in the world. The portions of Montana alone still unoccupied exceed the whole acreage of Great Britain.

HAVING procured a divorce from his wife, Charles Ledwell, of Jefferson, O., went to her at the end of a week and begged her to marry him again. Mrs. Ledwell waited until he had got down on his knees before her and then she struck him over the head with a club. The man's skull was fractured.

A BRICKLAYER writes from Manitoba to the Toronto Globe warning the natives not to go to the Northwest, as there is hardly any work to be got there, and living is very expensive. Many are leaving Manitoba, he says, and are going to the States, which shows that there are sensible people in Manitoba as elsewhere.

The Legislature of New York has enacted a law which will save a good deal of unnecessary litigation. It is to the effect that the amount of insurance written in a fire insurance policy shall be deemed the value of the property at the time of the loss, and the amount of loss sustained, and shall be the measure of damages.

ACCORDING to the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, Secretary Evans will deal decisively with the Spanish Government in the matter of the firing by a Spanish man-of-war on two American schooners. He has looked into the case of the "Meritt," and finds no shadow of excuse for the outrage.

WESTERN Pennsylvania and Virginia are troubled with locusts. The noise these insects make at times on a sunny day is said to be deafening. They are the seventeen-year locusts, and people in the infected districts think the pests have been to China and back, taking eight years each way and a year in the Celestial Empire.

OLIVE LOAN, in a Paris letter to the Cincinnati Enquirer, says of the French capital: "It is the most beautiful capital the hands of man have ever reared. It is the wildest city that exists on the face of the earth. It is a lovely place to visit, either for a week or a twelve-month. It is the roughest spot in the world to pass a lifetime in." Naughty girl.

ENGLAND has been snubbed again, this time by Portugal. The Lawrence Marques treaty, signed just a year ago, has been thrown out by the Cortes—without any particular reason, apparently, but simply because the Portuguese Radicals want to give England a rub the wrong way. Really, the English do have a very uncomfortable time of it nowadays.

THE Gold Hill News says that "over at Bodie the burial ground is so wet that they have to bail out the freshly dug graves to get the coffin in, and then to pile rocks on to keep it from floating away." The funeral services were over, when the grave was filled in with soil and earth. This idea of putting a man's corpse in a box for his funeral expenses is original with Bodie.

"Men should not allow their wives to split with them," says a contemporary. "It is rather inconsiderate. How can a man refuse when his wife comes up with tears in her eyes and says, 'No, do, dear, let me go down cellar and split wood for an hour to get up an 'Appetite.'"

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

HANCOCK COLLEGE, at Madison, will hereafter admit female students.

GENERAL MCARTHUR, Chicago's defaulting postmaster, is to be pardoned.

It is believed general amnesty will be proclaimed in France July 14—National day.

REYNOLDS GARFIELD will not write his letter of acceptance until after the Cincinnati Convention.

The prospects for an immediate peace between Russia and China seem daily to increase.

The latest and more careful estimates of the Tennessee (oil) fields, place the total loss at $1,000,000.

It is reported from Buenos Ayres that skirmishing has already begun, and that now war is inevitable.

The exports of Russia during the past six months have fallen off one-half from the preceding six months.

On or about the first of July, President Hayes contemplates taking his long delayed trip to California.

The loss of life by the collision of the Narragansett with the Stonington on Long Island Sound is now placed at thirty-nine.

THREE hundred more Mormons, from England, Scotland and Wales, arrived at New York last week on route for Salt Lake City.

News from Silver City, N. M., reports the people there as in a starving condition. Provisions cannot be had for love nor money.

LATER accounts of the condition of the First National Bank, at Buffalo, N. Y., indicate the liabilities of that institution at $450,000.

The trial of Alva Robb, at Marshall, Texas, has again been postponed, the reason being that the juror, on trial, will not come to the present term of court.

At Allenstown, Mass., a few days since, the wife of Prof. Aldrich shot him in the shoulder, and then fired five balls into her own head and body. She died, but he will recover.

WILLS CO. E. S. Starling, Republican candidate for Sheriff of Christian County, Ky., was speaking at Crofton, the other day, he was shot and nearly mortally wounded.

The latest dispatch reports from Oregon indicate that the Senate of that State will stand sixteen Republicans to twenty-four Democrats and the House thirty-seven Republicans to twenty-two Democrats.

Two boys at Adrian, Mich., Seymour Shelters, aged ten years, and Henry Hamman, aged nine, became involved in a quarrel, when Seymour drew a revolver and fatally shot Shelters. Raymond is, of course, under arrest.

WHILE the Spanish warship Cuba, Spanish was entering the harbor of Santiago de Cuba last week, she was fired upon by the Albatross, twenty men were wounded and one hundred and thirteen, of whom eighty-four were troops being transported.

A ROMAN correspondent reports that Abraham Lincoln is advancing with troops and sixteen mountain guns, and the tribes are gathering south of Cuba and in other quarters, and they expect they look for a proclamation of a holy war.

At a Cabinet meeting a few days ago action was taken regarding the conduct of the Spanish war. The Secretary of War, Mr. Merritt, and Secretary Evans will proceed at once to demand an explanation from the Spanish Government.

UP to the date, all the regular annual appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1881, have passed both Houses. The Senate bill, in the hands of a Conference Committee, and the House bill, in the hands of the Senate, the total amount appropriated is $184,801,602.

A DISEASE resembling diphtheria is prevailing at North Adams, Mass., which so far has baffled the skill of physicians. Over one thousand cases have been reported, and many of them, and some of the cases are proving fatal. The cause, it is thought, is impure water.

EX-GOV. JONES, of Mississippi, reading near Jackson, that State, fell from his horse in a race with a crowd of men, and was thrown. His remains were conveyed to Jackson to the Capitol where they remained in state until the funeral. On the day of burial all business in Jackson was suspended.

INTERFERENCE from Louisville, Ohio, to the ten military companies have been organized, armed with Winchester rifles, for protection against the strikers.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., is all over in the excitement of the National Bank. President Vail is missing—reported to have gone to Europe—and there are evidences left behind him that he has forged papers to the amount of $200,000, and has fled to some foreign port.

ANOTHER American schooner, arrived at Boston from Port Antonio, she was the Ensign, P. Newcomb, reports that on May 30, twelve miles off the Cuban coast, she was fired upon by a Spanish frigate, which fired two shots. The schooner hoisted the American flag, and here, to which an officer boarded her and searched for arms.

The tramp element promises to be a nuisance to Peru, Ind. The Marshal of that town reports that he has been ordered to take care of them and it is reported that a large body of these lawless fellows are organizing to go to that place and have been largely increased in the manufacturing establishments of the town in consequence.

A FRENCH named Patrick Mulligan, who lives with his wife and children at a small place on Twenty-third street, New York, is under $10,000 bail on a charge of outraging his mother.

ATTEMPTING to commit the same crime, Patrick Mulligan, who lives with his wife and children at a small place on Twenty-third street, New York, is under $10,000 bail on a charge of outraging his mother.

THE Gold Hill News says that "over at Bodie the burial ground is so wet that they have to bail out the freshly dug graves to get the coffin in, and then to pile rocks on to keep it from floating away." The funeral services were over, when the grave was filled in with soil and earth. This idea of putting a man's corpse in a box for his funeral expenses is original with Bodie.

dent taking no heed of the matter, the Professor made a similar demand, at which the President again smiled, whereupon the Professor has resigned, and the college must in consequence necessarily sustain serious damage.

WILLIAM A. RUBINSON, town of Chicago, reports a case of murder very similar to the Pookan murder. Willie Meyer, the son of Mr. Meyer, Adventist, disappeared three weeks ago, and two weeks thereafter was found in a cistern under the kitchen. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer claim that he was abducted by the neighbors, who, failing to get a reward, became frightened, murdered the boy and have him into the cistern. The opinion obtained, however, that the boy was offered by his parents as a sacrifice to God, and a rigid investigation is to be instituted.

The fact is being developed that the very worst discipline prevailed on the steamship Narragansett, wrecked on Long Island Sound. SKULLS AND BRAINS.

The weight of the brain has often been held to be the criterion of the mind, though, apart from the want of confirmation obtained by investigation, there are various theoretical difficulties.

The brain, whatever other function it may have, is undoubtedly a source of power supplied to the muscles, and we are ignorant to what extent the activity of the muscular system or the size of the body may influence that of the brain.

We know that a muscle grown by judicious exercise; why, then, should not the brain, supplying it with the nerve force necessary for its increased duties, enlarge partly pro rata? It may be doubted whether you can prove this in so, it is, I think, certain that we can not prove that it is not so. Dr. LeBon, in a work to which I shall refer again, has decided that the height of the person has an effect, though a very slight one, on the size of the brain. He found that the influence of the weight of the body is greater, but by no means sufficient to account for the variations of the brain.

Another disturbing factor is the influence of the weight of the body is greater, but by no means sufficient to account for the variations of the brain.

THE CONVENTION.

ITS PLATFORM. etc.

A LIST OF DELEGATES.

The Democratic State convention assembled in Lexington last Thursday at 1 p. m. The convention was called to order by J. Stoddard Johnson, Chairman of the State central committee.

After prayer by Rev. Dr. Bartlett, of Lexington, the temporary organization was begun by the reading of a letter from J. H. Stoddard Johnson, Chairman of the State central committee. After prayer by Rev. Dr. Bartlett, of Lexington, the temporary organization was begun by the reading of a letter from J. H. Stoddard Johnson, Chairman of the State central committee.

The committee on credentials, resolutions and permanent organization were appointed.

COMMITTEE ON CREDENTIALS.

First District—P. H. Barry, Second District—W. M. Bigger, Third District—H. M. Carson, Fourth District—Judge Carpenter, Fifth District—Dr. D. W. Yandall, Sixth District—T. D. McKibbin, Seventh District—W. H. Cunningham, Eighth District—T. C. Bell, Ninth District—Dr. J. M. Dickman, Tenth District—Keene P. Richards, For the State at large, Charles Thurston and W. M. Dulaney.

RESOLUTIONS.

First District—Hos. Lynn Boyd, Second District—W. H. Clark, Third District—John C. Underwood, Fourth District—R. R. Pearce, Fifth District—G. W. Robinson, Sixth District—George B. Hodge, Seventh District—J. Andrew Steele, Eighth District—J. M. Durham, Ninth District—D. B. Sublett, Tenth District—W. J. Hendrick, For the State at large, Hugh McKelroy, and W. M. Beckner.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

First District—D. B. Stanford, Second District—J. C. Morrow, Third District—Clint Kever, Fourth District—Thomas R. Phelps, Fifth District—Dr. Ewing Keller, Sixth District—L. C. Norman, Seventh District—Louis S. Baldwin, Eighth District—W. T. Wier, Ninth District—Gilbert Gardner, Tenth District—Dr. James Shackelford, State at large, J. D. White and John W. P. D. Bush.

During the deliberations of the committee, John W. Stephenson, W. C. P. Beckleridge, Judge Lindsay and other distinguished gentlemen made brief speeches.

At the conclusion of Judge Lindsay's speech the name of Seymour, which was met with a storm of applause that lasted for several minutes. This development of feeling for Seymour was very unexpected on the part of the Tilden men who thought they had captured the convention without a struggle, and had shaped their tactics to that end.

That the committee might have time to report the convention to a recess.

Upon resuming the convention upon permanent organization made the following report which was adopted:

Permanent Chairman, Gen. Lucius Deane.

VICE PRESIDENTS.

First District—Jacob Gosholt, Second District—J. W. Lockett, Third District—J. B. Milliken, Fourth District—Isaac T. Woodson, Fifth District—M. M. Snyder, Sixth District—John Preston, Seventh District—G. W. Craddock, Eighth District—Henry Bruce, Ninth District—Thomas Johnson, Tenth District—D. B. Lacey.

SECRETARIES.

Col. E. P. Johnson, Assistant, J. R. Day, W. S. Bell, R. J. O'Malley, A. O. Robinson, W. L. Riddell, and Henry Thompson and other members of the Democratic press.

The Committee on Resolutions reported that the committee had met before the opening of opinion, but in the spirit of harmony had agreed unanimously on the following resolutions:

The Democracy of the Commonwealth of Kentucky in convention assembled, do declare—

1. For freedom of the ballot.

2. For free trade.

3. For the suppression of the civil over military authority.

4. For no tariff that has protection for its object.

5. For reform in the administration of the Federal Government.

6. We declare that the action of the Republican party, whereby the verdict of the people is rendered null and void, and their will thwarted, was a crime against the Constitution, a crime against the people, a crime against established precedent, and a crime against civil liberty itself, and the people of the United States owe it to themselves and to free institutions to see that this wrong shall not go unredressed.

7. To the extent of the powers of this body, we instruct our delegation to vote as a unit in all questions and in all matters before the Cincinnati Convention.

8. We favor the retention of the two-thirds rule and direct our delegates to give it their support.

An attempt was made to pass the resolutions before the Committee on Credentials had reported. This brought on a warm debate, pending which the Committee on Credentials reported, the committee was unanimous in reporting that the delegates from the Sixth Ward of the city of Louisville were Hon. Henry Watterson, Thomas H. Butler, From the Eighth Ward, Hon. Boyd Winchester, John G. Beach, and John Callahan. The report was unanimously adopted.

The adoption of the report of the committee on resolutions caused a protracted and excited debate, the seventh resolution which instructed the Kentucky delegation to vote as a unit on all questions before the National Convention being the cause of the trouble. Some able arguments were made both in favor of and against the resolution. The convention took a recess and when it reassembled at 8 p. m., Henry Watterson was standing in his chair some minutes before the delegates were seated, that he might be recognized first by the Chairman. The meeting, coming to order, Mr. Watterson, addressing the chair, said "That the convention had gotten into a tangle which could be straightened out. He wanted the Convention bound together, not by bands of iron, but by bands of oak. He moved that the vote ordering the previous question be reconsidered. This resolution was adopted. He then moved to recommit the resolutions to the committee with instructions to omit the seventh resolution.

Col. Breckinridge opposed the motion in an eloquent speech which was replied to by Mr. Butler. The latter, in a brief effort, Judge Linday favored the motion and Judge Darham opposed it. They were followed in speeches by Watterson and Judge Buckner after which the vote was taken and the resolutions re-referred. In a short time the committee again reported striking out the seventh resolution as directed. The motion of Mr. Watterson, in disposing of the Convention, was in a most harmonious manner.

Thos. L. Jones, of Newport, and N. E. Richards, of Louisville were nominated as electors for the State at large.

C. U. McKelroy, of Warren, J. C. Morrow, of Union, Wm. Fleming, of Louisville, and E. P. Johnson, of Bowling Green, were nominated assistant electors.

DISTRICT ELECTORS.

First District—Hon. John D. White and Thos. W. Bush, Second District—Hon. A. G. Craycraft and Judge J. O. Thompson, Third District—T. F. Edwards and Geo. D. Huff, Fourth District—James Montgomery and James E. Stone, Fifth District—Hon. E. J. McDermott and Ben S. Robinson, Sixth District—Col. J. W. Bryan and W. W. Dickerson, Seventh District—Hon. W. C. Owens and W. L. Craven, Eighth District—Hon. M. C. Sofly and C. C. Cohen, Ninth District—Hon. James Gardner and J. D. Black, Tenth District—Hon. F. L. Cleveland and C. U. Gosholt.

DELEGATES FOR THE STATE AT LARGE.

John W. Stephenson, Henry Watterson, Judge Lindsay and Gen. Preston.

DISTRICT DELEGATES AND ALTERNATES.

First District, C. O. Allen, J. W. Fisher, O. B. Standfield, J. M. Quigley.

Second District, W. H. Henry, C. A. Board, James Hundy, M. C. Hale.

Seventh District, W. C. P. Beckleridge, O. M. Harwood, O. H. Hallam, T. G. Stewart.

Eighth District, R. C. Logan, Col. Nat. Baldwin, W. B. Smith, Dr. Perkins.

Ninth District, S. M. Burdett, J. R. Garrett, J. F. Taylor, E. L. Butterworth.

Tenth District, S. Wall, W. O. Ireland, J. Young, A. J. Martley.

It was 12:30 a. m. when the convention completed its business and adjourned, having been in session about twelve hours.

LAST Friday, at 4:30 p. m., Miss Nancy Jarrell died of consumption after a protracted illness. She was buried in the family burying ground on the Johnson farm.

Geo. HUBBARD & Co., of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, have rightfully acquired a reputation for honest and fair dealing in gravestones and monuments. The prices and work always give perfect satisfaction.

While in Lexington last week we met Mr. John S. Phelps. We are sorry that circumstances prevented us from seeing him. He is about five miles from the city. The Judge requested us to remember him to his many friends in Boone.

MR. CORNER YAGER, census enumerator in the Florence district thinks the population in that district will not exceed 1,000. The enumerator in this district places it at 1,800. We would like for each enumerator in the county to inform us of the number of inhabitants in his respective districts as soon as they can after their work is completed.

We were shown last Saturday by Dr. S. S. Scott, a ticket held by one of the members of the famous Cuba expedition. It reads as follows:

"This ticket will entitle the bearer to one steerage passage on board the Georgina to China, to be paid by W. D. WOODLOVE."

N. O. Apr. 22, 1880.

On the back of the ticket is the name of Larkin Vaughn.

The Court-house Congress has had before it the stock law, and has resolved that neither Garfield nor the Democratic nominee shall receive a vote in this county unless in their letters of acceptance they take clear and unmistakable ground for or against the Boone county stock law.

The issue must be made and met. It has been dragged long enough. There is, in fact, some two or three questions about this law. For instance, must the offer go out and hunt stock in his district and see that it does not run at large, or must he take up such as he is asked to remove or stock as he may see running at large? Again, is this officer responsible in damages committed by stock he has known to be at large and fails to remove? Can the Court-house Congress answer these questions?

The County Judge wants to borrow $1,000 for the county till the first of January. Will pay eight per cent.

R. C. GREENING Westbury, K. Dempsey Wm. Cowen, J. W. Duncan and T. Riddell are down among the President backers.

Personal Mention.

CHAS. SKERRILL was in town Friday night.

MR. ALLEN MARTIN, of Ludlow, spent Sunday and Monday in Burlington.

Miss MARRIE BRISTOW and Miss Sallie Bristow, of Union, were guests of Mrs. Arta Bell, Saturday and Sunday.

ALONZO GRAY, of Covington, was in town Thursday. He does not intend to withdraw his bus line immediately after the first of next month.

MR. JON CAMPBELL and wife of Indianapolis, Indiana, are visiting Mr. E. A. Hughes and family.

WM. GRANT, Jas. T. Grant, and wife, Thos. F. Grant and wife, M. T. Graves and wife, Simon Terrell, and family, Geo. Russell and family, George Grant and family, Edward Butts and Miss Fannie Butts and A. M. Vardman were guests of Dr. J. M. Grant and wife Sunday.

The Toll Question.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

On the RECORDER of June the 12th, your Bulletin correspondent makes the following statement:

The dissatisfaction and complaint in regard to the action of the Directors of the Bellevue and Burlington turnpike is wide spread and universal. I have never exacted of persons attending the Baptist church here, yet, when reputable ministers of any other persuasion hold a meeting in town, persons coming to pay the toll, are invariably compelled to pay it. Why this unjust discrimination?

In regard to that matter, we will say that no such action and unjust discrimination was ever made by the Directors of said road; that the travel by common conveyance is by no means so great as it was some years ago, and that the toll has been lowered to the lowest rate, and that the toll is paid by all persons attending church or any other religious view, and if any have been charged toll on Sunday, going to or returning from church, it has been the act of the gate-keeper without orders from the Directors. This is the first complaint we have heard of this kind; but we think the trouble lies a little farther back. The toll question has been continually agitated in the locality where this "wide-spread and universal dissatisfaction" now prevails, and the "muzzles" which have been in labour so long have been delivered, and the "muzzles" have been brought forth.

DAVIS BROTHERS.

Perfect Protection from Lightning by Chambers' patent Insulated Cretings and Rods.

The Chambers Lightning Protection Company are prepared to erect Rods and Cretings under their patent of 1877 and 1880. Their system of protection does not attract the lightning to the building; but by perfect electrical insulation, both from the building and the earth, repels or prevents the stroke. It has stood the test for three years without a single accident. Practical demonstrations can be seen at their office, Alleghenia Building, corner Fourth and Central avenues, No. 145, upon the celebrated H. H. Electrical Machine, fully demonstrating the theory. Best of references given.

G. H. BARBER, Secretary.

The insulator is of glass, 7 inches high, 3 inches thick, seven inches across the base with a summit groove for the reception of the rod, and a circumferential groove for the tying wire, to secure said rod in position, with a screw socket and a cavity below the screw socket to prevent the electric current coming in contact with the post, and an umbrella-shaped ledge to prevent the rain from wetting the inner side of the glass or the post.

Rods have been put on buildings for the following persons: L. H. Dills, J. W. Scott, Dr. Smith, Dr. J. C. Terrell, Albert Fick, Thornton Blankenbaker, A. S. Gainer, W. T. German, J. S. Mason, Wallace Garrison, Geo. Huey, J. J. McANDREW, General Agent for the Company, and sole agent for Boone and Kenton Counties, Burlington, Ky.

—Hart County Democrat: A baby born seems to have struck our town, three pairs of twins in the last three weeks are well for the production of our people.

—Cassidy's Memory: Mr. James B. Cassidy has a memory that sings all the latest popular airs, and the neighbors never tire of listening to "Dilly's" sweet strains.

—J. Stoddard Johnston has been attending Democratic national conventions since 1856, in which year he was a delegate from Arkansas to the convention held at Cincinnati.

—Baldhead Enterprise: A snake was killed near town a few days since with two separate antivenomous heads, four eyes and two tongues. It was of the species of species.

—A colored woman in Paris, ninety-five years of age, has just received her second eyesight. She had said her spectacles, and can see to thread a needle in the gloaming with her naked eyes.

—W. H. Cissell, a farmer of Marion county, has been shot at twice, while in his field, by unknown assailants. Being at peace with the world, Cissell is astonished at the performance.

—The Rev. Charles Forman, of Mason county, for thirty-three years a Presbyterian missionary to India, has returned to his old home, and will deliver a lecture on the results of his labors abroad.

—A brewer near Covington who formerly bought thirty tons of ice per week has purchased an ice machine, and now has to buy sixty-five tons per week to keep the machine cool enough to work.

—Thomas Edmunds ran from his wife in Livingston county with a woman and child whom he afterward murdered in Arkansas. He was arrested in Kentucky, and hung last week at Ozark, Ark.

—Interior Journal: We notice that Missouri and numerous other counties are claiming the doubtful honor of having emancipated the first colored jury. None of them have a right to this distinction, it belonging alone to Lincoln. As far back as 1876 Andy Yates, colored, was tried by a jury of his race, for assault on his property, and he was fined $30.00, as very excessive punishment considering the poverty of the defendant. The jury was ordered to be summoned by Judge J. M. Phillips, then police judge and the matter stands of record on the books of the court.

—On Wednesday the penitentiary had 829 inmates.

—The Sunday law is not yet a dead letter in Frankfort.

—Governor Blackburn will soon be sixty-four years of age.

—A little boy in Franklin fell into a well six feet deep.

—Palmer county has two Republican candidates for Circuit Clerk.

—C. W. Munger was elected Mayor of Cassville by a majority of one.

—A county Sunday-school association has been organized in Caldwell.

—Theyield of wheat this year will be very large. A large area was sown.

—The thriving city of Owensboro claims a population of 12,000 under the census.

—The first number of the Kentucky Law Reporter, to be published at Frankfort, has appeared.

—Some of the men engaged on the ice machine at Covington have had their feet and ears frozen.

—Mrs. Annie Oldham Cook has introduced several improvements in the State Library at Frankfort.

—The sheep raisers of Woodford county will have a sheep show at Versailles in August or September.

—Elias Dowell, of Carrollton, widow of fifty-six years, married Miss Mary Degman, a widow of seventeen.

—Sammie, a little son of Dr. Willis Clark county, fell from a cherry tree and broke both arms and one leg.

—Grasshoppers have appeared in large numbers in Johnson county, and considerable damage to crops is feared.

—Nearly 100 self-binding harvesters are used in Woodford county, and yet there has been a scarcity of harvest hands.

—Lee county has four candidates for the Circuit Clerkship who propose remaining in the field until the August election.

—Craddock secured admission to the Cincinnati convention as a newspaper man, but had to take a seat in the gallery.

—Thos. A. Davis, the Mayville newspaper man, and one of the liveliest citizens of that place, is a candidate for Mayor.

—Harrodsburg is the home of two negro women, it is believed, respectively, ninety-eight and 100 years old.

—The old Frankfort Commonwealth printing office will be utilized by Ben Deering in the publication of the Daily Gazette.

—England has raised the embargo on American cattle, and now they can be driven on foot from ports to the interior for slaughter.

—The Hon. A. P. Crover wants to be recognized as the heaviest taxpayer in Owen county. His property is assessed at $1,005.

—The Hon. Casswell Bennett, of Smithland, has arranged to remove to Henderson, where he will again engage in the practice of law.

—At a camp meeting in Nicholas county a small boy stole a basket of provisions and sold the contents to people who forgot to bring their knives.

—The undersigned will, on Thursday, July 18, 1880, award to the lowest and best bidder, the contract for erecting a bridge at the County Infirmary near Burlington. Size of each culvert—10x14 feet in the clear. The water to be 12 inches thick, laid with flat stone in mortar composed of lime and good, clean sand. If built of brick, the brick to be laid in mortar composed of good, clean, sharp sand. The arch to be laid in cement. Both to be arched over the line and finished with a cast-iron ring. Both culverts to be connected with two culverts of Louisville Cement. Bids will be received till 1 o'clock p. m.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

distressed, and if I had known how to get away from it I would have done so. At last I became aware of people moving about me, and of warm sunlight around me. With a terrible effort I opened my eyes and saw where I was, out on the veranda, upon which I had room opened, with the morning sun and fresh breeze pouring their beneficent influences upon me!

Poor dear Effie was by my side, no making the "horrible hiss" I had supposed she would, but white and silent, vigorously rubbing me as if her own Vaseline was it, and the tall

"Water, doctor, water!" cried Effie. "he is alive. Dash it over his head and neck."

She raised me in her arms as she spoke, turning my face to the breast. I think I should have choked but for that cool wind, blowing over my face. A dash of cold water made me draw a long deep breath, and set heart and lungs at their regular work again. So I "came out," as people call it, and a very disagreeable process it is—much more so than "going off." If I may judge by my own experience of the two.

I was very ill all that day; as we were a little child, and for days I could not walk across the room without staggering like a drunken man. By degrees I got quite over it, but I think I am still partly with me to my grave the horrible impression of 'what I suffered in coming back to life.

It seems that Effie came to my room in the morning to see why I did not come to breakfast, and found me not lying on my bed good, and apparently lifeless.

OUT OF TUNE.

By WILLIAM C. BROWN.
All through the night of winter,
Through months and years of time,
Down on an old house,
Low beneath the whispering trees—
Once that sweet voice chanted,
Played out of tune.

In this house of mine
I used to sing, and you, my love,
A song that was so true,
And in my voice the blood—
As that and other chords,
Played out of tune.

As in this world of mine,
Moved not for space or time,
Facing the world's old story,
Living, yet at naught,
Like that great music chord
Played out of tune.

TWICE BURIED.

Half way from Leadville to the plains—half way, and by a new trail running away into the southwest and down along the canyon of the "Little" and away down the canyon of the "Big," my foot gear, and my horse, worn, half dead, and night close at hand. Night fell in February —a cold.

I wrapped my blanket yet closer about my shoulders and urged my steed forward toward the gloaming.
"Ours my luck," I muttered. "Except for Black Dan's threat I would have gone by the stage in comfort. And yet, to have braved his gang would have been certain destruction. I'll warrant they've ambushed the night coach, tending to catch me. But I've slipped them this time, and Uncle Sam has the proof that he wants at last. Three days more, my raccoons, and you'll jump these mountains or wear handcuffs, if I reach Pueblo alive!"

I shook Charlie's reins to hasten his speed, and whistled cheerily to Don, my great St. Bernard.

"We must reach Johnson's ranch on the Platte, old friends, or sleep out, and it's too cold for that," I muttered.
I was returning from a search for certain desperadoes wanted in the courts at Pueblo. The cutthroats had hidden in the mining camps about Leadville, and my search had been a long one.
Finding them at last, however, and the proof of their crimes with me, I was about to return and make arrangements for their arrest, when by some unknown means they learned who I was, and I fled. Fled, pursued by the wrath of the worst men between the Gunnison and Denver—Black Dan. Had he found me my life would have been worth the loss of a card. I must reach the settlements quickly and return with a force in order to capture my game, and that without delay.

In the gloaming of the morning I had begun my perilous horseback journey; in the gloaming of the evening I was continuing it. No soul had met me along the wagon trail, and I believed that I had tricked my enemies.
The blackness of the canyon crept up, the narrow trail ran down, and among great masses of boulders, across patches of snow, and again along the bare earth,
I followed with watchful eye the indistinct path until, at last at the verge of the last steep descent that should carry me into the river gulch itself, I halted for a moment to rest my weary horse.

"Only a little further, Charlie," said
I, dismounting and patting his drooping head; "a couple of miles more, and we'll strike supper and a bed. You're done well, old boy, and saved me."
A sudden snarl grew from my dog, as he sprung toward the shadow of the pines beneath me, a single flash of light, a ringing report, and, without a moon,
I threw my hands quivering into the air, whirled heavily away from my horse, and fell. Black Dan had found me!

Slowly, and with great pain, consciousness returned—consciousness, for my brain was still alive, but not personality, for my body I knew nothing.
What had happened?
Laboriously my mind traveled through the mists of death that still surrounded it. Slowly one idea followed another until at last came the knowledge that I sought. I had been waylaid and shot.
Yes, I remembered now! Remembered the cry of my dog, the ring of a rifle, the sheet of fire, the blow of the ball, and then—nothing more.
I had been shot and dead!
And yet not dead, for pain revived, and dead men feel no pain. I was shot, but not dead. And so came at last the consciousness of matter. "I still lived."
I sought to rise, but I could not, for I was bound; bound hand and foot, arms and legs, body, neck and head, fingers, lips and eyelids, even; bound, yet with will and cords.

Where was I? What was the trouble?
Near and still nearer came the truth, as I groined in spirit and struggled to gain knowledge of myself; nearer and still nearer, until, with a mighty effort, throwing off all lethargy, I made one desperate attempt to rise; then the damp odor of new-broken earth filled my nostrils, the weight of newly-torn earth pressed upon my head, the ding-ling bonds of newly-dug earth bound me, and with a wild cry of horror and dis-pair I recognized my situation—I was buried alive.

I did not faint at first—life was too close—but lay simply deadened, crushed by the blow, the loose mold smothering air for my respiration, my poor stunted brain rolling those words up and down:
"Buried alive! Buried alive!" until from sheer madness and loss of desire knowledge fled a second time.

And then it was the thought of my dog which awakened me. Don dug me out —he leaped me back to life again.
As the dim gray of the winter's morning dawned, with mounds I dragged my stuffed limbs from their narrow bed, and crouching trembling down the little creek toward the river, the blood oozing from the wounds in my head, my eyes closed, and my heart panting.

As I thought Black Dan must have followed and ambushed me, then, supposing me slain, he had the grace to seek to bury me. It was owing to his haste or his carelessness that my dog had been able to paw the loose dirt from my grave and save me. If I could reach Johnson's ranch I might live; if not I had been dead and for a full day, for a dense storm was brewing along the mountain slope above my head. My horse was gone, my rifle, pistols and knife, gone; only the dog remained, and faithful to the last, followed as I slowly
and painfully took the descending trail toward the river.

Suddenly, amid a wild roar of wind and creaking of trees and whistling of flying snow, the storm burst, and in its fury swept me from my feet, and rolled me, crying and shouting, far down the canyon side, until a great boulder caught and held me. Then it raged on.

Fierce and relentless the wild wind tore through the wilder forest, pitiless and cold the snow fell, and except for a dense storm was brewing along the mountain slope above my head. My horse was gone, my rifle, pistols and knife, gone; only the dog remained, and
and painfully took the descending trail
toward the river.

And so, faint, wounded, cold, despairing, as the moments grew life-flickered, and when at last I might hope my lamp went out. Again I lay unconscious.

All night the gale continued, and not until the dawn of the second day did it cease, when the newly-fallen snow lay deep and white over all.
Within the crevices of the rock, sheltered from the touch of the cold white death and yet beneath it, I lay motionless, above me the storm had spread a thick soot that to my ray of light penetrated to the tomb. Half-frozen, in a dreamless, painless sleep, the forerunner of a swift-coming death, a mere wreck of a man, I was stretched upon a rock, and the glint of the sunshine among the pines or the tread of the wild beasts of the forest overhead mattered naught to me. When my eyes opened they beheld nothing, when my hands were outstretched they touched only the stone and the snow, when my tongue cried out no ear listened. Again I was in-tomb, and this time by an enemy more relentless than Black Dan even, by hands more cruel and pitiless than his. Fate and the storms of the mountain had combined against me. I was buried a second time, but now with death for a companion!

I knew that I could not escape, and the very thought chilled me.
Some years after, this gambler was no agony; only a cold recklessness and want of care for life that belated the depth of my despair. I was dying.
Slowly the moments passed. My thoughts were few and simple—thoughts of fire and wood, thoughts of home, and friends and comfort, thoughts of things warm and bright, but even those were fading and my mind was wearily wrapping itself in the cloak of stupor, and my body was fast sinking toward insanity, when, by a snow fell upon my upturned face.

Had it been fire it could not have aroused me more quickly.
The next instant more fell, and still more, and then light began to gleam, and I heard the hurrying scrape of feet mingled with low whining.
Don had returned and was digging me out.

The revulsion of feeling was terrible;
a moment before I had had passive in a tomb, longing for death; now I fought and tore at the loosening mold of a madman, wild with the thought of life.
Near and nearer came the receding fog, deeper grew the pale sun beneath me, brighter the light above.
The whining was mingled with growls now.
Don had friends to aid him. The barrier was but three feet thick—three feet of snow, and I was free. I breathed the free air of heaven and my heart leaped within me and my lips uttered a glad cry, a dozen pairs of great hollow eyes buried into mine, a dozen giant fingers crouched before me gnawing their gleaming fangs—I had been rescued by a pack of mountain wolves.

For a single instant I surveyed my enemies I weak, wounded and unarmed; they strong, hungry and ferocious, a dozen to one, and I was free with a yell I sprang into their midst.
It was the sort of a madman, but I was mad. Death should tear me limb from limb now, and with bare hands, I clutched at the first gray monster before me, and grasped his shaggy throat as with hands of steel, seeking to throttle him.

Then the entire pack with demoniac howls hurled themselves upon me. I felt the breath of the brutes in my face, their red mouths yawned upon me; their strong claws tore my buckskin shirt; their teeth snapped, when suddenly a great white something was hurled from the back of snow above into the midst of the melee. A half-dozen dark forms followed. Wild shots, mingled with pro-pitiatory shots and the heavy blows, broke salient dyes the spotless snow; their hideous eyes faded from before me, and telling backward, I felt myself caught by strong arms, and the well-known voice of old Johnson cried, "Saved, thank God!"

Aye, saved! and this time for life.
My trusty dog had found the ranch, and arousing the men by his strange actions they had followed him in the early morning to where I was hidden, arriving at the spot just in the nick of time.
I was saved, and, five days days later confronted Black Dan before the bar of the Criminal Court in Pueblo, and had the satisfaction of hearing sentence passed upon him, while he trembled as he stared at the man whom he had buried among the peaks of the Rockies.

THE GRATEFUL GAMBLER.

The cool, undimmed glare of a beam of light, it is said, will awe a tiger. The statement is perhaps an exaggerated one, but we will tell an incident of a man who saved a human tiger.

Some forty years ago, the citizens of Natchez, aroused by the excesses of the gamblers infesting their city, drove them out and threatened them with death if they ever returned. Prominent among these citizens was Capt. Quitman, a leading lawyer of Natchez. A month or two later, he and a small band of men crossed into Texas to take those who were fighting Santa Anna and his Mexicans.

Let me now relate the incident which at San Antonio, where he found the party overpowered by a full gang of Spanish desperadoes, who had lately come from Natchez. They recognized him and resolved to have revenge.

Quitman quailed his men in a large building, where he occupied a room in an adjacent house. He had just taken of his coat, when the door was thrown violently open. A tall, fierce-looking man entered. In his belt, was a bowie-knife, and in his right hand he held a pistol.

Fortunately, Quitman had not laid aside his belt-pistol, and drawing one he raised it quickly, so that the man was covered by it.

"I know you and you know me," he said, looking the gambler calmly in the eye. "I desire no quarrel with you, but I don't fear you."

The gambler glared at him for a moment, and then, his features relaxing into a smile, said:

"Captain, you're a brave man, and I will be your friend," and he retired quietly, closing the door after him.
A few weeks after, the war being at an end, Capt. Quitman was returning home overland, accompanied only by his negro servant. Crossing a small stream, and mounting the bank, he found two trees felled across the path.

suspecting that he was in a trap, he turned and saw three men armed with guns, coming up in the rear. He could neither advance nor retreat.
Instantly springing to the ground, he drew his pistol, and placed the horse between himself and the robbers. The sharp crack of a rifle behind him, and the rush of the ball over his head, caused him to turn. Seeing the gambler who he had met at San Antonio galloping his horse at full speed toward him, he prepared to sell his life as cheaply as possible.

The man, dropping his gun to show that he was not an enemy, approached.
Recognizing Quitman, he said:
"Captain, I might have had the chance to serve you. I and my partners were coming this way, and I, being in the advance, saw, as I turned the angle of the path, the situation. Let's see if this one of those robbers."

On searching, they found traces of blood, but no signs of the robbers.

Some years after, this gambler was convicted of gambling, and sentenced to six months' imprisonment for $5,000 fine. The gambler, it is said, subsequently reformed, and became a law-abiding citizen, respected by all who knew him.

THE TERRIBLE STRAIN OF THE ENGINEER.

When people read of, or ride upon, extraordinary trains they seldom think of the strain that is put upon the engineer, who is the brain of the locomotive, and the brain of the train.
The engines are subjected. To sit in a passenger coach and glide over a smooth track is a very different thing from standing on the shaking footboard, with hand on the lever, straining eyes and ears to detect a possible danger, every nerve kept alert, every thought centered on the safe accomplishment of the journey upon which so many lives depend.

What such a laborer must be, to stand day after day, in a second-class passenger coach, at the back of a train of 30, of William Phillips, the engineer who ran the celebrated Jarrett & Palmer train from Jersey City to Pittsburgh, a distance of 443 miles, without a stop.
The disaster which Mr. Phillips was been sick for nearly a year past, his illness dating nearly from the time when he undertook the task of running the Jarrett & Palmer train. He accomplished the feat in less than schedule time, but the strain on his system was so severe that he never recovered from it. He continued on duty, and was called upon incessantly, as a trusty man was required, but his health grew more precarious, and he was finally compelled to relinquish his position.

Samuel S. Scattergood was a conservative, prudent, and a successful fruit in Philadelphia, and had amassed about $200,000. A year ago he inherited nearly all of his money in Lakeville mining projects, and they have all failed. Not only was his own fortune ingulfed but friends were led by him into similar loss. He could not bear this adversity, and hanged himself.

Is certain parts of Palestine farming is profitable. At Jaffa orange groves are said to pay 9 per cent. net. The convents succeed well in the culture of the olive, and the manufacture of oil.
Arab villages raise grain enough to supply their own wants, and now and then have a surplus for exportation.

POSTAL CARDS.

How and Where They Are Made.
In a long article on the history and manufacture of postal cards, the New York Sunday News says that the American Photocopy Company, of which the inventor of the postal card is the owner, has been established in New York for two years; but, to save the expense and risk attending the transportation of paper from the mill at Holyoke, Mass., the business was removed hither in the spring of 1879, a new building being erected for its accommodation. The Hon. THOS. L. JONES has appointed messengers to speak in 22 of the eastern counties of the State.

The members of the Republican Campaign Committee consider the outlook very favorable.

The prospects for a heavy corn crop are good throughout this county.

With oats, hay and corn abundant, feed for stock will be cheap this winter.

The Intelligence's pressman certainly stood on his head while the edition was worked off last week, and got the inside upside down, or the outside downside up.

The South Kentuckian published at Hopkinsville is taking subscribers, the money due when Hancock is elected. The Republicans are not subscribing very rapidly.

The LAGRANGE Democrat had 150 sheep and 51,000 subscribed for their barbed wire last Wednesday. They invited everybody to partake of their Johnny cakes twelve feet long.

TEMPERANCE people may say what they please, but there is always more danger to be feared to individuals, to families, to communities and to the country at large when trouble is brewing than when beer is brewing.

Ditto.

We hear the names of two or three gentlemen mentioned in connection with the next race for Governor, but none of them will be hailed in this part of the State with the enthusiasm that the name of Hon. Thomas L. Jones will create.

WARREN MONTFORT, our present Commonwealth's Attorney, is spoken of as a candidate for the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Mr. Montfort possesses all the necessary qualifications for the position and has a host of friends in this district who will be glad to see him successful.

The Mt. Sterling Sentinel says that citizens along the line of the Big Sandy railroad are becoming very indignant at the inhuman treatment the convicts are receiving from the hands of the contractors. Several have died from the effects of the heat.

State elections will occur this year as follows: Alabama, first Monday in September; Vermont first Tuesday in September; Maine, second Monday in September; Colorado first Tuesday in October; Indiana, Ohio, and West Virginia, second Tuesday of October; all the rest of the States November 2d, except Georgia, which takes place November 3d.

The Democratic convention of the 7th Senatorial district, composed of the counties of Howard, Randolph and Monroe was held at Paines on Wednesday. O. T. House, of Randolph, was nominated on the 400th ballot.—La Plata (Mo.) Home News.

Mr. House is a lawyer and commenced the practice of his profession in this town, and has a large circle of acquaintances and relatives in the county who wish him success in the position to which he aspires. The convention which nominated him had a prolonged session.

GEN. GRANT, in an interview, said: "I can say without hesitation I will give Garfield my hearty support. There is no reason why any Republican should not vote for Garfield. I know him to be a man of talent, thoroughly accomplished, and an upright man. I have nothing against Gen. Hancock, but Garfield is the man for the office." He denied the report that he had complained of Conkling and Logan having deserted him. He had no letter from either of them, either before or after the convention. Since his return to America, he said, of all men, Conkling and Logan were the last men for him to find fault with. He felt more proud of the 312 that stood by him than if he had received the nomination by unfair means.

The following editorial which we copy from the Clark County Democrat is well timed and to the point: "While talking about the Presidential canvass let us not forget that an election of importance will take place in Kentucky next Monday. To be sure no candidate for State offices are to be voted for, but the result in each county can be carefully added up, and if the Democratic majority when aggregated should be less than usual it would be taken all over the country as evidence of dissatisfaction with the Cincinnati ticket. Ours is the first election after the convention and any weakening of our line in Kentucky would injure the good cause throughout the canvass. It would be heralded throughout Maine where a close struggle takes place next month and would encourage the Radicals to make a fight which they evidently regard now as hopeless. The only trouble in Kentucky will be to get the people to stand up to the importance of coming out to vote. The majorities in most of the counties are so large that many will think their aid not needed and the result will be a falling off in the aggregate majority, which, however easily explained at home, will have an injurious significance abroad. If we really desire to see the Radical party turned out of power, and are in fact opposed to its policies and measures, we ought not fail to vote at the first election of the campaign and then do what we can to get our neighbors to the polls."

The Stanford Journal says that Gov. Blackburn concluded his speech at Crab Orchard as follows: "As to Garfield, I have not a word to say against him. He has represented his district in Congress for eighteen years, and is a great and powerful man. I am above repeating the scandals dealt out by the 8x10 ticky newspapers against him. I myself have been a victim of these mean and scurrilous abuses. In fact, he had succeeded in convincing everybody, who was not thoroughly convinced before, that he was a very small potato. His low-down remarks about the newspapers that had dared to criticize his most vulnerable administration district in his letter before a blackguard that a man who occupies the proud position of Governor of the grand old Commonwealth of Kentucky. If he had spoken to vent against the newspapers or anything else, a Democratic love feast was not the place to do it, and if the Governor, by chance, is not ashamed of himself, his friends are, for him."

The more we learn of Governor Blackburn the more we become convinced that his mental caliber is distressingly limited.

THE WOLF IN THE SHEEP'S CLOTHING

BY JOHN W. LARSON.
The wolf in the sheep's clothing.
And the shepherd who is the wolf.
The wolf in the sheep's clothing.
And the shepherd who is the wolf.
The wolf in the sheep's clothing.
And the shepherd who is the wolf.
The wolf in the sheep's clothing.
And the shepherd who is the wolf.

"WIPE OUT"

A Thrilling Incident on the Frontier.
What is that?
Look closer, and you will see that it is a gaunt, grim wolf, creeping out of the little grove of cottonwoods toward a buffalo calf gamboling around its mother.
Raise your eyes a little more, and you will see that the prairie around is alive with buffaloes. Ours here! You might well try to count the herds on a giant map! They are moving foot by foot as they crop the juicy grass, and living wares rise and fall as the herd slowly sweeps on. Aft on to the right and left—brave old buffaloes, which catch a bite of grass and then sniff the air and scan the horizon for intimation of danger. They are the sentinels of the herd, and right well can they be trusted.

The wolf creeps nearer!
All afternoon the great herd has fed in peace, and, as it now slowly moves toward the distant river, it is all unconscious that danger is near. Look you and watch the wolf, for you are going to see such a sight as not one man in 10,000 has ever beheld.

Creep—crawl—crawl—now behind a knoll—now skulking himself over the grass—now rising to the head and a thistle to mark the locality of the victim. It is low, shambling, slinking wolf, lame and spiteful and treacherous. Wounded or ailing, he has been left to get on as best he may, and his green eyes light up with fiercer blaze as he draws nearer to his unconscious prey.

There! No, he is yet too far away. Creep—creep—creep! Now he is twenty feet away—now fifteen, now ten. He hugs the earth, gathers his feet under him, and he bounds through the air as if shot from a gun. He is rolling the calf over and over on the grass in three seconds after he springs.

No cry of pain from the calf—a furious yell from the mother as the wheels and charges of the wolf—a startled movement from a dozen of the nearest animals, and a roar begins. The one wolf is magnified into a hundred, the hundred into a thousand. Sharp, sharp bellows—notes of alarm—rush, and in fifty seconds after the wolf has set his fangs with blood that living mass is in motion to get away from an unknown terror.

The wares rise higher and higher as the confusion spreads. One instant it seems as if 10,000 solid acres of prairie were moving bodily away—again a pause and fall as the towards bound rush upon these in front of them. In one minute the alarm runs down the herd to the leaders, further than the eye can see, and the entire herd is going off at a mad gallop, heads down, eyes rolling, and no thought but that of escape. If Lake Erie were to dash itself against a wall the shock would be no greater than the awful crash with which this mass of rafting hoofs, sharp horns and hairy bodies would meet it. The clatter of hoofs and rattle of horns would drown the noise of a brigade of cavalry galloping over a stone-paved road.

Ride on on their trail. Here where the stampede began the ground is torn and furrowed as if a thousand cannon had been firing solid shot at targets. Here and there are calves which have been gored or crushed—here and there older animals with broken legs and disarranged wounds. Where the herd was fairly off, you might as well hunt for a gold dollar as a blade of grass. You look for three miles as you look across it. It is a trail of dirt and dust, and ruts and furrows, where half an hour ago was a carpet of green grass and smiling flowers. The most dreadful cyclone known to man could not have left more horrible scars behind.

Miles away, on the bank of winding, grassy river, are three white-topped emigrant wagons. A man-fire blazes up to buff the kettle—men, women and children stand about, peering over the setting sun at the distant mountains and glad that their journey is almost done. But the camp is on a low, grassy bank, and the eagles sailing the blue evening air have no warning to give.

Mark! If that thunder?
Men and women turn in their tracks as they look in vain for a cloud in the sky. That rumble comes again as they look into each other's faces. It grows louder as women, men and children rush for their trusty rifles. The ground trembles, and star of comes a din which strikes terror to the heart. "Indians!" they whisper. No! A thousand times better for them if savage Pawnee dashed ride down where those long-barreled rifles could speak in defense of the peaceful camp.

"A stampede of buffaloes!" gasps one of the men as he catches sight of the advance guard under the awful clouds of dark. Rifles are held ready for a shot, and the children climb up on their mothers' shoulders to see the strange procession gallop past.

LETTERS BY AN OLD MAN

My dear friend, I have just received your letter of the 10th inst. and am glad to hear that you are still in the land of the living. I have been thinking of you very much lately, and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are well and happy. I have been feeling a little better myself lately, but I am still not as strong as I was. I have been thinking of you very much lately, and wondering how you are getting on. Gen. Cynthiana Democrat debilitated Governor Pardon-all Blackburn.

JUDGE DRAKE it is said will resume the practice of law in Frankfort.

LEATHERS for Sheriff and Hallam for Circuit Clerk were elected in Kenton.

GALLATIN county had a red-hot turkey boom this spring, but it has seemingly exploded.

There is one class of people for which Gov. Blackburn has no pardons—those of "Tiddy papers."

Who says that over a dozen of the recorder read by St. Louis "Tiddy" paper, at contains food for re-

Tennessee's violence over the increase of population, while her neighbor, the Tar-Heel State is suffering over a considerable decrease.

In Lagrange, Georgia, negroes so selfishly cost $15,000. What in the world does a man who is worth that amount want to sell whisky for?

This banquet given the Shorthorn breed at Winchester was a success in every particular. Representatives were present from every State in the Union.

The Louisville Commercial says that Indiana will go Republican in both October and November. That will be something it has not done for some time.

This colored people of Trenton and Todd counties had a Hancock and English barbecue last Saturday. The first colored Democratic barbecue on record in this State.

THE Crab Orchard war has terminated. Twenty thousand dollars of the State money paid the expenses. We have a reform Governor whose name is L. P. Blackburn.

We now offer our readers the Recorder-Journal until January 1st, 1881, for $1. The mammoth number of the O-J. during the holidays will be worth three times that amount.

THE Pulaski Republicans ratified at Somerset the 20th, when W. O. Bradley, John D. White and Col. A. M. Swope made speeches. A negro named Gentry is elected in that District, and was not invited to be present.

Thomas Pickering has been Sheriff of Caldwell county for thirty years, has always made his settlements promptly and never gotten his surmise into trouble.—Ex.

We don't understand that. In this part of the State the constitution only allows a man to hold the office of Sheriff four consecutive years.

THIS Covington light guards, according to their own account, did not make a very comely appearance during the war at Crab Orchard. Their uniforms were rather weather beaten and the boys did not shine as brightly as they desired. Senator Foster offered to head a subscription with $500 for uniforming the Company anew.

THIS rain Monday night and Tuesday morning soaked the corn crop in this part of the country. It came in the best of style, and gave the corn a thorough soaking, and in the morning it continues to come in the best of style, and the prospects are very good for stock

THE past experience of the school teachers in this county has been such that in order to protect themselves they will have to require the trustees to become responsible to them for the full amount of money for which they propose to teach. And as but few trustees will obligate themselves in this manner, no person need be surprised if there are many vacant schools this fall.

CEN. HANCOCK's letter of acceptance was a very clear ring. For instance: "It is a vital principle in our system of government that neither fraud nor force must be allowed to subvert the rights of the people."

"It is only by a full vote, free ballot and fair count that the people can rule in fact as required by our theory of government."

"The boycott is not a fit instrument for collecting the votes of a free people."

MEMPHIS Avalanche: Hancock's majority in Tennessee will be all the way from 40,000 to 60,000. The Republicans will make an effort to capture one or two Congressmen, and if the Democrats split on the State debt question an effort will be made to elect Hawkins, but that will make no difference on the electoral vote, except perhaps, to increase Hancock's majority. If there should appear to be a fighting chance for Hawkins, the Republicans will trade off and vote for Hancock to help elect Hawkins.

There is a party of gentlemen in Lexington who are in Kentucky prospecting for an investment in wild lands. They have not yet determined what direction they will take. But will either take the line of the C. & S. R. R., or the line of the Big Sandy Railroad as the main route. They are not particular about locating immediately upon the line of a completed, or nearly completed road, as they hold that there will be no material advance in such property until the time for diverging roads shall have come.

The busy season has now past and those who were advocating the building of a turnpike from Florence to Lexington to intersect the near pike near Cynthiana can now relax their efforts. A good road through that part of the county is much needed, and besides will be a paying place of property. The travel over that road will be considerable inasmuch as the distance between this part of the country and the city will be materially lessened. It would, in a short time become the route from this part of the county to the city. Land owners, think of it.

THE late census develops some curious facts in regard to the movement of population in Kentucky. Counties which in 1870 were at the standard or had lost in population as compared with 1860, are now gaining rapidly. Thus Bourbon, which in 1870 showed a gain of only 800, now shows a gain of 1,200 over 1870.

THE Harrison county, which by the census of 1870 had lost 781, has gained in the last decade 8,467. Clark which in 1870 had lost 602, gained 1,468. Calloway which in 1870 had lost 605, now shows a gain of 3,825. And so of many other counties. Between 1860 and 1870 the gain in Kentucky was 165,327. The gain in the decade just closed will be at least double that of 1870. Under the appointment Kentucky will be entitled to another Congressman.

THIS time is near when the 23d annual Fair of the North Ky. Agricultural Society takes place. That event occurs on Tuesday August 31st, and continues five days. It is needless for us to say that under the present management it has become popular, and is known far and wide. We would urge upon every one, their brothers, their sisters, their cousins and their aunts, to attend the coming Fair, and second the Directors in their efforts to make the Boone Fair a credit to the county, Northern Kentucky and the entire State. Not interpreting the action of the stockholders as being entirely opposed to trotting, they have arranged for several small trots under the direct control and supervision of the Society. The Secretary wishes it distinctly understood that all conditions will be strictly enforced. He informs us that he has mailed 1,200 catalogues to individual persons; 2,800 were printed and they are rapidly disappearing, finding their way into all States of the Union.

Recognizing music as one of the features of any exhibition and without which it would be very flat, they have engaged Currier's band, of Cincinnati, which is a guarantee that music will be one of the features of the Fair. Nothing objectionable will be allowed upon the grounds, and anything out of the way, if promptly reported at the Secretary's office, will be rectified. With bonafide harvests and the low price of admission, there is no excuse why every one should not attend.

THE negroes in Paris have been on the rampage. The tobacco crop in Owen county is very uncertain. Clark county's wheat crop will be about 160,000 bushels.

Fleas are about to devour the inhabitants of Warsaw. A stable boy at Millen was kicked on the head and breast and badly hurt.

Winchester has a dog that gets drunk as a lord, and any other man, on beer. E. E. Garrett has sold his interest in the Mount Sterling Sentinel to W. T. Havens.

A Todd county farmer sowed 13 bushels of wheat and threshed 14 bushels from it. The Democrats of Nicholas have an old fashioned barbecue on the 29th of this month.

A five year-old girl fell in a tub of boiling water in Versailles and died from the effects of the scald. Mary Botts colored, of Glasgow, used coal oil to kindle a fire—a funeral procession tells the balance of the newspaper business.

The city government of Richmond is considering the question of reducing the salary of the Mayor. The negroes in Fayette county want $4 per day for cutting beef which is double their usual wages for that work.

An Elizabethtown physician was struck by lightning the other day and his horse killed. The M. D. was severely injured. Mt. Sterling is to have a semi-weekly paper J. R. Garrett, editor. Mr. G. has had considerable experience in the newspaper business.

A man in Montgomery county has an overcoat that he has worn 36 winters, and a Panama hat that he has worn 41 years. Good enough.

A great big man, old enough to be called "Colonel," has the whooping cough up in Madison county. He contemplates taking the measles next.

Six large stacks of wheat belonging to J. H. Hooker, and valued at $320, were burned in Lincoln county. The fire is supposed to have been started by lightning.

A new and strange disease resembling leprosy in its effects, is killing the cattle and hogs of Buchanan county. Every case of the disease has proven fatal.

Over a million pounds of eggs are being laid in this county. The hatched a brood of chickens from her own egg in February, and every pullet of the lot is now laying two eggs per day.

The Woodford Sun says: The "Silver Chaff" wheat raised in this section has not given satisfaction. The crop of straw was exceedingly fine, but the grain was very poor. There will be a prejudice against Silver Chaff in future.

Mr. Rickman's dog bit George Lewis in Louisville and Lewis sued the city for $10,000 damages, setting up the plea that the city knowing that the dog was a vicious one, wrongfully turned the same for a fee of $2, thus giving it a license to keep him within the city limits.

Alex Marshall, a negro, shot and killed a negro woman in Lincoln county a few weeks since, and last week died in jail at Stanford with a congestive chill, the superfluities of his race belied the spirit of his victim returned and beat him to death. The murderer also rested under a similar hallucination.

In Woodford the barley and wheat crops are both good, but the latter is not so good a yield as was at first supposed. This thought by judges that this crop will not make much of a crop of grain. He could have lived six months longer but for a trifling accident that happened to him just at the moment of his great success—he died.

William Dehon, of Green county, was born blind and is now twenty years old. The New Albany Ledger Standard says that he had sight given him through a skillful physician, Dr. Will Chubb, of Louisville. Last February the first operation was performed, six weeks later another, a month later another, and now the young man's sight is almost perfect. The disease was congenital catarrh.

Puduch Smeuse informs us that Stiles Potter and John Theobald have contracted to furnish the Chinese Government with 200 barrels of frogs, and they wish to employ a large number of hands to help catch them. They will have a big frog drive next Saturday. The driving will commence at the Gun Spring. Persons who bring frogs loose will be paid one dollar per bushel. Persons wishing to engage in the business of frog catching should apply at once to Mr. John Theobald or Stiles Potter.

A CARD.

To the voters of Boone county I tender my thanks for their support and election to the office of Circuit Court Clerk, and as a token of gratitude I shall endeavor to perform the duties of the office in a faithful manner and to the best of my ability. I shall enter the office with animosity toward none and good will toward all, and trust that the same shall prevail during my incumbency.

Respectfully, W. L. RIDDLE.

THE town has a bad case of diphtheria fever.

The force in this office are candidates for the hospital.

THE mosquitoes have commenced presenting their bills.

DR. TAMMER, not Dr. Jacob, is still living on wind pudding.

WANTED—500 good stock ewes.

WILKINSON, SLEET & CO.

ONE day last week Jno. McCreary caught a four pound catfish in Gunpowder creek.

THE fox have been prevalent in the Hebron and Bullittville neighborhood this summer.

THE katydid concert season has opened. The performers are of the old class and persistent in their assertions.

18 sheep of the Burlington and Florence turnpike stock sold at public auction Monday at $7 per shire to N. E. Haves.

SEND us one dollar and get the Recorder and the Louisville weekly Courier-Journal from now until January 1st, 1881.

WHAT has become of our Hebron correspondent? The busy season is now passed and we shall expect to hear from him as usual.

DR. J. C. TERRILL is advocating the creation of a telephone from Hebron to Lexington by way of Bullittville. Let us come.

MISS Annie Hughes, who at one time was a resident of this town, we are sorry to learn died at her boardinghouse in the city last Sunday.

THE new church at Bullittville is to be dedicated on the third Sunday in this month, Elder W. S. Keene preaching the dedicatory sermon.

TERRR is no means of correctly estimating the number of green apples, or the amount of watermelon the average boy can get around in a day.

WE know of several schoolhouses that need considerable repairing this fall before they are fit to be occupied by a school. The question is, will they get it?

ON last Monday R. C. Green received a letter from Governor McCreary stating that the reason he was not here last Saturday was severe sickness in his family.

NOTICE—Those against whom I hold notes are requested to come forward and settle the interest and probably a portion of the principal.

NOAH UTZ.

IT would not cost much to provide provisions for a barbecue if the crowd would be satisfied with Dr. Tanner's diet, and then such an immense crowd could be fed.

Geo. BUTT reports a call on his father's farm, with no talk at all, just a bunch of chairs, the talk ought to fall. It carries its lead erect and is as wild as a tiger.

IN every burying ground within a reasonable distance of Lawrenceburg are to be found tombstones and monuments erected by Geo. Huchart & Co. Their work gives entire satisfaction.

IN our issue week before last we were in error in regard to Rev. J. S. Kirtley's appointment to preach here. He will preach here next Sunday. The fifth Sunday in July up to our reckoning.

HAPPY JACK TURNER was in town Monday and announced himself a candidate for the Legislature. He makes the stock law the issue and favors its repeal. Happy will have to mount the stump.

THE election at this place passed off very quietly, only 216 votes being cast. The only contest was for Constable, Edward Fowler and R. H. Sandford being the candidates. Fowler was elected by a majority of eight votes.

THE Mt. Sterling Sentinel still has Mr. W. P. Oldham living in this county. We are sorry to say, (and some of the ladies also) Mr. S. S. man, that Mr. W. P. O. shook the dust of Boone from off his brogue some time since.

THE Rev. E. A. Beeson, Sweetwater, will preach at the Universalist church, this place, commencing at 8:30 o'clock p. m., Friday the 18th inst., and will occupy the pulpit Saturday night and Sunday morning, and probably Sunday night.

IT is with sorrow that we announce this week the death of John W. Carpenter at his home in Pottsville, Missouri. Mr. C. was a son of Abil Carpenter, of Florence, and had been living in Missouri since spring. The deceased has an extensive circle of friends in this county who will mourn his death.

MAX McKEEN's funeral was preached in the Baptist church at this place last Thursday morning by Dr. J. A. Kirtley, after which the remains were taken to Bullittville and placed in the vault. They will finally be buried in the family burying ground on his father's homestead at Lawrenceburg, Ky.

NOR long since Mr. Elijah Howard illustrated on his farm one dozen Montgomery birds, which were presented to him by a club in Cincinnati that imported them. These birds are not as large as the native quail. Mr. H. desires that they should be protected that they may multiply as rapidly as possible.

WE are in receipt of a letter from Duval county, Missouri, stating that peach, apples and grapes are plentiful; that the prospects for a large crop of corn is very flattering; and that the farmers are preparing to sow a large crop of wheat; that wheat is selling for $1 per bushel and corn for 21 cents per bushel.

THE Board of Directors of the North Kentucky Agricultural Society are hereby notified that a meeting will be held at the Fair Ground, on Saturday, August 7th, at 9 o'clock a. m. It is necessary that every member should be present, as business of importance will be before the Board.

E. A. TUCKER, Sec'y.

ON the 28th ult., Equine J. A. Kendall held a special term of his court for the trial of Henry Malory and Charles Glaze, charged with disturbing a lawful assembly (the exhibition in the Morgan Academy the Saturday night before). A jury was empaneled and after hearing the evidence as to Malory's conduct returned a verdict of not guilty. The charge as to Glaze was dismissed.

IS every man of family in Boone county happy, he can not blame W. H. McClellan & Co., of No. 357 Madison street, Cleveland, Ky., for they keep the MONITOR OIL STOVES for sale, and a lady can cook anything, she wants on it—can broil anything, and iron all day for cents without heat in the house. No chopping wood; no carrying coal; no smell of oil, and thank the Lord, no hose.

THE Grand Order of Kempo Court (does anybody know what this is?) will give a picnic at Viola, Tenn., on the 21st of this month. Kempo Council is an organization of colored folk, the object of which is known to them alone. They have their annual picnic, this being the second one at this place. We hope the weather will be more propitious than last time it was the day on which they gave their last picnic.

WE are sorry to note the destruction of the residence of Mr. John Moody by fire on the morning of the 28th ult. The fire was discovered about daylight and had gained such headway that nothing was saved from the building. It is supposed that the fire was caused by rats or mice lighting a box of matches that was in the house. The residence was located about two miles above Bellevue, on the Petersburg and Bellevue road. Mr. Moody has the sympathy of all who know him in his misfortune.

DR. H. H. GRANT, of New Castle, has been elected Demonstrator of Anatomy for the Kentucky school of Medicine at Louisville, and, having accepted the position, will leave for that city in about three weeks. The Doctor has been a very successful practitioner here for nearly three years, and has made many warm friends, who will sincerely regret losing him. Yet most of us recognize that he will diligently employ his advancement and honor to the advancement of the medical profession, and we truly trust, Dr. H. H. Grant, of Concord, Ohio, succeeds the Doctor in his practice. He comes highly recommended, and has the energy and capacity required for success. Dr. Grant will remain with us until the middle of August and will attend to business as usual.—Henry County Local.

THE Hancock and English barbers at this place last Saturday assembled about 5,000 people in Viola Park to give an ear to the expanding doctrine of the doctrine. The weather was fine, and an early hour that morning the roads that radiate from Burlington were sending in the people by the scores, and long before noon the woods were densely packed with all kinds of vehicles and people. The speaker's stand was a considerable distance from the dancing platform, and those more interested in governmental affairs occupied all the available space within ear-shot, while the devotees of Terpsichore crowded about the latter place, and tripped the light fantastic, keeping time with the strains of sweet music. So, while one part of the crowd was enjoying a political feast another was being royally entertained by a favorite amusements of the dance. And other, and a very large portion, was constantly on the move, with nothing in view save the meeting and the friendly shake of the hands of numerous friends and acquaintances, and while they patronized both the speaking and dancing they took in all the enjoyment that presented itself. The orators of the day were John G. Carlisle, Hon. Thomas L. Jones, Hon. James W. Bryan, Hon. W. E. Arthur and Hon. Thomas Dudley, of Covington. They each made a speech that was well received and highly appreciated by the hearers.

AT an old fashioned barbecue the cook of the month is always a sight that many like to witness, and Saturday was no exception in this respect. The cooking was done by a hundreds who had never before seen the like. Mr. William Tanner was the kitchen boss, and with his efficient corps of assistants, he delivered the most excellently cooked. Cooking 28 lambs and sheep, 1 goat and one beef and a half was no small feat to be performed with such accuracy and dispatch. To the 500 heads of bread were added, which gives it the ring of an enormous amount of provision, but it was rather small in the eyes of a few thousand crowd, and the deficit was largely supplied by private baskets, the owners of which invited many of their acquaintances to eat with them, consequently but few persons missed their dinner except the crowd.

THE crowd, considering its immense proportions, was remarkably orderly, nothing occurring on the ground during the day that was calculated to disturb the enjoyment of any one. The only difficulty of any moment took place on the road near town, and in which a negro was severely stoned, but not fatally, and as has been reported in some parts of the country.

LAST Saturday will go upon the record of memory as the biggest day known in the history of Boone county previous to August 1st, 1880. The crowd was not purely a county assembly, there being many persons from each of the adjoining counties and the States of Ohio and Indiana.

THE candidates for Constable in the 1st District each received 61 votes, a tie.

WHO KNOWS
BY JOHN H. BROWN

A kindly, pleasant, gentle face,
And tender, glowing eyes,
A rounded nose of amiable grace,
Curved by the fall of the skin;
Of smiling lips and a smile
Of sweet, warm, and gentle words,
Which make the soul of the world
To be a better place.

Old, stern and sad, with a smile
And a look of sternness,
Which makes the soul of the world
To be a better place.

And a look of sternness,
Which makes the soul of the world
To be a better place.

And a look of sternness,

THE ARCHITECT'S WIFE.

Many years had passed away since the tyrant of Montiel had destroyed the bridge of San Martin. Dignitaries both of church and state had died with each other in their endeavor to replace it. But the skill and power of the most celebrated architects, Christian and Moorish alike, had been altogether wanting in success on account of the rapidity of the stream, which carried away in its impetuous course the framework of wood and the pillars of stone before the arches of the bridge could be completed.

Don Pedro Tenorio, Archbishop of Toledo, then made application throughout all the cities and towns of Spain for an architect capable of rebuilding the bridge of San Martin, for a long time without response. One day, however, a man and woman, complete strangers to the place, entered Toledo by the Cambron gate, and after carefully inspecting the ruins of the bridge, fixed for their residence upon an empty house not far from them. A few hours afterward the man might have been seen wearing the way toward the palace of the Archbishop.

The joy of the good prelate was indeed great when one of his attendants informed him that an architect from another kingdom requested the honor of an interview. The Archbishop hastened to give the desired audience, and the stranger was ushered into his presence. The architect was still young, but thought and misfortune had left their traces on his countenance and rendered him in appearance prematurely grave.

After kindly receiving his respectful salutation, Don Pedro motioned him to a seat directly in front of his own.

"Sir," said the stranger, "my name, which must be entirely strange to you, is Juan de Arevalo, and I am an architect by profession."

"You have come hither, attracted no doubt by the notice which we in Toledo have circulated throughout Spain, calling for an architect sufficiently skillful to rebuild the bridge of San Martin?"

"That is so."

"Are you aware of all the difficulties of the work?"

"I not only know them, your Grace, but I conceive myself capable of overcoming them."

"Where have you studied?" asked the Archbishop.

"In Salamanca."

"And what buildings are there to which you can point in proof of your skill?"

"None."

"I am very sorry indeed that you have no credentials wherewith to satisfy us that if we confide in you we shall not trust in vain."

"I have one which at all events may satisfy your Grace."

"And that is?"

"My life."

"Explain yourself," cried the Archbishop.

"When the supports of the center arch of the new bridge of San Martin are removed, the architect who designed it will be found standing on the key-stones of the arch."

"I agree to your terms," replied the Archbishop, quite won over by the self-confidence of the stranger.

"And I will fulfill them," returned the architect.

The Archbishop held out his hand to the visitor, and the latter returned to his lady with a look of evident joy.

The lady who had accompanied Juan de Arevalo to Toledo, young and still lovely in spite of the traces of suffering on her face, smiled him with anxiety, and hurried to await him at the door.

"My own," exclaimed the architect, "I have just explained to your Grace."

"And what is it?"

"My life."

ceased from his lips, the joy disappeared from his countenance, and he returned to his house full of sadness and despair.

Catalina, his devoted and faithful wife, ran with cheerful face and loving words to meet him on the threshold of their home, but as she saw the look of anguish on her husband's countenance, her cheeks gained the pallor of his.

"Tell me, for Heaven's sake," she cried, "are you ill?"

"No, dear love," replied Juan, endeavoring to conceal his despair.

"For the first time in your life you are hiding something from me!" said Catalina. "Am I no longer worthy to that love and confidence which up to now you have ever bestowed upon me?"

"Do not add to my trouble, Catalina, by doubting my love for you."

"There can be no love where there is no confidence."

"For your sake and mine do not seek to know the secret that I am hiding from you," cried Juan.

"Your secret is one of sadness, and I must know it so that I may comfort you in your sorrow."

"Comfort me! Alas, that is impossible, Catalina!"

"To love such as mine nothing is impossible."

"Very well then; so be it. To-morrow I shall forfeit my honor and my life, for I shall be swept away by the river together with the structure which I have reared with so much mingled anxiety and hope."

"No, no!" cried Catalina, throwing her arms round her husband and striving in her breast the grief which his words had caused her.

"Yes," said he, "at the moment when my confidence in my work was at its height, I discovered that an error in my calculations would surely cause the downfall of the bridge of San Martin, and of him who planned it. built it."

"The bridge may be buried in the stream, but not you, my husband, my love! I will go away with you to the noble Cardinal and beseech him to prevent your carrying out this horrible contract."

"You will but ask in vain, for, even should your prayer be granted, I will not live dishonored."

"Then you shall preserve both life and honor," replied Catalina, firmly.

Day was about to break, and Catalina appeared to slumber, while her husband, worn out by grief and toil, had fallen into a deep sleep which almost approached unconsciousness.

Catalina got up noiselessly, scarce daring to breathe, made her way to the kitchen, and climbed out through the window which looked on to the Tagus.

It was still dark, and a star here and there broke the gloom. Toward the bed of the Tagus no sound was to be heard but the rushing of the river, and the moaning of the wind as it swept through the scaffolding of the bridge of San Martin.

Catalina, before making her exit through the window, had seized from the smoldering embers on the hearth a brand still burning, and, noiselessly closing the window after her, she set out, holding her breath even, lest a sound should escape her. Whether was she going? On what errand was she bound? Did she take the burning brand with her to light her on the way amid the surrounding darkness? Ere she could answer these questions, she was in the broad glare of day, along which she was hastening, Catalina was careful to conceal under her cloak the light which alone could show her the windings of the precipitous track she was traversing with a speed marvelous in one so delicately framed.

Catalina drew near to the buttress of the bridge, and could not repress a cry of horror. Perhaps it was that she found herself on the very brink of the boiling abyss! Or was it that in her hand, accustomed only to do good, she bore a means of destruction? Or it might have been the awful peal of thunder which just at that moment sounded in her ears; or did she think that they who do not understand a sacrifice for love might hold that a crime had led her to where she stood?

Be that as it may, Catalina hesitated not, but, drawing her torch from under her cloak, she set fire to the scaffolding of the bridge. The resplendent pine-wood was speedily in a blaze, and the flames, fanned by the wind, lapped the timber with their fiery tongues and enveloped the bridge with fearful rapidity.

No need of torchlight now—and Catalina hastened back to her home, entering so noiselessly and with such precautions as had marked her exit. Her husband was sleeping still, and Catalina, hurriedly divesting herself of her clothes, lay down beside him, just as a tremendous crash announced that some of the huge blocks of stone in the bridge had given way.

A few moments later a dull continuous murmur was heard throughout the city, and from a hundred steeples descended the dread alarm of fire, while the ill-fated falling arches drew from the Taldas sounds of grief, such as those which their fathers had uttered when Don Enrique set light to the structure which in those days had been their pride.

Juan de Arevalo awoke with a start. Catalina lay at his side, to all appearance asleep. Juan drew in haste and hurried to the street, there to find the unbidden joy that the ill-fated bridge which he had built had fallen a prey to the flames, and was then in ruins.

The Toledoans knew neither whether the destruction of the bridge was due to lightning or incendiary, but Juan de Arevalo, who had lived a blameless life, and believed that the good are ever under God's protecting arm, did not hesitate a moment in attributing the conflagration to the fire of Heaven, and Catalina asserted that she was of the same opinion. Surely God would forgive the falsehood of a wife, who, it saved the life and honor of her husband.

The burning of the new bridge nearly delayed the triumph of Juan de Arevalo for a year. When that time had elapsed on the festival, too, of San Isidoro, the Toledoans crossed the river by the bridge of San Martin to visit their beloved Giralda. And the Archbishop, Don Pedro Tenorio, at the banquet given in honor of Juan de Arevalo, who was seated at his right hand, said to Catalina:

"If with most men it is true that 'the third time pays for all,' may it not be said in the case of your husband and our well-beloved friend, Juan de Arevalo, that 'second thoughts are best'?"

DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

CULINARY.—Two cups sugar, one cup butter, three eggs, three cups flour, one cup sweet milk, a small teaspoonful of tartar in the flour, a small half-teaspoonful cinnamon and nutmeg; mix smoothly, roll out in any design, and bake in hot loaf.

VANILLA SAVON.—Boiled cream, then add the yelks of two well-beaten eggs and one-half pint of sugar; stir until it is as thick as boiled custard. When cool flavor with vanilla. Just before serving add the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff, and gently stir in the sauce.

NEW ENGLAND MUFFINS.—Beat two eggs well, with a table-spoonful of butter; add a pint of milk. Take three cups of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and half a teaspoonful of salt; sift into the milk and eggs, beat quickly, and drop into muffin-rings or gem-pans, leaving room for them to rise; bake immediately in a quick oven.

OUR CAKE.—Sift three cups of flour with three small teaspoonfuls of baking powder in a large dish; break three eggs in a bowl, one cup of cream, five eggs; add a pinch of salt, a cream and add it to the pinemole, previously grated; then add the eggs, well beaten, and cream. Line your pie-plates with a good crust, and bake to a light brown in a moderate oven.

CUCUMBER JELLY.—Pick and wash your cucumbers; mash them with a wooden spoon in the preserving-kettle, and let them simmer for ten minutes after they have come to a boil; then strain through a flannel bag, and add to every pint of juice a pound of sugar, five eggs; stir for ten or fifteen minutes, rolling the sirup; put in glass, well hot, but do not close them till the jelly is perfectly cold.

BROWN BREAD.—Three and a half cups of Graham flour; two cups of Indian meal; two-thirds of a cup of sirup; one pint of water; one pint of water, or if you have not plenty of milk, use all water; one teaspoonful of saleratus and one teaspoonful of salt. Steam four hours. It is excellent. Always make it to eat with baked beans. My husband thinks it is better than the famous Boston brown bread.—Mrs. F. C. C. in Rural New Yorker.

A GENTLEMAN well known in Hartford, Ct., and the proprietor of one of the largest gin distilleries in a neighboring town, went into the office of the United States Internal Revenue Collector to procure some stamps to the amount of twenty $700. The clerk was making out the required papers when an assistant, deputed up, and, seeing the distiller's check upon the collector, inquired what it was for. The clerk replied that it was to pay for the stamps he was about delivering. "But don't you know," said the assistant, "that it is against the rules of this office to take checks?"

"So it might be in some cases," answered the clerk, "but this gentleman is perfectly well known to me, and his check is as good as gold." The assistant took the check and said: "Well, I will run down and have it certified." The gentleman told him he need not take the trouble, that he would cash the check and come back for the stamps. He went to the bank and drew the amount in silver dollars, and with these in two bags he returned to the Collector's office and demanded his stamps. The assistant was at hand, and at the sight of the huge pile of silver, and the great pile of stamps, he said to the gentleman: "Take them, but the gentleman insisted upon his doing so, left the silver, which weighed nearly forty-five pounds, took the stamps and left."

A RATES AND INCIDENT occurred at a church prayer meeting at Westfield a few evenings since. Near the front of a young couple who are quite devoted to each other, and soon to be married. The good deacon leading the meeting took for his topic "Love," and, growing warm with the subject, said: "Brothers and sisters, all around us can be seen the fruits of love—aye, right before us 'tis seen in all its God-like beauty and tenderness." Unconsciously the speaker was pointing directly to the before-mentioned couple, and while the young woman was trying to hide her blushes and her companion to look unconcerned, the audience smiled, the deacon grew embarrassed, and it was some time before people's thoughts were tossed down to their usual placidity.—Springfield Republican.

HARKING.

How it is done of West Point and Annapolis.

There is harking at the colleges, but the Sophomore class has not the facilities for indulging in the pastime that are possessed by third-class men at West Point and Annapolis. The third class is above the new-comer, the "pleb" or "youngster," and exercises a certain sort of supervision over him. He is made superintendent of the fourth-class class. As he has just come into a little authority, he delights to exercise it.

"The pleb" is "spotted" or reported for everything. He is not spoken to like a gentleman, but more like a dog. He has to put a "sir" after every answer to an upper classman. He must stand up and take off his cap when one of these august and important individuals enters his room. He must stand and have his books, figure, and his name made fun of by a younger man. The language used is often insulting, but it is seldom that the pleb dares to resent it. The harker generally tries to be very funny. If he happens to get something off that approaches wit, and the younger smiles, he is then pitched into for daring to laugh at an upper classmate.

This is the milder form of "harking;" it is called "running." To most young men it is as tedious as boiling custard. When cool flavor with vanilla. Just before serving add the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff, and gently stir in the sauce.

HISTORY.

The Modern History of Archery.

Archery is the art or exercise of shooting with a bow and arrow. The origin of the bow as an instrument of war is lost in obscurity. With all the ancient peoples, both civilized and barbaric, the bow was a favorite weapon, and skill in the use of it was regarded by the Scythians as a princely accomplishment. The Greeks and Romans employed archers to draw the enemy into action, and exploits of the ancient Egyptians rivaled those of the archers of the middle ages. There is no record of the bow in France until the reign of Charlemagne, in the beginning of the eighth century, although he gave evidence that in England both the Anglo-Saxons and the Danes employed it in the chase, as well as in battle against the primitive inhabitants of England, many years before the conquest. The probability is that it was first introduced as a military weapon into Britain by the Romans; but it was under the Norman rule that the practice of archery, in that island, was not only greatly improved, but generally diffused throughout the country, so that England soon became famous for its archery, and her archers took precedence of those of every other nation. To preserve this superiority by constant practice appears to have been the study of many of her monarchs, and numerous statutes for enforcing and regulating the use of the bow among the people were enacted from early times until after the invention of fire-arms. Many laws were enacted for securing the presence in distant and obscure parts of the country of persons skilled in the manufacture of bows and all the appurtenances pertaining to archery. These laws appear to have been absolutely necessary, for in the olden time the English chiefly depended for their success in battle upon the bravery and expertness of their archers, whose appearance in the field generally led to success.

Richard I., the first of the great exploits with his archers in the Holy Land, where, according to Gibbon, 300 archers and seventeen knights, headed by the King, sustained the charge of the whole Turkish and Saracen army. It was in his reign that the renowned Robin Hood flourished in Sherwood forest. Edward III. levied a company of "Northumbrian Archers" in the year 1314, for the invasion of Scotland.

The battles of Cressy and Poitiers were gained by the English archers, in the years 1346, 1356, respectively. Edward III. was extremely jealous of the honor of the bow, and anxious that its glory should be maintained.

In the early part of his reign it was ordered that the Sheriff of England should send each province 600 white bows and 600 bundles of arrows for the then-impending war with France. Edward III. also commanded the general practice of archery on Sundays and holidays by the people in lieu of the ordinary rural pastimes, which were forbidden on pain of imprisonment. In the year 1402 the English archers won the battle of Hamildon, and in 1403, at the battle of Shrewsbury, where Hotspur was slain, the most terrible havoc was made by the archers on both sides.

In the reign of Henry IV. it was enacted that all archers should be well hardened at the points with steel, and stamped with the name of the maker. In the reign of Edward IV. it was enacted that every Englishman and every Irishman living with an Englishman should have an English bow of his own height. In 1417 the archers of the army of Henry V. won the battle of Agincourt. This King directed his Sheriffs of counties to take six living leopards from every county for feasting the army. In 1478 archery was encouraged in Ireland by statute. In the year 1493 James I., of Scotland, who was himself an excellent bowman, revived the practice of archery among his subjects. In the reign of Henry VII. (1485) archery occupied an important position in the fashionable pastimes of the kingdom, and, upon the occasion of the marriage of Henry with the Princess Elizabeth, it formed a great feature among the nuptial festivities, the King himself joining in the shooting with his household.

Queen Catherine also showed deep interest in the fascinating pastime, and in the year 1576 she presented a silver badge to the "Marshall of the Fraternity of Archers." Both the King and Queen frequently reviewed the numerous associations of archers then existing. In the spring of 1682 a grand fête was given by the London Artillery Company at the artillery grounds, at which archers were present upward of 1,000 there, and it is said that the paleontologists of the kind that had previously been seen in England; but from that time until the beginning of the present century the attractions appear to have been overlooked and its practice neglected.

ARSENICAL POISONING THROUGH A DRESS.

A recent number of the New York Herald, of Vienna, gives, on the authority of the Berliner Morgen-Post, the following account of arsenical poisoning through a dress: A certain Countess, I am brought home by her daughter, from a well-known Parisian atelier, a splendid dark-green dress trimmed with light-green laces. The dress was frequently worn, but after a time the lady, who had a very beautiful complexion, remarked an outbreak of pustules on her neck and arms, which were especially painful at night. For a long time she concealed her state from her parents and the family physician, but, finally, applying in vain all kinds of domestic remedies, she could no longer keep the matter secret, as she had become much worse. The family doctor at once recognized the effect of arsenical poisoning, and on chemical examination detected a large percentage of arsenic in the material of the dress.

Russia and Germany are complaining of a rag famine. The St. Petersburg Herald states that during the Turkish war, the Russian people, in consequence of the plague, rag-picking has been very much diminished in Russia; that the many fairs have destroyed large quantities of rags, and that, as a general thing, the wearing of cotton fabrics more and more supersedes the use of linen in Russia, thus causing a growing scarcity of the more-desirable class of rags.

In China the names of children are given according to circumstances associated with the time of their birth. If a child is born at midnight, its name may be Midnight; if birth occurs on the birthday of some relative, that relative's age may be the name of the new born, and so there are names of Thirty, Five, Fifty, One, and other numbers. But there are even more curious names. If the parents desired a boy, and his name, his name maybe Ought-to-be-a-Boy.

The new census of Oswego, N. Y., shows 20,322 population, against 20,310 in 1870, and 20,285 in 1871. Oswego people are surprised to find that in the Englishman, N. Y., are in agony because the census enumerators counted 16,000 noses in that city, when they expected 20,000.

Flies on Gilt Frames.—After house-cleaning this spring I applied onion water to all of my picture frames. This, I believe, is a sure preventive against flies injuring them. Both onions and a pint of vinegar were used. One onion cold. It is no way harms the gilding.—Mrs. G. L. A., in Rural New Yorker.

A GREAT deal of trouble is being experienced with the rags which have recently reached this country from Europe. A great portion of them are reported to be almost worthless. Only a small quantity of 400 bales, which recently arrived at New York, only 100 bales were fit for use for paper making.

COL. JOHN P. BROOKS, of Cherokee county, Ga., now 90 years old, was born on the 10th of November, 1804, and has lived every civil office in his community, from constable up to legislator! His descendants number 239, and extend to the fifth generation.

It is awful hard to realize that a woman is an angel when one sees her pick up a clothes-prayer fourteen feet long to drive a two-cousin chicken out of the yard.

WINNING A WIFE

at Prague in the autumn of 1945 after his arrival a woman came upon him, and represented a brother artist in distress, begged all his means to an new-suit, and solicited aid to return to Nuremberg, his residence. Lind gave him a check, and opened his desk to her, but found he was empty.

"said the generous artist, as poor as yourself. How credit, and I can con more my pistol. I have here a given me by the Emperor; the painting is of little the diamonds are fine; the diamonds, and keep the called upon the jeweler, and at the man was innocent, thrust him the diamonds. "Are you?" said the jeweler. "No," he replied. "I am the owner of no finances of that name," he replied. "Possible," said Linau. "You know that these diamonds are worth 6,000 florins?" "The better for him to whom they belong," said Linau. "They must be very rich, to make such a fortune," said Linau. "The fortune consists of three

The Jeweler was satisfied, the stranger was relieved, the report of the man in the city flew, and he was invited and feasted by the nobles, and he was asked to give a concert in the city. The Jeweler, seeing that it was paid to the man of ambition of forming an orchestra, and he said to him: "You find my daughter?"

"You think of marriage?"

"The jeweler said that I was old enough to try it," said Lisat. "So I am, you say to a dwerg of France?" he was next.

"I accept it," was the reply, "you, too."

"My daughter likes you and the jeweler; and the jeweler; "the lady. "Will you be my son-in-law?"

The trick of "hanging" waiting minute after minute, hour, in work as in play—for play consciously—is learned in mere infancy, in hide-and-seek, and the child grows older and better, never to be the end of life. The stock law in Kenton county was voted down.
GEN. DUKE was defeated in Jefferson county for Commonwealth's Attorney.
VIRGINIA boasts of the finest corn crop that State has had for upwards of sixty years.
Some fellow has discovered that every President thus far has been elected in leap-year.
The returns of the census in Missouri indicate that the population, at present of that State, is 2,200,000.

It is evident that General Hancock is an independent sort of a case, and does his own thinking and writing, both of which he does like a statesman.
The Courier-Journal says that the election in the main was a dis-aster to the city of Louisville. De-moralization ruled the roost, and rascals were rampant.
GEN. HANCOCK's letter to Gen. Sherman during the Tilden-Hayes trouble is not fraught with treason, but, on the other hand, it is brim full of statesmanship.

RENNETT, the Democratic candidate for Vice-President is a widower, and as he is very rich he will naturally be a favorite with the women, making his success inevitable.
The farmers in Louisiana are im-porting Spanish laborers to supply the place of negroes who "exodus-ed" from that State to Kansas. They do not want any Chinese down there.
The Robertson County Tribune has lost its editor. Brother Zoller says it is the third pair of scissors that have been taken from his office. Such losses to printing offices are second only to a "burn-out."

QUITS a number of harmless, in-urable lunatics has been returned from the Lexington asylum to the counties from whence they were sent. This institution has been in an over-crowded condition for some time.
Dr. TANNER, the faster, succeeded in fasting forty days the time termi-nating last Saturday at noon. He had a good appetite and commenced eating, and to the great astonish-ment his stomach received the food without trouble.

The race for Constable in several of the precincts was warm and the contest close. The Beaver district elected an outfit of officers, and at the next Court of claims we will see the faces of Equines Jno. T. Conner and J. O. Griffith on the bench.
The Louisville commercial says that Alabama must now be crossed from the list of doubtful States. The overwhelming Democratic majority there on the first Monday in this month satisfied the Commercial as to its political complexion.

The Secretary of Pomona Grange, in this county this week calls upon the Grangers to "wake up" and as-semble on the third Friday in this month and have "a general good time." It seems that the order has been on the decline in this county some time, but probably with the effort the tide may be turned and more flourishing time brought.

Gen. Wm. O. BUTTER, of Carrollton died on the 6th inst., aged 89 years, 8 months and 17 days. He had been a resident of Carrollton ever since 1794, and was endeared to all who knew him.
NEXT Saturday the Democrats inaugurate the campaign in Indiana, and on that occasion Hon. Jno. G. Carlisle will address a meeting at Vevay. The Governor has talked democracy there on other occasions.
The whites and blacks, collided at Mayslick, this State, on election day, and one negro was killed and two whitemen badly wounded. About one hundred on each side were engaged in the melee, and for a while the prospects for an extensive battle were good.

THERE is one thing that the people down here do not exactly understand, and that is how Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge could attend the Emme-nace barbecue on the 31st ult., when he was not at the place, having professional duties would prevent his being here on that day.

Now ain't we in "a regular fix?" Here are three pieces of original po-etry lying on our table with the humble request, "Please publish." The only way that we can see out of it is to return them "respectfully declin-ed," and hereby decline the publica-tion of original poetry in the future. It's done.

FROM the best information that we can gather in regard to the growing tobacco crop, we feel justified in say-ing that this is not a tobacco year. The plants have been very irregular in growth, and in some fields they range from six to fourteen leaves. The weather early in the season was not favorable to the crop, the stalks getting hard, and the leaves failing to spread. Some tobacco has commenced early next the ground, and to save it, early cutting will be necessary. The outlook in this county indicates a small amount of tobacco as the re-sult of the growing crop.

THE St. Louis Globe Democrat says: "The summer suns and the rains of heaven have enlisted on the Republican side for the campaign, and are doing splendid service. Every ripening field of grain, every garnered bushel of corn is an argu-ment in favor of the Republican side, the only exceptions being those bush-els of corn which are intended for distillation into whisky, and which consequently furnish Democratic argu-ment. The prosperity of the coun-try is all on the side of the Republi-can party, and the prosperity of the country to-day is immense."

Tax Standford Journal, says: "Gov. Blackburn denies through a correspondent of the Courier-Journal that he defended Garfield in his speech at Crab Orchard. In his cooler mo-ments he recognizes the fact that he has put his foot in it, but he can't get out of it now. Here is exactly what he said, taken down at the time: As to Garfield, I have not a word to say against him. He has represented his district in Congress for eighteen years, and is a great and good man. I am above repeating the scandals dealt out by the 8x10 ticky news-papers against him, &c. We dare the Governor to deny that he said this."

HERBY MALOAT fell off a wagon the other day, and had a narrow escape with his life.

The Dramatic Club has commenced rehearsing, "The Toodles" and "A Hundred Years Ago."

Dr. TAMMERS has fasted 46 days, but we can put our hand on a fat that can not fast 40 minutes.

On last Wednesday, R. H. Sandford was "worn in" as mail carrier between Burlington and Florence.

Read Dudley Rouse's advertisement in this issue. It abounds with facts that are of interest to you.

The boys get all the enjoyment out of a watermelon. They eat the inside, then peel each other with the rinds.

As a picnic on Gunpowder last Saturday. The weather was pleasant, and those who attended had a nice time.

SEND us one dollar and get the Recorder and the Louisville weekly Courier-Journal from now until January 1st, 1881.

Mr. BEN CLOKE, of Bellevue, donated this office a nice watermelon the other day. A unanimous vote of thanks is tendered him.

Rev. B. F. BRISTOW will preach at the Baptist church in Florence next Sunday, and Professor F. L. BRISTOW will conduct the singing.

We failed to notice the death of Mr. O'Neal, of East Bend. He was the oldest person in that part of the county. He died several days since.

WE'VE now had both sides of that quarter, and both sides should be satisfied; consequently these columns are closed against a further discussion of it.

From home to hear the news, and especially for that which is false:
A colored man was stoned to death near Grant, last Saturday.—Rising Sun Recorder.

Our Furling brothers have gone into the wild cherry business. They are gathering them for gentlemen at Hebron who engaged in the fruit trade.

NOTICE—Those against whom I hold notes are requested to come forward and settle the interest and probably a portion of the principal.
NOAH UTZ.

One of the inmates of the Poor-house was adjudged a lunatic last week. If the inmate is confirmed it will secure $75 per year to assist the county in taking care of her.

The busy season is now over with the farmers, and many of them have turned their attention to cleaning up their fields. A good farmer is never without something to do.

JIM WESTBART absorbed considerable democracy (we know it was nothing else) while in Williamson Monday; for when he reached Florence he was harrying for Hancock.

On Monday night of last week, Patrick Finn, who lives at Flatburgh, had two horses killed by lightning. They were standing under a small walnut tree which was struck.

In every burying ground within a reasonable distance of Lawrenceburg are to be found tombstones and monuments erected by Geo. Hurchart & Co. Their work gives to their agents, with full authority to contract for work.

Two dusky couple from old Kentucky were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by "Squire Danvers" last Saturday. Ceremony was rather amusing, and attended by several of their colored brethren and sisters.—Lawrenceburg Press.

CORONER DEER, who resides on Gunpowder hill, in a few days, draw on the Government for something over $1,000 pension arrears. Church needs all the money he can get, and if properly husbanded it will keep him very comfortably.

Next week, the 15th, 16th and 20th, the Boone county teachers will meet in the Morgan Academy in the capacity of a Teachers' Institute. The programme for the approaching session in several particulars a new departure, and will make the exercises somewhat more interesting. A large attendance and an interesting session is expected.

A NUMBER of persons from this city and county attended the Democratic barbecue at Burlington, Ky., on Saturday last. There were upwards of six thousand people present. Two whole hogs, twenty-five sheep and twelve porkers constituted a part of the "bill of fare."—Lawrenceburg Register.

The docket for the month of August makes the following showing: 14th, church dedication at Bullittsville, 18th, 19th and 20th, Boone County Teachers' Institute at Morgan Academy; 19th, fourth supplementary party to be given by Temperance Dining Club in the Morgan Academy; 21st, the Grand Order of Kanawha council air itself at Viola Park; 21st, the Boone Fair commences.

The Boone County Farmers Grange will have a grand reunion of the Grange of the county at her hall on W. M. Conner's place, the third Friday in this month at 10 a. m. All fourth degree members are invited to be present. Much speaking, good eating, and a general good time will be the order of the day. We say, Grangers, come and come to it.

G. G. GRADY, Secy.

If every man of family in Boone county not happy, he can not blame W. H. McHugh & Co., of No. 537 Madison street, Lexington, Ky., for they keep the MONITOR OIL STOVES for sale, and a lady can cook anything she wants on it—can broil anything, and iron all day for 5 cents without heat in the house. No chopping wood; no carrying coal; no smell of oil, and thank the Lord, no heat.

One afternoon last week a skelobing party composed of Dr. Furnish, Miss Mary Light, Miss Lillie McKee and Master Lewis Smith visited Woolper to take in some of the beautiful scenery there to be found. The first, last and only object they attacked was Bruce's mill. The skelobers seemed to be good and especially that the M. D. To avoid misleading any one as to what the skelobers intended to represent the prominent features he labeled as follows: This is the wheel; this is a window; this is a door; this is a tree; this is the race; this is a fence, &c., &c. The labeling was well executed.

One day in the early part of last week, Rev. Ben Lampton and son made their appearance on Gunpowder near Piles' mill late in the afternoon. The son was riding an animal which he guided by a halter, and as Mr. L. and son were strolling the natives they took them to be horse thieves, and after they had been gone some time a company was organized and pursuit commenced. The pursuing party hastened on and was gaining on them when at the toll gate near Piles' mill on the Union and Florence turnpike they were informed as to whom they were after. The joke was a good one and the boys had to tell them they returned that night. Had they overhauled Mr. Lampton on the road, they may have put him to considerable trouble to satisfy them that he was really Benjamin Lampton.

In company with Judge Westway, we made a flying visit to Williamson, the capital city of Grant county, last Monday. That was County Court day there, and about one thousand of Grant's branny sons were in attendance, and the town was a very lively appearance. Considerable trade was done publicly, and the rattle of the auctioneer's tongue could be heard in every direction. The veritable horse traders were out in force, and the market was well stocked with horse flesh in all conditions.

Governor Carlisle addressed a large audience in the Court-house immediately after dinner. He did not dwell at length on any one proposition. The people of Grant have great admiration for Mr. Carlisle.

Grant county has been without office for its County and Circuit clerks for a long time, but these at last declined to provide these officials with handsome apartments, which is being done at a cost of $7,000.

The bank is now in full blast, and has demonstrated that it will be of great value to the town and surrounding country.

We were glad to see our friends who went from here to Williamson doing a good business. J. O. Campbell, in the hotel business, has his portion of the patronage. James Ribbell has command of a large trade in the saddlery and harness business.

We called at the Courier's office where we met the affable proprietors, who are laboring to furnish the county with a good local paper, and we are glad to learn that they are making it a success.

We met Mr. DeLanette, our Commonwealth's Attorney-elect. He had every appearance of an elected candidate, and snored on the duties of his office on the first Monday in next month at Carrollton.

Williamstown is the liveliest island town in this part of the State, and the indications are that it will continue so to be for a long time.

Personal Mention.

The Other Side of That Quarter.

To the Editor of the Recorder:
In your last issue, your Florence correspondent has given an account of our wanting to change Mr. Terrill's office for carrying on the mail from Florence to Burlington, and now I ask permission to make a statement in regard to the same matter.

In the first place we did not know under what circumstances Mr. T. was desiring to make the trip on the "bus," which, together with the fact that he had said on a previous occasion that when he could ride on the "bus" and carry the mail cheaper than he could carry it in his own conveyance that he would do so, induced us to make the demand of him that we did. Mr. T. had been informed that when he attempted to ride on the "bus" and carry the mail that he would have to pay extra fare, and having learned (that his buggy should have been expected to be charged more than 25 cents.

We have set our figures for carrying passengers, and when bids for the mail was made the figures were set by the person making the bid, and we don't propose that the present bid be altered, or anybody else shall compel us to alter it for our own convenience.

Under the same principle the proprietor of an opposition line may on some occasion drop up more passengers than he can accommodate, charge them 60 cents each, and then come to us and say here is 25 cents each for carrying these passengers to Burlington, they want to go with you, and we must accommodate said opposition.

Mr. T. never explained to us why he wanted to ride with us. Another thing that looks strange about the matter is that Mr. T. friend could get so buggy but his in the case of sickness when Mr. Oscar Conrad was so exceedingly willing to give Mr. Terrill such a "ride" and he would be free of any charge. It is a little strange that Mr. T. friend did not come across O. H. Conrad while in a quandary to procure a conveyance.

Thank you for your indulgence, and the people of Florence and elsewhere for their patronage. Wm. SHEPHERD.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Dry and dusty.
Mrs. J. W. Carpenter returned from Missouri with her father-in-law, Mr. Abel Carpenter.

DR. TAYNER has gained rapidly in skill ever since he broke his fast.

The Frankfort teachers are going to organize a Teachers' Association.

The Kentucky River improvement is being rushed forward very rapidly.

The census returns show a large increase in the population of the South.

WADSWORTH has been invited to deliver an address at the Lexington Fair.

It is said that Senator David Davis, of Illinois, has declared for Hancock and English.

This free bridge question promises to place itself before the Covingtonians again this winter.

The St. Louis Fair Association will give but one week's exhibition this year, commencing October 4th.

THE KENTUCKY CONSTITUTIONALISTS want to know if a man who lies at the point of death can go to heaven.

ABOUT the usual vote was polled in this State on the first Monday.

Out of the eighteen Circuit Judges the Republicans elected one.

This Penitentiary has been leased to Jones, Craddock, and the Souths, for the period of four years. The price is understood to be $106,000.

In Hopkinsville a negro woman and a white man had a wrestling match on the street for a bushel of potatoes. The woman won the vegetables.

This Clark County Democrat is of the opinion that Hon. Henry Burritt, of Paducah, will make a success race for Attorney-General two years hence.

In Hardin county forty teachers had their certificates revoked because they refused to attend the Teachers' Institute. Pretty rough on them.

COVINGTON has been having the quality of fresh milk furnished its citizens inspected. Some of the milk vendors have received orders to cease feeding their cows on slop.

Taxidulatory manner in which the State has been in paying teachers is having its effect, and there is a noticeable falling off in the number of applications for public schools in some parts of the Commonwealth.

The quantity of tobacco this winter will not reduce the price, but the quality may have a tendency in that direction. The leaf will be small and it will take particular handling to make it present the necessary appearance.

CINCINNATI is not exactly satisfied with the population the census returns give it, and steps are being taken to have the matter investigated. The Chamber of Commerce has taken the subject in hand and has appointed a committee on investigation.

ACCORDING to a friend who writes from Walton, there is a pretty lively discussion in regard to the last amendment to the stock law in progress there. At this request we, this week, reproduce the amendment passed by the last Legislature.

OUR friend C. C. Coleman, of Clay Center, Kansas, has sent us a pamphlet written on the resources of Clay county. From the reading of this pamphlet one would believe Clay county to be the garden spot of the State.

ACCORDING to the Frankfort Yeoman Col. J. D. Lillard's chances for election to Congress from his district are very fair. Owen being the only county that recognizes him as a candidate, the remainder having instructed for Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn. Later—Lillard withdrew.

INDIANA is having an epidemic of colored camp meetings, and the Democrats are keeping a watchful eye on them. Too many special trains convey colored visitors from Kentucky to Indiana. They are satisfied that negro voters are being imported for the fall elections.

We are in receipt of Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Directory for 1880. It is of great value to business men who advertise extensively, containing newspaper statistics that can not be elsewhere obtained. It is methodically arranged, and a credit to its editors.

TEX MARRIAGES entered Salt Lake Valley 33 years ago the 24th of July. The anniversary was celebrated by a grand procession that was an hour passing a given point. They had several bands, and carried banners, and motes representing the different industries in which this peculiar people are engaged.

MINNESOTA papers estimate the wheat crop of the State at fifteen bushels per acre. Last year the average was 11.4 bushels. Nearly 8,000,000 acres have been devoted to this crop this year. The newly settled sections show an increase in yield, but in the older counties there is a falling off.

We are in receipt of the first number of the Lawrenceburg Democrat, published by the Lawrenceburg Printing Company and edited by R. Emmett Slater. The Democrat proposes, during the campaign, to make an active battle for the party from which it takes its name. May its power and influence be great.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Ohio Farmer says that he has found that six Cotswold sheep will not consume more food than a cow, and are more profitable. For a lamb of this breed, weighing 125 pounds, $5.50 is obtained. He estimates that six ewes will produce eight lambs per annum and fifty pounds of wool.

We are now upon the eve of the Fair, and many persons are casting about for some article to exhibit. Every department of husbandry from the kitchen to the broad fields is provided for in the long, liberal premium list, and the outlook now favors a good exhibition. The attendance will be large and the board of directors are making ample arrangements for the accommodation of all who favor them with their presence.

THE experiment of importing live hogs from the United States to Germany has proved a success. Of 900 on the Berlin only 40 died during the voyage, and this being less than five per cent, is considered trifling. They were imported for a large packing house in Hanover. Further shipments are to be made. The recent measure against American bacon applies only to small joints, etc. Whole hams are not prohibited.

STATE NEWS.

—The acreage of tobacco in Lewis county this year is double that of last season.

—Mrs. Mary T. Ranyan, of one of the Frankfort schools, is the oldest teacher in the State.

—Six ladies who met in a store at Brownsboro, Oldham county, weighed on an average, 168 pounds.

—Thirteen members of the Kirby and Riddell families, in Estill county, average nearly 825 pounds in weight.

—In Hopkins county during the last school year $1,918.41 was raised by local taxation for the common schools.

At the Owensboro Fair a premium is to be awarded to the young lady who will cook the best meal on the grounds.

—Two Glasgow ladies have made a circuitous buggy trip by themselves of 165 miles, in neighboring counties.

—The regulators whipped a man and his wife in Clark county because they had been unkind to the children by the husband's first wife.

—Zack Bates died at Derby's station from the effects of a walking match for five hours in which he engaged on the last day of July.

—James Cockrell, a colored man nearly ninety years old, dropped dead on the street in Mt. Sterling, from what is supposed to be heart disease.

—Benjamin Clemmons, of Harrison county, was thrown from a jennet and had one arm broken in two places, besides being otherwise injured.

—In Bath county a twelve-year-old daughter of John Carter fell down a well, striking on her head and splitting her scalp wide open and receiving injuries that will probably prove fatal.

—In Washington county John Brent killed his wife and shot at without effect, his daughter. There was no officer near, and no one else would attempt his arrest.

—A Carle's lady who was among the communicants to Niagara Falls recently, went three feet farther under the Falls than any other lady who ever visited that place.

—Pudencio boys, following the example of the William boy, organize buttoning machines, as a result of one of the youngest went to a physician the other day with cracked skull.

—Some of the Democrats in the tenth District are opposed to the nomination of a candidate for Congress from Mason, because that county does so little Democratic voting.

—Fanny Mite of the Lexington Press: "Every dog has his day," but as there are more dogs than there are days those whose owners have faith in their day will be made hash of at the postern field today.

—Anderson Puseell, a farmer in Washington county, aged about sixty years, was killed by a horse with which he was at work. His horse became unmanageable, and he was dragged beneath the harrow.

—The license required by the Mayville Council for selling lottery tickets is $1,000. At the last meeting of the Council a petition was presented by some agents asking for a reduction, but it was refused.

—A Clark county man, digging post holes unearthed an old powder keg containing $207 in gold and silver. Some of it dated as far back as 1774. It is thought that it was found by some Tennessee refugees during the war.

—In Lyon county a servant in the house of N. M. Gadsberry attempted to murder the entire family by mixing finely powdered glass with their food. A timely discovery of her intention was made, and the girl was sent home to her relatives.

—The Lexington Transcript remarks: "Hardly a paper published in Kentucky but can relate the same experience. A large number of people do not think it necessary to pay the printer. They are the same class who never pay their doctor bill."

—Glasgow Times: A subject of the King of Greece who has resided in Lexington for over a year, has started for his native country, to engage in the struggle against Turkey, free transportation having been offered him by his Government.

—Gallatin is the only county in the State, from which the census returns have been received, that shows a decrease in population since 1870. This decrease is accounted for by the fact that the county has been decreased in size during that time.

—Crittenden Press: Every boy in this town, from his who yells the diapier to him who creates his appendages behind or brushes his mustache, has a whip, and he deems it his imperative duty to stand upon the street and tackle every thing that comes within the reach of his mighty hand.

—The Frankfort Yeoman says that during the campaign at Crab Orchard, Johnny Hatcher, who was on duty at post No. 11. Upon the approach of a gentleman and several ladies, he cried "H-a-a-a-a-lt." The party stopped and the gentleman, who turned out to be Gov. Black, said: "I am the Governor, and I wish to enter the camp." "Don't care a damn who you are—can't get by here," said the unforgiving Johnny. The orders were that all persons should pass at post No. 11, and the Governor was forced to extend his walk.

—New Era: A friend from Lexington gave us a piece of news on Wednesday, which can not fail to shock every one who reads it. It shows that some people are human only in form and appearance. Last week a rattlesnake measuring twelve inches around the body and five feet in length, was killed at Hecla Coal Mines. Four miners, horrible to repeat, ate the reptile, and tried to make others believe that it was palatable. Was there ever the like heard of before? The creature who could perform such a feat of gastronomy must be without those nerves which in the normal anatomy connect the brain and the stomach.

—A spelling master near Tallahassee, Tenn., gave rise to a quarrel, in which Newman Stewart was shot and killed by Andrew Daniel. They were both young men of about twenty-one years. The murderer escaped.

—Doubt Paying. [Published by Request.]

We find in a late issue of the Christian Observer an article on "debt paying" that strikes us so forcibly that we feel inclined to give it a place in our columns. It is brief, pointed, and true.

There is one great evil in this country which we think the pulpit and the press ought to denounce more frequently than they do—that is, the habit of getting in debt and making no effort to pay. Can a man be a consistent Christian and not strive to pay all his debts? Can a man be a Christian and not be honest? Is a man who does not try to live within his means and pay his debts an honest man? If so, we do not understand the Bible. Should men who habitually disregard their financial obligations be allowed to remain in the church? We think not, and think that a man being a member of the church ought to be a letter of credit in any part of the globe where the Christian religion prevails. But it is not the case here, and there are even some ministers whose sermons do us good because they are preached by men who are not considered honest by even men of the world. Whisky is pronounced the great evil of this country, and it is a great curse, but we doubt whether it does more harm to the cause of the church than the lying and dishonesty of sober church members, whose promise to pay is not worth the paper it is written on. The church is not the place for fraud and dishonesty.

In his address to the graduating class at West Point, the other day, General Sherman said to them: "If you will give me your youth and aspirations you may take my rank and age. Let me urge you not to toll by the midnight lamp, but cultivate the heart and all affections. Mingle with the soldiers. The men are not common, and you have many things to learn before you can command. Honor your position as officers, your flag, loving your brother as you love self, and defend your country."

Or lets we have heard much talk about "unshas," but the undersigned is what we call a genuine "mash."

THE MORGAN ACADEMY is having a benefit this week. We would like to see the entertainment liberally patronized; for if there is any institution in the land that is in need of financial sympathy it is the aforementioned academy.

TUESDAY is the great day with the ladies at the Fair. All the good things that the ladies' party will be on exhibition, and the ladies will be of its usual high character, at least we are willing to risk our reputation as a prophet on that statement.

The rain fall last week was much needed and it made the corn crop in this part of the county, as well as to give the full pastures a boost. Some parts of the county, especially the southern, have been very dry; and the probability is the corn is slightly injured in these localities.

TAKING into consideration the number of people in town last Saturday, there was considerable disorder. Several persons resorted to go in on their muscle, and two or three collisions were the result, but no person was seriously injured.

Ho for the Fair.

The Burlington and Covington bus will carry passengers from Burlington to the Fair for 50 cents the round trip. It will leave Burlington about 7 a. m., each morning and returning will leave the Fair grounds after the close of the day's exhibition.

We heretofore knew through the plumes of the Recorder, to the people of Boone county, that John Beall, of Lebanon, an authorized agent in Boone county for Lawrenceburg Marble Works of Geo. Churchill & Co, and any order that he may be for tombstones or monuments will be water tight and ship soon again, but respectively, Geo. HURCHART & Co.

The Kemper County picnic was a particular success. It was in the afternoon before the picnic was held. The program was on was formed at the colored church, headed by a brass band marched to the drama Park, where the dancing part of the program was executed. The procession through limited as to numbers, made a very respectable appearance. This is the second picnic that the elements has disappointed for Kemper Council.

WE never know before that Rising Star is ever known before, but the following is a large ball of the Rising Star. The Rising Star, of Dayton, O., passed over on last Friday and descended near Union, Boone county, Ky. After getting a fresh supply of water for the ship soon again, but she descended in Boone county, Ky. The cause was allowed to escape and a voyage discontinued.

The bridge on the Burlington and Georgeburg pike, near A. O. Hill's is in a very bad state of repair. The bridge is a fine piece of work. T. German was riding on through, but escaped any serious injury while a double team driven by a became frightened at the hole in the bridge and it was as much as he could do prevent it plunging headlong down the slip bank. The proper authority will be a note of these lets.

A special term of the County Court was held on the 19th inst. R. W. Vest was elected administrator of James Vest, who was also made. The following was the list of the Sheriff of this county, Geo. W. Sleet, is now ordered to over to the various Surveyors of public lands of this county the road taxes collected by him for the year 1870. He is ordered to pay over to the Surveyors of civil districts as follows, being the following:

Clinton,	$100	John C. Cerklin,	$39 63
Franklin,	60 80	Taylorford,	74 70
Greeneburg,	92 14	Union,	61 79
Harbison,	43 39	Clinton,	43 39
Millington,	45 18	Bellows,	22 20

The Sheriff will make payment to the Surveyors and not to any of those who go out of office.

The Boone County Teachers' Institute held its three days session at this place at 4 o'clock last Friday afternoon. The attendance was not as large as it has been the last two or three years, and many of the teachers who were heretofore present did not come to put in their appearance. The exercises were watched with about the usual interest among the scholars.

The essays contributed by the ladies were of creditable productions, while the gentlemen's remarks, on the part of the gentlemen, were interesting.

The most interesting features of the Institute were the address made by Rev. Dr. Youmans. Fred has acquired a reputation here in that line, and was repeatedly called on to read.

Mr. Will Connor acted in the capacity of his criticisms were fair and instructive. In fact the critic's labor is about the same as that of the school teacher. The criticisms to the teachers were watched with interest, almost, an unbounded field in which labor.

Friday afternoon, Mr. Geo. A. Yates, a teacher in the Covington High School, delivered an address before the Institute. He was in favor of withholding from each teacher a salary not in proportion to the sufficient to give a ten months' salary, a share of the public funds. He thinks the school tax is sufficient, but the it is managed it is doing more harm than good. He urged the teachers to advocate local taxation for school purposes, upon the grounds that they can do a great deal of good in that way.

THE YEOMAN says that Kentucky has about twenty new Governors.

TWO men were tried for murder and acquitted in this State last week.

FRANKFORT's water-works are in a bad condition. Try Day's Kidney

Raid.

THE Courier is getting very much alarmed about the increase of crime in Grant county.

SIX blind persons visited Mammoth cave last week, and were delightened with what they saw.

OUR exchange generally give

Petersburg the credit of having the largest distillery in the State.

A VOTE taken at the soldiers' encampment at Gettysburg, Pa., on the 22d, showed 285 for Hancock to win at Gettysburg.

SEVEN Republican papers in Pennsylvania have declared for Hancock and English. Pennsylvania may make Rome howl, yet.

AS last fall has been discovered that potato bugs can be utilized. An infusion of potato bugs will color leather or a permanent bright scarlet.

WITHIN the last eighteen months

three newspapers have been born, and have died in Mr. Sterling's

State. They all died with the same

"complaint," want of patronage.

AS Nicholasville, last week, Arnold was acquitted of the murder of Little, while his (Arnold's) brother was fined $1,000 and twelve months confinement in the county jail for contempt of court.

AN increase in the per capita and an increase in the number of children within the school age are figured out by the Superintendent for this year. The first mentioned increase is not objectionable.

A FAMINE is raging in eighteen counties in Kansas. Two thousand families are reported in absolutely desperate circumstances. Such calamities are poor instruments for encouraging immigration.

NEOHEANS are constantly leaving

Lebanon and vicinity for Indiana, and the Standard is of the opinion that most of them are being sent over by the Republicans to vote at the October election.

THE Fair season in this State is now in full blast. The Boone and Fayette Fairs are in progress this year. The latter, concludes with Friday's exhibition, while the former continues over Saturday.

THE Warsaw Independent came to our table with three or four X's on the cover this week. We had been

X-ing on our part without a reciprocation till we had concluded to quit, but will renew. The Independent is a good paper.

THIS Williamson Courier came to hand, last week, enlarged to a 32 column sheet. We are apprehensive that Brother Gram is biting off too much "chaw" easily. The Courier is also much improved in contents.

THE Yeoman says: The Superintendent of Public Instruction has been busily engaged in fixing up his figures for next year. The progress will be considerably increased in spite of the fact that a deficiency will have to be paid up by last

So long as a city or State north of Mason and Dixon's line increases in population, it is all right; but when a Southern State shows an increase it is attributed to fraud by the great

Republican know-all in the North.

IN some of the States the Democratic party is split on local issues,

but when it comes to the Presidential electoral ticket they are united.

Both factions are in opposition to Mr. Garfield, and they will indicate it at the November election.

A CORRESPONDENT of the New York Tribune says that last fall he removed the dirt from about his peach trees and found in and pecked lightly about the body of the trees, air-slacked lime. The borers have not troubled the trees, and the crop is large and fine.

THE President's News, speaking of the Kentucky delegation in Congress, says: "On the whole, we think the best thing, the proper thing, and, above all, the wise thing will be to return the whole delegation except, perhaps, Oakes Turner. It is a delegation any State could point to with infinite pride.

THIS is the season of the year when attempts are being made to raise money by subscription to repair the dilapidated old school houses so numerous in this country. Every cent of money expended in that direction is positively thrown away.

We mean where the building is what would rank as a second-class in this country.

IT seems that juries in this State have a new desire to enforce the law in murder trials than in any other class of criminal prosecution. A man can be convicted for house-stealing on very weak evidence, while it is next to an impossibility to get evidence strong enough to sustain an indictment for murder. If a man wants to commit an offense and escape punishment, let him take the life of a fellow man.

OUR Hon. John G. Carlisle recently made a political speech at Vevay,

Ind., and this is what the Democrat of that place says of it:

Mr. Carlisle made a calm and dis-passionate address, full of logic and founded on undisputed facts and public records. He made no violent personal attacks upon his political opponents and appealed to no passion or prejudice of his hearers, relying solely upon the justice of his cause to carry conviction to the minds of his audience. His speech, judged by that most severe test, its effectiveness in moving the minds and hearts of his auditors, was a masterpiece of political oratory.

IN a recent issue the Grant County Courier published an article in regard to the shooting at Dowsing-ville on the first Monday in August, and in the article the editor had occasional reference to one Cates who figured in the disturbance. Last week

Cates served notice on the editor that it would be necessary for him to retract his statements. The notice was published in the Courier last week, and was followed by a free re-tor from Mr. Cates who gives the man Cates to understand that he can't be scared into a retraction.

GRANT county furnish another shooting scrape last week. Two strangers called on Dr. Wolfe and told him that one of his neighbors wanted him to come to see him. The doctor started and after having referred some distance one of the men drew a pistol and shot him, the latter taking the lead looking after himself. He fell from his horse and the men rode off and left him.

It is supposed they thought he was dead. Grant county needs the law rigidly enforced. That is the only way to ward off the ravages of the Ku-Klux and to give the law-abiding people so much trouble.

THE following is an extract from the Courier-Journal's Frankfort letter, and will be of interest to the public generally:

Prof. J. D. Pickett, Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a letter enabled to give the following figures for the next school term. The delay in making the report this year was occasioned by the great amount of work in the Auditor's department, and the necessary postponement of the Auditor's report. The Auditor's estimate furnished by the Auditor to the Superintendent. Though long deferred, the increased per capita must be very gratifying to every one interested in the welfare of the common school, and particularly to the teachers, whose services are required for such small remuneration.

It is safe to predict the results of the next school term will show a marked improvement over the late term, and reflect much credit on the Superintendent and the Board of Public Instruction, to whose efforts the increased efficiency is largely due.

White per capita for school-year ending June 30, 1881, $1.45; increase of twenty cents over last year.

Colored per capita for school-year ending June 30, 1881, fifty-eight cents; the highest that it has ever been for the colored common schools;

increase over last year of ten cents.

The Dramatic Club played four nights last week. The plays were improved Saturday night. Saturday night was Mr. Joe Reed's benefit, and about 500 persons witnessed the performance.

Miss Ella Miller, of Aurora, Indiana, presided at the organ during the four nights entertainment last week, and the fully sustained her reputation as an accomplished performer on that instrument.

Tuesday the burl pumpkin smiled on the delicate squash, the cross-eyed tuber winked at the parsnip, the modest onion flirted with the blushing tomato and the cabbage reposed its head on the lap of the celery.

The Emancipation Stock Association has our thanks for complimentary tickets to its sixth exhibition on the grounds at Keokuk, commencing September the 10th and continuing four days. The premiums offered are liberal.

The Burlington chess players defeated Mr. L. C. Yager, of Florence, two best out of three games. The Burlington team now claim to be the champion players in the county. The games played were strongly contested.

Ten Cynthia's News is hard on the new dances and says: "A new and vulgar dance has made its appearance in this section, called the 'Buck'. It should not be countenanced by decent people as it belongs to the Can-Can kickers."

It is the opinion of some who are watching the growing tobacco crop that owing to the partial failure of this year's growth the price will be as liberal as that of the past year. According to that, the producer will handle less pounds and more dollars.

We imagine it is very interesting to a fellow who is having a mad-stone applied to a dog bite to hear a down or more persons telling all about what they know and have heard of persons who were bitten by rabid dogs. But it is so common when the stone refuses to adhere.

A few days since Mr. Jno. Garrison, who resides near Big Bone Grange Hall lost a pocket book containing three $20 bills and two $10 bills. He thinks that he may have lost it between this place and home Sunday week. The person returning the book and money will be rewarded.

Ho for the Fair.
The Burlington and Covington 'bus will carry passengers from Burlington to the Fair for 50 cents the round trip. It will leave Burlington about 7 a. m., each morning and returning will leave the Fair grounds after the close of the day's exhibition.

We hereby make known through the columns of the Recorder, to the people of Boone county, that John Beall, of Hebron, is an authorized agent in Boone county for the Lawrenceburg Marble Works of Geo. Hurchart & Co., and any order that he may receive for tombstones or monuments will be executed according to agreement.

Respectfully, Geo. HURCHART & Co.

We saw Mr. W. R. Gordon, of Petersburg, drive in town Monday morning. Our suspicion was at once aroused and upon consulting the proper authority we were informed that he was in search of the Commonwealth's consent to his marriage with a Miss McWharty of the same place. Of course the Commonwealth did not object and we wish the happy pair a long and prosperous journey through life.

There were four Democratic editors elected Circuit Clerks on the 22nd inst. viz: Ashton, in Flemming; Haddock, in Boone; Hallam, in Kenton; Wandell, in Pendleton. We have been a standing candidate for matrimony for years. It only requires one vote to elect us, but alas! we haven't received it yet. But our motto is "I will depend on it!"—Craddock.

Don't.

There is a Hancock shot in Burlington that has a taste for "yellow leg" chickens and is garbling them whenever he can catch them, greatly to the displeasure of the poultry raisers. We say this is a Hancock shot because it was donated to the Hancock and English Barbecue at this place, and owing to the fact that it was too poor to make good broth, it was repudiated by the butchering committee, and set free in town.

The association held in the woods near Jones Delph's last week had three about as warm days as this part of the country experiences; but notwithstanding the heat the attendance each day was large, and the woods in which the stand was erected made the congregation about as comfortable as any place that could be found. The association is composed of five churches, four of which were represented, and the membership of each as reported is small, but the members are as earnest and active as those of denominations which claim more numerical strength.

Four sermons were preached each day by ministers, whom we understand, were from a distance. The introductory sermon was preached by Elder R. M. Thomas of Wakanda, Carroll county, Mo. The following names of ministers present were reported to us: John H. Biggs, Leonardburg, Delaware county, Ohio; Levi Bavis, Ludlow, Kentucky; R. M. Thomas, Wakanda, Missouri; J. M. Theobald, Stone- wall, Scott county, Kentucky; Levi Short, Carrollton, Kentucky; John Underhill, Burlington, Kentucky; W. T. Winston, Florence, Kentucky.

The meeting was commenced Wednesday morning and closed Friday evening. The oldest minister and the oldest member of that persuasion (Old Baptist) present was Mr. John Underhill. He has attended many associations meeting with the Gopwinder church and it is to be hoped that he will live to see the return of many more.

Miss Maggie Rabb, of Rising Sun is visiting the Misses Kirkpatrick.

Miss Jane Hugley, of Shelbyville, is the guest of the Misses Arnolds.

W. H. McClellan was in town last week. He sold Mr. R. C. Green an old cook stove.

Union.
The Mission Meeting at Mr. L. B. Stapp's was well attended. Miss Lattie Biedinger and other charming ladies deserve especial mention.

Mrs. J. D. Shouse is the guest of her father until after the Boone Fair.

Miss Thelma Leasing handsomely entertained quite a number of young folks on the 25th ult., in honor of her guest, Miss Mary Hagen, of Covington. All the ladies were belles, the gentlemen only boys.

Hon. L. C. Norman will remain in Union for two weeks longer attending to professional duties.

Rev. Night, of Williamstown has just closed an interesting meeting at Wesley Chapel.

Miss Lou, Curtis, of Middletown, Ohio, is the guest of Miss Fannie Higgins. Change is scarce. It is all going to the Fair, the board of which is responding, "Amen."

But little stock for exhibition near here. Mr. Anderson is conversant.

Flattsburg.
The late rains have greatly benefited the corn and tobacco, so that there will be fair crops of both.

Drying peaches, picking and marketing damsons, are the things which occupy the farmers down this way at present.

The basket meeting on Aubrey Fork was well attended and good order prevailed. In addition to the milk and cream, furnished by Rev. Mr. Shaw, an abundance of meat that perhaps had been prepared by the ladies and served in true Kentucky style. All that was lacking was the Rev. B. F. Bratton for whom everybody has a kind word, and whose voice roused the souls of many slumbering sinners in this section of country. A barrel of good water would have added considerably to the enjoyment of the drinking part of the congregation.

Mr. F. W. Gresham and family have been residing in the neighborhood for several days. Mrs. Gresham is always a welcome visitor. Miss Ella Platten and sister of Ohio, have also favored their friends and relatives with the pleasure of their company.

Since the meeting of the Teachers' Institute, there is considerable talk of organizing district quarterly or monthly institutes which would quite probably be benefited as an auxiliary to the regular yearly institute. Let those come. Anything that will create a boom on the educational question is worth trying.

Mr. Editor, it is quite warm and you must excuse this hasty and badly arranged article.

Particularly the practice of taking medicines into the system by way of the stomach for diseases of the Kidneys. It is an old treatment, well tried, and proven inefficient. The true method is absorption, as proven by the great success of Day's Kidney Pad.

Local News.

The past few seasons is here.
The season is about dry enough to cut.
Tom Belden is quite sick with typhoid fever.
The boys were "hard hit" by the autumn fair.
Several of the boys attended the Autumn fair last week.
Children who are getting in their work in Burlington.
The voice of the down hunter is again heard among the hills.
The first frost of the season made its appearance Monday night.
A boom in the way of improvements seems to have struck our town.
The boys are all at home from the Autumn Fair and report a fine time.

Mrs. Simpson, of Wavaland, Indiana, is visiting relatives in this county.
The sudden change in the weather gave the tobacco raisers some uneasiness.
Some of the farmers have commenced feeding new corn to their fattening hogs.

Some of the scientists accused Japhet of knocking the temperature down last week.
Mr. Finkelson Rouse traded his farm near Hebron for Mr. Hamilton's turnip stock.

W. F. McKim is enlarging his grocery building and putting a cellar under a portion of it.
One sunstroke in the county during the recent hot weather, an old lady near Taylor'sport.

One coat was trotted out last week, and the sunny side of the house was at a premium.
See the advertisement of the Phenological Journal in this issue. William Gaines is agent.

A party of young people enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hughes last Monday night.
Friday week is the last day for bringing suits for the approaching term of the Boone Circuit Court.

C. W. Saxton will attend the Bee Keepers' Association which meets in Cincinnati the 20th of this month.
HARMON POLLY, of the Beaver District, is the only constable that qualified within the time required by law.

B. L. Corbin has been out West a good portion of the summer, has returned, and is in town again.
Dr. Hays occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church at this place last Sunday morning and evening.

Two divorce suits and two slander suits appear on the docket for the October term of the Boone Circuit Court.
The corn crop is again proclaiming a severe winter in consequence of thick stubs on the growing ears.

Don't be uneasy about frost; the cucumber bugs are not ripe, and they were never known to be bitten by frost.
BOARDS & DAVIDS have rented the room lately occupied by F. Thomas as a tailor shop, and will put burial cases therein.

MR. R. A. BRADY, took his fine young gelding to the Park Fair last week, where he sold him to Robert Strider for $350.
Several of the Baptist brethren of this section attended the Association near Independence, Kenton county, last week.

UNCLE JOHN BEALL was in town the other day. If you will give him an order for a tobacco tin he will be glad to oblige you.
The tobacco worms have been uncommonly numerous this season. They made a heavy attack on the weed the first of this month.

Geo. G. HUGHES has developed into the hardest laboring man of the town. He has turned his attention to the improvement of his property.
RUBBELL & NORRIS took only sixteen premiums on their horses at Aurora last week. They are attending the Enterprise Fair this week.

The heirs, or at least several of them, of Henry Ayler were in town one day last week, and took the initial steps to have his property divided.
In three weeks the Recorder will be five years old, and the sixth volume we desire to begin with as few delinquents as possible.

One week from to-night the dramatic entertainment commences at the Morgan Academy. Several new pieces will be put on for the entertainment.
WALTER HUNTER received but one award from the hand of Green Field at the Fair. It was reported that he was in many places on his body.

MR. J. S. MASON, proprietor of the saw mill near Big Bone Church, has saved a number of frames for barns that were erected in his neighborhood this summer.
From the best information we can receive we believe the hog crop in this county is unusually small. Hogs have given away to sleep in this county.

A couple of Burlington beaux made a flying visit to Bellevue region the other evening. Their sojourn was remarkably brief. Send your cards next time, boys.
Last week Mr. Joe Reed visited the city and returned well supplied with "dramatic literature." We saw several developments, which are expected in about two weeks.

The entertainment for the benefit of the Morgan Academy failed to pay expenses by 60 cents. We hope that the next will exceed expenses by that many dollars.
WOOD SULLIVAN will teach the public school at this place, commencing, we are destined, next Monday. Mr. Sullivan has the reputation of being a successful instructor.

A couple of negro men from Walton were lodged in jail last Saturday night, one with a gab across his throat, made with a knife. They had fallen out about some family affair.

Several of the boys are making, or rather have made, arrangements to attend the moonlight picnic at Woodside tomorrow evening. It will probably be the last one of the season.
MR. R. A. BRADY has been offered $300 for his fine bay gelding. It is the "most stylish animal in this part of the county, and we doubt if there is another horse in the county that is its equal.

THANKS to the Louisville Trotting Association for a complimentary ticket to its fall meeting which commences October 6th and continues four days, being the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th days of the month.

The county directory has been revised and all the corrections necessary, so far as we are aware, made. If any of our friends know of a correction not made we will consider it as a favor if they will advise us.

How T. B. Rouse is soliciting subscriptions to aid in repairing that part of the "Frederick" bridge which the "Horse" limits. The place of road is in a dreadful condition and has needed attention for a long time.

GREEN FIELDS, the man who cut Walter Houston at the Fair, had his examining trial at Florence on last Thursday, and was held to appear before the Circuit Court at its October term. His bond was fixed at $200.

In the Big Bone neighborhood, where such an effort was made to raise an immense crop of tobacco this season, the pounds raised will not exceed that of last year. There is not an even patch of tobacco in the county so far as we can learn.

A typographical error in our last issue made us say that the sale of the 100 acres of land at the Abel Uis homestead, would take place on the 20th of this month, when it should have read "on the 26th of September." It appears corrected this week.

The dramatic club is now learning the following plays for the entertainment, "Michael Erie," "The Editor's Troubles" and "The Lunatic." There is only one about which we know anything and that is "The Editor's Troubles." We are satisfied that none of the actors can portray the characters anything like perfection.

At a special term of the County Court, held on the 11th inst., Fidelity Rouse was appointed guardian for George Ann Rouse, with N. E. Haves as surety. Same appointed guardian for Geo. A. Rouse.

On the 10th of March Wilhoit was appointed administrator of the estate of Henry Ayler. The heirs filed a petition for a division of said Ayler's land.

MR. W. Y. CROSLER came up from Canfield last Tuesday and moved his family to that place, much to the regret of a host of friends and acquaintances. They moved to this city just one year ago, and in that time have become very popular with the people who wish them well. They are a valuable acquisition to Carlisle society.—Mt. Sterling Sentinel.

We heretofore know through the columns of the Recorder, to the people of Boone county, that John Beall, of Hebron, is an authorized agent in Boone county for the Lawrenceburg Marble Works of Geo. Thurbart & Co., and any order that he may take for tombstones or monuments will be executed according to agreement.

Respectfully, Geo. HUBBARD & Co.
The bus which has been running between this place and Covington was taken off last Monday, to the sorrow of the town. But Mr. Owens had kept on the route at a loss for some time, and especially since the mail was taken off. All will unite with us in saying that he furnished the most comfortable conveyance, the best team and most gentlemanly drivers ever on the route.

B. B. ROBERTS, who was sent from this county to the Penitentiary in 1877 for horsestealing, was liberated on the 10th inst. Roberts was sent up for four years but he made terms with the good old Governor and was released at the expiration of the third year. Roberts will be remembered as the man who went through the burglar-proof jail at this place and was afterwards captured.

SUNDAY morning last Mr. J. W. Calvert arose thinking that it was Saturday. Everything seemed to him to go on on a Saturday's programme except the opening of the stores. The singing at church he reconciled to a Saturday's business meeting, and it was noon before he was corrected by a friend who asked what was the matter with the merchants that they did not open their stores.

One day last week Owen Rice, who has been living with Dr. Gill Rice for several years, drove off Jim Loudon's, and one of John W. Rice's mules to the city, and sold them and used the money to get married on. He was married last Friday evening in the city. Monday the owners of the mules followed Owen and captured him in Cincinnati. He is now writing he is lying in the Covington jail. The mule he had recovered. Owen is also charged with forgery. Everybody in the Bellevue neighborhood had the utmost confidence in Owen Rice's integrity and would have trusted him in any amount. Owen is no relation of the Rice in this county. The mules were worth about $200; the wagon about $50. He sold them for about $125.

IN 1878 Joe Scott, colored, was indicted in the Boone Criminal Court for an assault and battery on the person of a little negro boy. Joe ended the officers till one day last week when Deputy Sheriff Foster escorted him, and upon his failure to give bond for his appearance at the approaching term of Circuit Court, lodged him in castle Cowen. The jailer notified the Judge of the quarterly court of Joe's incarceration and the Quarterly Court was convened for the trial. Joe represented by Attorney Hughes and the Commonwealth by H. J. Foster and W. S. Tolin. A colored jury was summoned and the case commenced about 8 p. m. The court was in session about 8 1/2 hours before a verdict was reached, finding Scott guilty, and fixing his fine at $5.

Personal Mention.
Mrs. T. W. Finch is visiting her parents in Williamson.
J. M. Conner swung around the circle in Boone last week.
Geo. M. Casey, of Covington, has been doing our town for a day or two.

Uncle Johnny Scott was quite ill a day or two last week, but is now about again.
Mrs. Black and Mrs. Whitley, of Loveland, Ohio, were visiting the family of Mr. James West's last week.

Miss Kate Kraybill and Miss Susan Kraybill of Kenton county, visited friends in this neighborhood this week.
Miss Susan and Pannia Walton, of East Bend, have returned from Cateleburg, Jackson, where they spent two or three months very pleasantly.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

September 10.—A good number of our citizens attended the Florence Fair, and our young friend, Bessie Breeden, was lucky enough to bring home with her "blue string" on his little bay pony. Bessie says his pony was a Hancock pony and he was last showing the people how Hancock would come out with the blue string this fall.

The Ten Mile Association passed off very quietly last week. A good crowd attended each day, and those living close did not forget to bring their baskets well stocked. Among the visiting ministers were V. K. Kirtley from Lincoln county, this State, Chas. Hagley from Kenton and J. W. Walpole, of Owen county. The association adjourned to meet next year with Mt. Zion church in Grant county.

Sept. 8.—Charles W. Hays, Grand Worthy Chief Templar of Ky., favored us with a most excellent lecture on Sunday night last, at the close of which he regaled the Verona lodge with twenty three members. It is to be hoped that this little light will kindle a fire of side of some persons. It will be allowed to be blown out by the winds of temperance, but that those who have enlisted under the spotless banner, which has been unfurled to the breeze, will stand firmly by their post and show themselves to be true Templars and workers in the craft.

The new Baptist church will soon be completed. The well selected committee of J. Johnson and James Fry have spared no pains nor time from the work, but have pushed it forward and are likely to finish with a coat less than was expected by many.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10, 1880.
To the Editor of the Recorder:

The Recorder of yesterday came in this 9 p. m., and I read your columns a pleasant and profitable perusal. I have read with much interest your report of the fair, and I am of opinion that your remarks about the fair are good looking "gals" than any county in the State, and I expect there are a great many boys that think the same way to day. Let it be so. But I was going to say that I am glad the fair passed off without any body getting killed, as that seems to be the order of the day in some or many portions of the good old Commonwealth. Now, let me tell you that if you lived on this side of the Father of Waters and read the daily reports of the shooting scraps throughout your State, you would wonder at times if the people of that State had, as we become fully civilized. Let me tell you that it is time that the people and the press were speaking out in thunder against men—good men—and some even claiming to be Christians, carrying concealed deadly weapons. Such things are and commentaries upon the civil or criminal jurisprudence of Old Kentucky. There is scarcely a day goes by my head but what I read in the daily papers of this city an account of somebody being shot down in some christian village or community in your State, and the report generally reads that the parties thus concerned belong to the best families, &c., &c. Let me tell you and your readers that good families, or good people out this way don't carry deadly weapons and do not kill people for ever imaginary insult or offense. It is high time the good people of your State should put a stop to such things.

The Mississippi Valley Horticultural Society has been in session in our Exchange Hall for the past four days, and their exhibition is said to be the finest display of domestic fruits ever made in the United States. The writer of course has been there every day as we have given them the best part of our great hall and it makes my head water in think of the good things seen on their tables.

I am pleased to note that the Christian people have organized a Sunday school at Buellville, and I wish it success. And I cannot imagine why it should not succeed. It is quite probable that if the good people of your State would give more attention to Sunday school, there would, in course of time, be fewer murders or shooting scraps among the best families.

Bon. A. Long.

VIRGINIA LETTER.

Pt. Pleasant, W. Va. Sept. 1, 1880.
To the Editor of the Recorder:

Boone county is to W. Va. what Bourbon county is to Kentucky. It is noted for fine stock, grazing purposes and produces wheat and corn crops on an average with the crops of most other places. The water is abundant and fruits of all kinds grow to perfection, and most of all, the climate is productive of health which is the chief blessing of life. Point Pleasant, the county seat, is situated on the Ohio river at the mouth of the Great Kanawha. It has about one thousand population, contains the usual number of churches and has the principal manufacturing establishments found in a country town.

The Pt. Pleasant Democrats have caught the spirit of the Hancock boom and the result is that three poles are being set up with flags bearing the names of Hancock & English. The last one was erected yesterday. The poles are about 100 feet high and the flag was 10x30 feet. The ringing of the bell and the sound of the drum collected a very large audience at the Court-house, where Col. T. J. Olliphant, of Little Rock, and others addressed the people on the subject of Democracy.

The Mason County Fair commenced at this place yesterday, under favorable auspices. Some of the finest and fastest horses in the country are on exhibition. One from Kentucky. Come up Mr. Editor and bring your "Recorder".

The steamer Salt Valley sank at the wharf a few days ago and 500 barrels of salt was the total loss.
The Recorder was delayed two days last week. We indulge in the hope that this will not be the case again. It always comes from freight with news. The last number conveying the intelligence that "Ev and Joe" have found each other.

A Happy Man at Lockport, N. Y.
E. O. Williamson of this place, is rejoicing over the recovery of his wife, who has been an invalid for the past year. She has regained her strength, her complexion is vastly improved, and she has walked more in the past month and is stronger and better than she has been in years. She attributes these happy results entirely to Dr. Kidney's Kidney.

Fischer has made its appearance in Arkansas.

The citizens of Cynthia have contributed over four hundred dollars for purchasing uniforms for their military company of forty members.

It reports are true, both political parties in Indiana are about wiped out. The October election will shed some light on that question.

The Cincinnati merchants are much elated over their fall business, to date. It is an improvement of the trade of last fall to the corresponding time.

The imports of Coffee into the United States for the year ending June 30th was 446,850,727 lbs. against 377,848,473 lbs. for the previous year—again of 69,002,254 lbs.

THOMAS G. STUART, the young editor of the Clark County Democrat, has been appointed Deputy Supreme Dictator of the Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Honor.

Both parties will concentrate their forces in Ohio and Indiana, and there keep them all the campaign close for the October election. An immense amount of money will be used in those States for political purposes.

The jury that acquitted Arnold at Nicholasville has been the recipient of a large amount of gratuitous advertising. Would not be surprised if the members of that jury are not as bitter against local papers as Governor Blackburn is.

The Bowling Green Intelligencer has been discontinued, and the material of the office moved to Louisville to be consolidated with the Louisville Post. Governor Underwood and Emmet Logan will take positions on the Post.

The Democrats had they laugh on the Republicans had they not given vent to their joy so soon. The firing of cannon and sending dispatches of congratulation were rather premature. It will be all right in November, though.

We are under obligations to D. Howard Gayle, Secretary of the Owen County Union Agricultural and Mechanical Association, for a complimentary ticket to the next meeting of the Association which is at New Liberty, October, the 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th, 1880.

The Outlook says that there were never so many witnesses summoned before any grand jury in Bath county as at the present term, and that if each one is examined and happens to be in possession of information upon which it is possible to find an indictment, and the grand jury will have to remain in session several months.

This overwhelming Democrat victory reported in Main the morning after the election did not pan out. But nevertheless the Democrats had one day of genuine rejoicing while the Republican brethren were greatly chagrined. One cause of the Democratic hilarity was the acknowledgment of defeat on the part of the Republicans. The leading journals conceded all that their opponents claimed which threw them into ecstasies. The actual result is nothing less than a defeat to the Republicans who were claiming the State by 10,000, and that down to the hundreds.

There is little consolation in the Maine election.

THERE are now three candidates in the field for the office of State Commissioner in this county, to be elected by the Justices of the Peace on the first Monday in November, 1881. The aspirants are the following: L. C. Yager, present incumbent; Rev. A. M. Vardiman and Rev. C. C. Conner. These gentlemen are well known in the county, and either of them will make an acceptable Commissioner. Boone is a good county for a commissioner to work in.

In speaking of our exports of breadstuffs, Secretary Evans says that they have gone on increasing until they have excited the wonder of the nations, and he can not see how the Old World farmers can henceforth compete successfully, even in their own markets, with the farmers of the United States. In regard to our exports of manufactures he says they have passed from the experimental to the assured stage; that they have won a solid footing in almost every market; that all the Consular reports glow in this one respect, that American citizens, American tools and agricultural machinery, and all finer manufactures which enter into the advanced utilities of the day, especially in their happy combination of the useful and the beautiful, are recognized as superior to all others. The two great drawbacks to the probable extension of our foreign trade are the lack of direct American steam communication with several countries, and the want of American branch houses or depots in the principal trade cities—Tobacco Journal.

—Twenty-three Overboard negroes, in one gang, went to Evansville last week to remain until after the election.

—The Five Brothers tobacco factory, burnt in Louisville the other day, was the largest in the West. The loss is about $1,470,000, and 3000 men, women and children are thrown out of employment by the accident.

—The Lexington fair is destined to be the one of this section as its marvelous success this year goes to show. We do not say too much when we state that it could not be better officered and managed than it was this year.—Clark Democrat.

—Davis Citizen: Colonel A. M. Swope, Republican leader, for the State at large spoke at the Court house in this city last Monday afternoon. His speech was as able and plausible a presentation of his side of the questions now dividing the parties as we have ever heard. In fact, Colonel Swope is recognized as one of the leading Republican speakers of Kentucky.

—Lyon County News: Mr. Leonard Knott has in his possession a sword which was carried through the French Revolution by the immortal General Blucher. It was presented to his father, General Knott by a young roborant—a direct descendant of General Blucher—who brought it with him to America, landing at New Orleans in 1834.

—In Ballard county Miss Ada Ruffolph loved a young man to whom her father objected, but finally consented to marry because the parent might choose. While the arrangements were being made for her wedding she was planning with the old lover for an elopement, and one night she and Harry McKinney were married in Illinois, and returned to seek the parental pardon.

—Paducah Enterprise: And now comes the old settler and predicts a cold winter. He has been examining the corn sheaves, and upon that basis his opinion. He has not, as yet, had time to examine the squirrel quarters, but he promised to make an examination at an early date. If it should be found that the fat little fellow is preparing quarters for a large stock of food, then the question of a hard winter is settled on the side of a cold, old-time and plenty of ice.

—On last Saturday night as Jack Bickens was returning from Macedo on a church, when he was about a mile from Downingsville this country two men stepped out into the road in front of him and endeavored to catch his horse. Bickens whirled his horse and prevented them from catching him, when they immediately commenced firing with their pistols, and fired five shots at him; he emptied his pistol at them and galloped back in the direction from which he came. None of the shots took effect. Bickens thinks he wounded one of them from the way he yelled as if in pain.—Williamstown Courier.

—A special from Owens to yesterday's Enquirer says: A bloody affray took place at a picnic in this county, ten miles from here, yesterday, between three sons of the Squire E. W. Smith on the one side, and several Hammonds on the other. The parties were all intoxicated, and fell out over some trifling matter, when the shooting began. The Smiths were unhurt, but a young man named Benham was killed by them, and Sam Hammonds and Tuck Hammonds were mortally wounded and another of the Hammonds party was wounded. The Smiths and Hammonds were own cousins, and a fierce quarrel of the Hammonds. All three of the Smiths made their escape, and have not yet been captured.

We open this week one of the most complete stocks OF BOOTS AND SHOES that can be found in the county, and will guarantee our prices on the same AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

We are showing A FULL LINE OF GOODS adapted to the in-coming season.

Come and see us for your wants.

—Natchez boys amuse themselves riding along on the streets.

—Georgia is beginning to grow pecans.

—The salvation army is in Dallas, Texas, proposing to close every place of wickedness in the city before going elsewhere.

—J. Potsdamer, a Hebrew, of Columbia, Fla., is said to be one of the best superintendents of common schools in the State.

—The Dallas Herald puts down the Democratic vote of Texas at 170,000, the Republican at 50,000 and the Greenbackers at 40,000.

—Public opinion in Texas is much divided as to the question of the guilt of Burk, the alleged rapist, who was hanged at Waco recently.

—Many members of the demagogue who left Memphis early in the summer, fearing an epidemic, have returned to add to the sinfulness of the city.

3 DAYS' FREE TRIAL

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

—Rev. E. F. GAUS, Galena, Ill., writes: "Over ten years I have been a great sufferer from pain in the small of the back and region of the kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insupportable. During the night and I was finally obliged to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany, after close examinations declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I was, however, benefited by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, when the trouble again so intense as again to make life a burden. A few months ago I came in possession of your '3 Days' Free Trial' and, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pain at once grew less, and now, after wearing the second Pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured. I write this some weeks after its use, and am strong and look again the vigorous picture of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. Indeed, I consider the '3 Days' Kidney Pad, as the greatest and greatest benefactor of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been."

JOHN W. EAKEN, Murray, Ky.—"I have now worn the '3 Days' Kidney Pad about one month. It has done me more good than any medicine I ever used, and improving every day."

LAMORSE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—"50 cents in the business—'3 Days' Kidney Pad is having a large sale and gives better satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CATHER WEITZLE, Polkman, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney Complaint, and after wearing your '3 Days' Pad I feel better than I have in 15 years."

A. J. STORER, Decatur, Ill.—"Your Pad is doing great good here. It sells every day and gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by druggist, or sent by mail (post paid) on receipt of price—Regular Pad, $2.00; Special Pad, (extra size) $3.00; Children's Pad, $1.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address: DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, Ohio.

CAUTION: Owing to the many worthless imitations of our Pad, we have decided to sell our Pad at a low price. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

the ambitious young gentlemen who have made a sensation in some schools by exhibition, whose fond parents want that "oration" published. There are three detectors who, on professional scruples, will not advertise, but who take it as personal indignity when, having mended somebody's broken bones, the paper publishes a graphic account of the accident. There are two who will not praise or commend the skill of the paragon of the profession, but who, on a particular son of Esculapius who reduced to fracture, There is the clergyman, who may 'haye himself out' on a sermon, and, like the school-boy, wants it in the paper. But the worst kind of all is the feeble, double-breasted essay on trigonometry, 'just to fill up, you know.' The editor is adding insult to injury, and is generally the last straw which breaks the camel's back. The patient doctor, who, after this has taken everything else, writes this individual down stairs about newspaper-mongery. It does not follow that newspaper does not desire correspondence. They seek it, and, when it is worth it, they pay for it. But writing for the newspapers is business. Compositionists are paid for the schools, and nobody has JERUSALEM seems to be growing in size for a place of residence for foreigners who find their native countries uncomfortable. The foreign Jewish population has, according to Consul Moore, increased considerably of late years. The community is now estimated at 15,000, including native Jews, against 10,000 in 1873. The desire to avoid compulsory military service now enforced in most European countries, and in Turkey, is the main reason, and is rightly being taken into account for the increased immigration. The German colony at Jerusalem now numbers nearly 400 persons, that of Jaffa about 300. There is a third German settlement at Caiffa of about equal number with the last mentioned. The settlers are mechanics, artificers, carriers and agriculturists, and are fair, prosperous.

THE Mowbray Nitro-Glycerine Works at North Adams, Mass., have been blown up three times. Of the men employed there, eight have been killed by explosions, one is blind and the other is now in charge. The utmost care is maintained in the establishment, but danger is unavoidable.

PROVOCATION.

Justice.—“Do you know if the prisoner had any provocation before he committed the assault?” Witness.—“Well, I cannot be certain on that point but I dare say he might have had a glass or two.”

Mr. G. W. Childs recently gave his personal diary to the Philadelphia Record. They marched to the “banquet hall” in procession, carrying banners on which were many merry inscriptions. One was boyish enough: “Ain’t this Jolly?” and another doubtless expressed the sentiments of many a little ragged muffin: “We like this kind of Childs’ play.”

Local News.

The next issue completes the fifth volume of the Recorder, and as we have said on several occasions we are carrying on our list a large number of delinquent subscribers, some of whom owe for three and many for two years subscription. This is a departure from business principles which is injurious and bound to result fatally to any one who indulges in it to such a success.

We now propose to collect what we have out, and have prepared a bill of every subscriber's indebtedness which will be presented for settlement, and we hope they will be prepared to settle. We have surely been indulgent enough.

Do you "later."

The leaves look sick.

CHURCH COURT opens next Monday. Some of the boys said they felt like ice chests Monday.

A tin wedding is what might be called a rattling wedding.

PEACERS sold for $2 per bushel in this market last week.

The Lawrenceburg Fair commences on the 12th of October.

Paw-paws, possums, hickorynuts, oysters and cabs are ripe.

The fall pastures have been reduced by the continued dry weather.

The lawyers are very busy preparing their cases for trial next week.

No one can complain this fall the scarcity of the article known as dust.

This entertainment is now under way. Go see the plays, laugh and grow fat.

Some of the farmers think that if they can live till now comes the water can go.

The Superintendent of the Sunday-school was absent Sunday, something very unusual.

We made Florence a flying visit last Saturday, and found everybody here and in good spirits.

The change that the equinox generally brings in the weather did not come in on this day.

WANTED—A good mitch cow, gentle and fresh, apply to J.A. Davis, Hebron or Burlington.

The rain Sunday evening did much good in softening the ground that is being broken for wheat.

Don't swing on the front gate young man, at this season of the year; you imperil your health.

ALF POWELL denied the 7:30 a. m. charge Sunday, and by his action proved that it was a fabrication.

Some of the boys appeared in these columns last week. We will try and prevent a similar occurrence.

Mr. J. F. BLYTHE disposed of his fine pointer dog to a man in the city in consideration of a $75 shot gun.

The indications are that Mr. DeLoe intends to investigate the doings of some of the citizens of this county.

A FEW days since Mr. Dudley Rouse's Meats county customer sent in an order for her usual purchase of tea.

The Baptist church in Florence has been enjoying quite a revival the past week. There have been 108 additions.

The larger part of the tobacco crop is in the hands of the farmers. The tobacco was greatly improved in the last few weeks of the season.

R. C. GREER, James Westly and J. F. Blythe contributed to Ben Butler's audience in Cincinnati the other night.

T. L. SWETMAN gives a reason for not advertising this: He has so many goods and is selling them so cheap that he has no time to write an advertisement.

Mr. Joe Hounsa was in town last Friday receiving a lot of nice steers which he will feed this winter. Mr. Hughes is particular well fixed for wintering that class of stock.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Carpenter are tendered the thanks of this office for five or six kinds of the choicest cake that made up their elegant dinner spread at their wedding last Saturday.

One day last week while working on a house a scaffold gave way, precipitating Montgomery Anderson, of Constantine, to the ground, breaking his leg between the ankle and the knee. The wound has been very painful.

The Independent says: Aurora is everything in politics. You hear it on the corner, you hear it in the factories, in the alleys, everywhere. The air is full of it. We have a parrot every night and stump speaking all the time.

The School Commissioner requests us to announce that on next Saturday, those wishing a certificate to teach in the common schools of this county, will be accommodated with an examination if they will go to Florence. Saturday is the last day upon which an examination will be held.

We understand in the meeting held at the Locust Grove School house last Saturday, the proposition to change a portion of the East Bend and Burlington road met with strong opposition. Good roads were never known to be a disadvantage to anybody, while bad roads are quite the contrary.

We hereby make known through the columns of the Recorder, to the people of Boone county, that John Beall, of Hebron, is an authorized agent in Boone county for the Lawrenceburg Marble Works of Geo. Hurchart & Co., and any order that he may take for monuments will be executed according to agreement.

He respectfully, Geo. Hurchart & Co.

One day last week three tramps robbed the residence of Geo. Reeves in Stringtown. Mr. Reeves was in the field at work. The two white men stood guard while the negro man entered the house by back window, and stole all Reeves' clothing, a silver watch and a lot of silver spoons. The thieves crossed the river after which nothing more was heard of them.

The race for School Commissioner bid fair to develop into some proportion before the election, which is on the first Monday in November. We have, in the last two days, heard the name of Dr. J. G. Furlish, of Burlington, mentioned in that connection, and should he become a candidate, he will, in that as well as other things which he undertakes, make an earnest effort to succeed. Should he be the next commissioner, those who give him the position will never have cause to regret it.

Monday morning before the breakfast bells had been silenced two gentlemen and a lady arrived in town and stopped at the Sandford House. In a short time the county clerk's office was sought and the necessary authority obtained for the marriage of Mr. Walter E. Sanders and Miss S. J. Reed, of Big Bone. The services of Elder J. P. Foster were obtained and the above named parties were united in matrimony in the parlor at the Sandford House, in the presence of several town people.

Mr. FRANK R. DORRAN, of Lawrenceburg, writes us that there will be a grand Democratic rally in that town on the 6th of next month, on which occasion Gen. Slocum, Gen. NeQuale and Col. Cole, of New York and other distinguished speakers will certainly be present. The meeting is to commence at 2 o'clock p.m. All Kentuckians who attend the meeting will be heartily welcomed. As this meeting occurs only a few days before the October election, it will in all probability be large and enthusiastic.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction claims that he is making improvements in the school system of this State. Now, if this be so, we hold that system in the several counties must also improve, on the grounds that they should keep pace with the advancement made in the State system. The State system is the vine and the county systems are the branches; if the former changes for the better, the latter in the State are responsible for the degree of advancement made in their respective jurisdictions which must be to a higher standard.

Last Saturday night, between 9 and 10 o'clock, two men went to the house of A. McGinnis, who lives two miles west of Somersetville, and without any cause whatever, shot twenty bullet holes through the doors and windows. Seven bullets were picked up next morning from the floor. The family were all in the house, in bed, at the time, and, strange to say, no one was hurt. One of the men was identified by Mrs. McGinnis, but she refuses to tell who it was; she says that if she were to tell, she believes she would be killed or the house burned. Mr. McGinnis is an old man, a quiet and peaceable citizen and lives on the farm where he lived for thirty years.—Williamstown Courier.

AFTER the main election the Frankfort Yeoman gave vent to the following poetical effusions:

Tell us, now, has any body
Heard from sweet Passanquoddy?

Did anybody ever look
For such good news from Aroostook?

Sing us again,
The sweet refrain:

"There's but to pay in the towns of Maine,"
Jim Blaine, he was a stubborn nut,
But cracked he had to be.

And to we broke his occiput,
Upon the O'pice.

"Ah me," said Blaine,
"I fear that Maine
We can't retain."

"Correct," said Bib,
"A d—n bad job You've just played hob."

As to Davis of Maine:
"O bury Bartholomew out in the woods,
In a neat little hole in the ground,
Where the public-bee buzz and the grasshoppers sing,
And the straddle-bugs tumble around."—Courier-Journal.

Met rail is now being put in the mill for the purpose of grinding out a suitable candidate to represent Boone in the next regular term of the Legislature.

KANSAS LETTER.

CLAY CENTER, Sept. 18, 1890.

Seeing I have neglected the Recorder for so long, I now scratch a few minutes from duties clamoring for performance to talk a while to an old friend. Since last I wrote to the Recorder a great many changes and improvements have been going on in this thriving little city. Another large brick block has been erected in the center of the town. This is the largest building yet built here, accommodating three mercantile firms and a bank in the first story, and having the front part of the second floor divided into commodious offices. The whole of the South half of the second floor being occupied by the Dispatch, the best weekly paper in Kansas. This is I believe the most commodious printing establishment in west of Leavenworth, being 60 feet long by 23 feet wide, divided into two apartments—a large and commodious editorial room fronting on Fifth street, and the other room containing the press, cases and other things indispensable, pertaining and necessary to the publication of a first class weekly, including a young lady compositor who seems to form, by no means, the least attraction that draws young and old to call on the Dispatch. Besides its two automatic jobs, presses capable of being operated by hand or steam. The printer, informed me he will put in a portable engine this fall. You see Mr. Editor, we are proud of our newspaper.

The political pot has boiled prodigiously in Kansas this fall. Clay Center has a Hancock club with about forty members, and a Garfield club with still greater number, each has a torch light military company, who drill regularly. A branch Garfield club has been organized in almost every school district in the county, and more-long-pentup eloquence has been wasted in Clay county this summer than any campaign heretofore has produced. Clay has developed into acouty of orators which presumes to be the legitimate result of the war.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, with whom the Recorder people are all acquainted are both absent from Clay Center this fall. He as commercial traveler for a business house in St. Joseph, Mo., and she with her three interesting boys, on a visit to Jefferson county, Ky.

1880 has been (as predicted) a year of disaster by sea and land, of convulsion of earth and water, of signs in the heavens above, and in the earth beneath. Not only do I speak of the dreadful ocean disasters, wrecks and collisions of the railroad, epidemics, colliery explosions, &c., which have made the newspapers one long ever repeating story of woe and death, but our own county has suffered severely. First with dry weather, then with a terrible wind storm on July 24th, which destroyed about 100 houses, killed and left many others almost unable to crawl back to life. Houses in some cases were carried half a mile and then left shambles masses of kindling. One man says that ever article of his furniture was broken, chairs, tables, beds, dishes—not a piece left whole. Several have left to recover strength and health. God forbid another such visitation.

Miss Linda Pratt Owens, of Shelbyville, Ky., is the guest of Miss Mary Harvey Griggs.

Miss Lena Craig, Miss Nannie Bright and Miss Ella Dunn, have returned to Danville, Ky., home after a week's visit, as the guests of Miss Bessie and Miss Jane Dickey. Sayre Institute, their Alma Mater may well be proud of five such handsome and cultivated young women.

It has come at last!

We mean our immense fall stock of sailings. Don't fail to come early to, secure first choice. BLAINE & NIE, 510 Madison Street, 47-50a

APPROVED FOR RELEASE

"You mean," said Mrs. Spoonendy, "that my name is the latest catchword?"

"Yes, dear," answered Mrs. Spoonendy.

"It's ready. Got everything?"

"I think so. Mynn book, umbrella, and—here's the prayer book? I haven't got the prayer book."

"Where did you leave it?" asked Mrs. Spoonendy, turning over the volumes on the table hurriedly.

"I know where I left it, I'd swear right in that spot and get it," rejoined Mr. Spoonendy.

"I left it with you. Whither did you put it? Oh! you remember what you do with things?"

"I haven't seen it since last Sunday," rejoined Mrs. Spoonendy, faintly.

"I know," she continued; "perhaps it is at church."

"Perhaps it is," mimicked Mr. Spoonendy.

"Perhaps it got up early, took a bath, and went to bed."

"You don't know about religion wouldn't you do a gun." All you want is a bell and a force bonce to be a theological seminary. Think you can find that prayer between now and the equinoctial!" howled Mr. Spookendyke. "Got any ideas whether you sold the measly thing fer china vases or stirred it into the wheel cases? Have I been showing diffence since the last time I was here? There's that prayer book! Going to get that prayer book before the Berateations come to pass!" and Mr. Spookendyke planged around the room, tumbing books about and breathing heavily.

"I don't see the use of making such a fuss over a thing you don't really need," sobbed Mrs. Spookendyke through her indignant tears.

"Oh, you don't," roared Mr. Spookendyke. "You don't see any use in putting things where they belong, either, do you? How dy' you s'pose I'm going to keep up with religion without a prayer book? How dy' you s'pose I'm going to know when it's my turn to show what Christianity has done for me unless you can find that god blasted book between now and the resurrection?" and Mr. Spookendyke span around on his heel like a top and knocked over a Pharisaic jar.

"Wait a minute, my dear," said Mrs. Spookendyke, looking at him earnestly. Then she went behind him and fished out the prayer book.

"Got it, didn't you?" he growled.

"Had it all the time, I s'pose. Where was it, anyway?"

"In your coat-bell pocket, dear," and Mrs. Spookendyke jabbed the powder puff in her eyes and stashed down stairs, leaving her legs to follow.

A WRITER who says Victor Hugo on his last five days says that, although he was looking well, age is beginning to tell on his vigorous frame. His thick white hair is beginning to thin out on the crown, and the broad shoulders to stoop. Yet his eye is as bright, his step as firm and elastic, and his voice as strong and musical as ever.

REMARKS suggests an anecdote: there were two soldiers in Gen. Grant's my lying below blankets, looking up the stars in a Virginia sky. Says Jack, "What made you go into the war, Tom?" "Well," replied Tom, "I had no wife, and I loved war. What made you go into the war, Jack?" "Well," he replied, "I had a wife, and I loved peace so I went."

PAY AS YOU GO.

That Mr. N. J. Shepherd says in following article is just as good advice for the printer or any other business man as for the farmer:

debt. Many and many of them always in debt for their machinery year to year, and to their blacksmith and their merchant from one year's end to another. Men of this class always have to sell their wheat as fast as they can thresh it and haul it to market, their corn as soon as it is ripe enough to gather, and their stock as soon as the animals are saleable. They have no choice. They cannot wait for a better market, because, if they do, the merchant waiting to buy will know there will be no more of resting credit another year.

ture up old accounts. As a rule, farmers are obliged to sell at low rates and pay the highest price for their use, and therefore lose on sales. Most farmers will find it easier, and a great deal more profitable, to pay as they go. There is no objection but that they can get goods cheaper for cash. Any merchant will prove he can afford to sell goods for money if he gets cash every time instead of waiting six months. Presumably the same is the case with all whom the farmer deals, and it will be to everyone to live close for one year.

NATIONAL DEMOCRACY.

FOR PRESIDENT.
WINFIELD S. HANCOCK, OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.
WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, OF INDIANA.

ELECTORS FOR THE STATE AT LARGE.
THOMAS L. JOHNS, of Newport.
A. E. RICHARDS, of Louisville.

First District—James D. White.
Second District—A. T. Craycroft.
Third District—P. T. Edwards.
Fourth District—James Montgomery.
Fifth District—Edward J. McDermott.
Sixth District—James W. Bryan.
Seventh District—John C. Sandley.
Eighth District—John C. Sandley.
Ninth District—Joseph Gardner.
Tenth District—Francis L. Cleveland.

No deaths have occurred in the State Penitentiary since the 1st of June. There are now no convicts in bed at the hospital.

Little Louisville Congressional candidate, Judge Hoke and Mr. Willis, settled their claims by making nickels, Willis winning. Hoke made this proposition.

GEN. FAYETTE HEWITT has been in Indianapolis examining the Indiana made of law assessments, and is much pleased with the same. He has visited several other States for the same purpose, and has concluded to adopt the Indiana plan with amendments to suit our state.

The Paris (Mo.) Mercury says: "Mr. A. N. Meals, of Moberly, had on exhibition at the Mexico fair last week, a cow measuring 17 hands high and weighing 2,520 pounds. She was raised in Bath county, this State, and is said to be a wonderful curiosity. She will probably be at our fair this week."

Before another issue of this paper reaches our readers, the political struggle in Indiana and Ohio will be closed so far as the October election is concerned. But let the result be as it may Tuesday week, the contest for success at the Presidential election will lose none of its interest. Should both these States go Democratic next Tuesday the Presidential contest is settled beyond any kind of doubt.

The Indianapolis Herald says: "According to Democratic statistics, there will be Democratic pluralities, and the Democrats concede 24,700 of Republican pluralities giving the Democrats a general excess of 14,900, by which vote the highest Democratic authority in this State expects to carry Indiana into the gubernatorial chair. And according to Republican showing, made in the very same canvass by the head Panjama himself, there are 30,575 Republican pluralities, and they concede 22,800 Democratic pluralities, giving the Republicans a general excess of 8,075, by which the Republicans expect to place Mr. Potter in the State house."

The Tobacco Journal has this to say about the present crop, and the buying of the same: "It is pretty clearly demonstrated that the crop of tobacco now being bought is not only a large one, but an exceedingly good one. The early set tobacco will make a splendid cutting leaf, while the late planted promises to be, on account of its rapid growth and maturity, a very desirable gammy leaf, suitable for fillers. With these facts to confront us we see no cause on the part of manufacturers for stocking up or buying beyond their requirements at this time, and advise them to work along with the market, and country buyers who pay big prices for round leaf will certainly get left, and we trust the excesses of last year will not be repeated, for it must certainly be a very unsatisfactory way of doing business, to buy tobacco and then have it rot in the warehouse, giving your time and talents for nothing, and we sincerely hope that buyers and shippers will move more cautiously this year. Go slow; don't take round crops, but buy at such figures as will give you a margin of profit."

SOUTHERN NEWS.

The per capita crop of the largest thing in Douglas county, Ga.

The colored people have started a newspaper at Columbus, Miss.

New Orleans expects to ship 30,000,000 bushels of grain this year.

Nearly 100 agricultural engines are in use in Anderson county, S. C.

The Alabama State Fair will begin at Montgomery on the 8th of November.

A monument is to be erected at Chester, S. C., in memory of the Confederate dead.

The gold interest of Montgomery and Floyd counties, Ala., is attracting no little attention.

The Mississippi State Agricultural and Mechanical College begins the fall session with over 200 students.

Southern painters hope to find the English sprays as efficient remedy for the ravages of cotton worms.

Miss Laura Luna was married last week in Lincoln county, Tenn., at the age of twelve years and four months.

It is reported that the recent storm destroyed at least one-half the orange crop of East and South Florida.

The Town Council of Abbeville, S. C., composed entirely of Democrats, has been nominated for a third term.

Opic Reed's speeches of "Uncle Jerry," published in the Little Rock Gazette are to be republished in book form.

The Rev. H. M. Turner, D. D., LL. D., who is preaching in the Methodist church in Mississippi, is a colored man.

The St. Louis cotton exchange offers a premium of $5,000 for the largest shipper of cotton from Texas to that market this season.

The tobacco-growers of Virginia claim the adoption of the Burnett process of curing tobacco will save $500,000 annually to that State.

Barn well has a larger percentage of colored Democrats than any other county in South Carolina, and has only one white Republican.

Charles (S. C.) News: Louis Jacobs, the Radical Sheriff of Williamsburg county, has been announced as a candidate for Sheriff at the next Democratic primary, when he will be supported by many Democrats.

Little Rock Gazette: Some of the temperance leaders of this city have had W. L. Park name printed on small strips to be pasted on the Democratic ticket over Gen. Churchill's name, and are sending them out over the State by thousands. Democrats must look to their tickets. They will find it a necessary precaution.

The Georgia Republican State convention will meet in Atlanta, Ga., Tuesday being two Democratic candidates for Governor in that State, the proceedings of this convention will be watched with interest, as it will be careful to act with view to gaining the greatest possible advantage from the apparent division in the Democratic ranks.

A negro camp meeting in Mecklenburg county, N. C., a colored preacher made the assertion that he heaven the negroes and whites would cut out of the same spots and steps in the same manner. He said his horses were with him, he said, even caught with sleep on his back, as he was bound to get the office any way, through lead if he could get votes enough.

A worthless, drunken fellow named Chas. M. Williams, of Franklin county, Va., drove his mother and sisters from their home on last Monday, and deliberately set fire to the house, which was burned to the ground. A negro man on the place saw the smoke and went to put out the fire, but Williams, armed with a knife prevented him from doing so, threatening his life if he returned.

The Hot Crop for 1890-91. Concerning the hog crop for 1890-91 the Campaign, Ill., correspondent of the Country Journal writes: "From present appearances the hog crop will be a large one, and the hogs will, if the corn matures, as now appears likely, be of extra weight. So far as heard from there is scarcely any hog cholera, though the late intense heat and humidity may develop some of it as general as in 1878. Last year I thought it would be comparatively light, and the prices proportionately high, and I was not out of the way, because I knew much of the facts in the fall of 1878 to avoid the risk of loss from disease, and that what remained could not be bred fast enough to make hogs abundant in so short a time. The corn crop of 1878 was not only an enormous one, but the quality was excellent, and, better than all, has kept sound and sweet from the start to this time, and swine have had little or no rotten or moldy corn, some shelter, and better water than afforded by a slough, and the total result is a large, if not a very large, crop of healthy hogs, which are in excellent condition for this time of year, and will be at their best a month or six weeks earlier than in the average season. What prices will be shall not undertake to say, or do more than to say that everybody will be well supplied with pork. The advancing property of the cotton states, and the country generally, will call for a considerably increased supply of pork products, and as the present stock on hand is not large, prices will be high, far from what they were last year."

Our Exports of Grain.

The exports of grain, and grain in bag and meal from the United States for 12 months ending August 31, reached the enormous figure of 3,000,000 bushels, of which 1,800,000,000 bushels were in wheat and wheat in flour. The largest previous total was for the year ending August 31, 1878, when the aggregate was 2,500,000,000 bushels. It will be seen by a comparative table given in our country, that the exports of grain have been in a steady and rapid pace with wheat, the grain being due to the growth of our shipments to Continental Europe, which is just now beginning to appreciate the excellence and cheapness of American corn as an article of human food, as well as for feeding purposes. It may be well to remark that those who are seeking a solution of the cause of our present business prosperity will find it in the management of political parties have made but a poor showing in relieving the country from bankruptcy and placing it on a prosperous basis. In other words the credit belongs to the present, steady, and rapid growth of our industry, which has increased the volume of our exportable products; and by the superior intelligence with which they have directed their labor, lessened the cost of production to a point that have defied competition from other countries that have up to within a few years enjoyed almost a monopoly of the breadstuffs trade of the world.

We are indebted to our country for a large portion of our supplies of grain and provisions. Neither must we forget the kindness of a beneficent Providence, who, during a series of disastrous crop years in Europe, has blessed this country with bountiful harvests. Farmers Review.

Kentucky's Drawback. Judge Becker, of the Clark County Democrat, has been on a trip East, and having been impressed with the spirit of enterprise in the sections visited, makes the following truthful observations concerning our own State:

"We are burdened with the spirit of old fogies. We oppose what ever is new because we was not known to our fathers. We are slow to build pikes because they cost money. Our water powers are not developed, and our forests are undeveloped, and our riches without value because our rich men do not employ their capital in that direction."

We must make labor more honorable in Kentucky. The 223rd S. C. and so on. We must have the idea that it is the mission of the negro to be only the hewer of the wood and the drawer of water, and that it does not become a member of the Caucasian race by soiling his hands with the ignoble stains of toil. We get this nonsense from the free-lance, gold hunter, and chaw-hammer crowd, who talk about "Isham, Isham," and whom Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson have fought in their struggle for free institutions.

The pistol does us infinite damage in Kentucky. Another great drawback to Kentucky is the condition of her common school system.

In short, herding with all our natural advantages, so long as there are States infinitely poorer in soil and climate and resources, but where their children have a chance to receive an education. Our school fund is totally inadequate.

Herding Cattle. More persons have gone into the cattle herding and ranching business in the West since January 1st, than in any similar period in the history of the trade. The vast success of the pioneer herders have set men wild on the subject, and they have been rushing into the grassy pastures of the unknown.

In some parts of Colorado and Wyoming the ranges are so overcrowded with stock that there is not only difficulty in procuring sufficient sustenance for the number of cattle kept, but they are dying from starvation. There are still many unoccupied ranges, where the business can be successfully prosecuted, but the exercise of more judgment and care is required than at any previous time. Experience has shown the necessity of the effects of the disposition to over do by improving the quality of their stock.

A great many thoughtless herders are now being introduced on the ranges, in preparation for the production of a quality of stock with which there is comparatively little danger of overstocking the country. Quantity is no longer an object in the new quality of stock desideratum.

LAWYERS' REST.

Here we are again.

Two boys can all come home now.

The town looks deserted this week.

Some of the beautiful fell Tuesday.

Monday week the court of claims meets.

Water was very scarce last week, and some had to haul.

The rain came at last, but not soon enough to save the fall pastures.

The grand jury held out considerable work for the next term of the Circuit Court.

Passenger rates on the Southern Railroad have been advanced to three cents per mile.

W. I. Rouss had 81 sheep killed and crimped out of a flock of 50 on the night of the 6th inst.

Quite a number of young folks from Bellevue attended church at this place Sunday night.

There were twenty-two Commissioner deeds made and acknowledged at the last term of Circuit Court.

Ben Ryle, of East Bend, sends us three potatoes of the russet variety, weighing 8 pounds. Who can beat them?

There was a slight snowfall last Sunday and according to the old saying we are to have seventeen snows this winter.

The Electric Pulp sold by Davis Brothers is just what you need for clearing riverways. Its effect is wonderful.

J. O. Huxy came marching into town the other day, evidently thinking he weighed a ton, and all because it is a boy.

About this season of the year a prolific hickory nut tree is more attractive to the average boy than the Sabbath-school.

In laughing matter one grow fit, Jim Westhay will weigh about 60 tons in a few weeks. Indiana went Republican you know.

Esquire Geo. W. Baker left for New Orleans last Tuesday to engage in the commission business for the next six months.

Our young townsman, Marco Riddell, was awarded a fine bride at the Falmouth Fair last week for the best acquaintance by boys.

Mr. Edgar Cropper is attending the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons at Louisville this week, representing Burlington lodge.

Sunday was a rough day on young muskies, and quite a number were discovered in a futile attempt to obscure the lips of some of the boys.

Grant county was represented in the Boone Circuit Court last week by the County Judge, County Attorney, H. H. Smith and Judge O'Hara.

Hon. F. U. Major, brother-in-law of A. D. Caperton, was very industrious of every occasion to do work outside of the Grant county bridge case.

Miss Mollie Caperton, daughter of A. D. Caperton, was married to D. B. Croighdon, at the residence of her father in Louisville on the 18th inst.

The jury in the Draydick-Grant county suit sat seven consecutive days, probably the longest time any jury was ever engaged on one case in this county.

We are glad to know that Healy Smith is recovering from his attack of typhoid fever. The light of his countenance will soon be seen on our streets again.

The Baptist Church at this place completes a protracted meeting to commence, probably, before their regular church meeting here in November.

The Fair at Lawrenceburg last week was very satisfactory, and encouraging to the society. The race track is said to be the finest half mile track in that State.

The fall of the Downsburg bridge in Grant county was not only a calamity to that county but was also a calamity to the recent term of the Boone Circuit Court.

We will say to our readers that we shall publish the game law as soon as the acts of the Legislature are received. The publisher is very dilatory about getting them out.

The grand jury indicted the Burlington and Bellevue Turnpike Company for erecting a toll gate across the Petersburg and Bellevue road where it intersects the above named pike.

Dr. J. G. FURNISH, Auctioneer.

The candidates for School Commissioners, are Mr. L. C. Yager, Rev. A. M. Yarnum, Rev. C. C. Conner and Dr. J. G. Furnish. The first three of whom are in formed, claim that they have fifteen of the twenty-two justices pledged to him. As yet there are seven justices to each of these three candidates that are not pledged to them, making twenty-one unpledged. Furnish says he thinks he will get all the unpledged votes which makes his election pretty certain.

A meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of the 6th Congressional district was held Monday, at room 8, Clinton House, Covington.

Cyrus Riddell, of Boone, presided. A quorum was present. Mr. Walter Cleary, of Kenton, was chosen Secretary.

Col. Nelson, of Campbell, offered the following resolution, which was adopted, and the committee adjourned sine die.

Resolved, By the Democratic Executive Committee for the 6th Congressional district of the State of Kentucky, that in obedience to and in accordance with the will of the people universally expressed, the Hon. John H. Carlisle be and he is hereby declared the candidate of the Democratic party, to represent this district in the next Congress of the United States.

CYRUS RIDDLE, Chairman.

WALTER CLEARY, Secretary.

On Sunday evening, about 8 o'clock, as Thomas Neal, in company with James Isaacs and others, were on the road from Knoxville, Ky., and near George H. Norton's, and alteration ensued between Thomas Neal and James Isaacs, in which the latter was shot, from the effects of which he died six hours afterward. The particulars, as well as we can learn, are as follows:

It seems there has been bad feelings between Neal and Isaacs for some time. Sunday evening, while Isaacs, who was in company with Neal's sisters, passed him in the road, and had some words whereupon Isaacs accompanied the ladies to a neighbor's house about one-half mile distant from where they met. Isaacs then left them and returned in the direction which he had come. In the meantime he had pulled off his coat and armed himself with a heavy club, and coming up to Neal and party struck Neal with the club. Neal retreated, saying that he did not want to have any difficulty with him, Isaacs pursued and struck him again, when Neal drew a pistol, fired two shots, the last taking effect in the left temple, with the above results.—Williamstown Courier.

Thomas Neal, mentioned in the above, is son of Price Neal, at one time a citizen of this county and who was raised near this place.

Circuit Court.

Circuit Court closed its fall term at this place last Saturday about 6 o'clock p. m., after a twelve days sitting. The suit of Joseph Draydick against the Grant County Court was commenced on the 5th day of the term and occupied the attention of a jury the remainder of the session, the verdict being returned Saturday after about two hours deliberation by the jury at 4:30 p. m., and was for $500 in favor of Draydick. The suit was brought for extra work done on the bridge across Eagle Creek in Grant county, and which fell in little over a year after its completion. The plaintiff claimed a much larger amount than that which he got a verdict. The case was ably argued by Joseph Collins for the plaintiff, and Bubble Smith for Grant county.

In the matter of divorce suits the Court desolved the "hands matrimonial" in three cases: Kate Tanner was divorced from Wm. R. Tanner, Hattie Coleman, colored was divorced from Tom Coleman, (colored) and Laura White (black), was divorced from Joseph White (black).

Many of the common law suits were continued after which they were compromised. The grand jury found two indictments against Owen Rice for grand larceny, but the Court could not try him last week. His bail is $500 in each case. There may be a special term called for his trial, and that of William Marshall, colored, indicted for robbing C. J. Houston store at Beaver, and Phill, colored, who killed another negro at Beaver.

The grand jury found two respectfully report that they have concluded their labors as such at this term, and now have no further business before them. We have examined about one hundred witnesses coming from all parts of the county; have heard and reported sixty-four indictments, and have investigated a number of charges against other parties. We have ignored the charges against Green Field and W. D. Matson, held to appear before the grand jury by examining Courts. They would further report that they have visited and examined the public offices, Court buildings, Jail grounds and apartments and find the Court-house, Jail and the County Clerk's office in a reasonably good condition, and the records in the said office in good condition, and as we think secure against fire or other casualty. We find the Circuit Court Clerk's office not in good condition in this, to wit: The roof of said building is much decayed, old and leaky, and the receptacles for books and papers by far too small and insufficient to properly keep and preserve the files and records in the office, and in consequence of which papers therein have been necessarily crowded into receptacles too small and of insufficient depth, thereby causing many of the hundreds to be injured and damaged. We would suggest to the County Court the necessity of immediate attention to these matters, and would respectfully request said Court that similar reports and recommendations were made by former grand juries, which have been ignored. The persistence in this course would most probably result in no indictment for the future.

And further this grand jury wishes to express to your Honor and the officers of your Court who have so efficiently co-operated with them in their investigations and labors, their thanks for many favors and courtesies shown, and to assure your Honor and them of their entire confidence in and respect for all as public officers, and as well their high regard for you as gentlemen and friends. F. DICKEY, Foreman.

An Earnest Wish.

Rev. E. F. L. Gause, Gilman, Ill., writes: "For over ten years I have been a great sufferer from pain in the small of the back and region of the kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insupportable. Doctoring brought no relief, except perhaps momentary relief, and I finally advised, being unable to fulfill the duties of my calling, to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany and Switzerland, eminent physicians, after close examination, declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the kidneys, of long standing and could do me no good. I was, however, benighted by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and taken up the very picture of when the old trouble grew again so intense as to make life a burden. A few months ago I came in possession of one of Dr. J. C. Rink's Kidney Pills, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pains at once grew less and are now, after wearing the second box, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this some weeks after its use and am strong and look again the very picture of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. Indeed I consider the use of Dr. J. C. Rink's Kidney Pills a great benefactor of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been, is my earnest wish."

Go and vote Tuesday for Presidential electors and Congressmen.

INDIANA is flooded with new paper money and 2 1/2 dollar gold pieces. It is the fruit of the October election.

This Marshal of Mt. Sterling, who went to Cincinnati to "spit" illegal voters was arrested for a "repeater" and sent to jail.

EVERY man, be he Republican or Democrat, has a right to vote and every man should exercise that privilege next Tuesday.

JOHN D. WHITE, Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth Kentucky district, says: "I can't afford to defend the public record of Garfield and Arthur."

The Republicans are trying very hard to gain one or more Congressmen in this State, but there efforts will be futile. The delegation will remain unbroken.

SOMEBODY will be elected President next Tuesday, and the majority received by the successful candidate will be large for an 8 to 7 commission to pervert it. Mark that.

The Republicans are not satisfied that Indians will remain loyal to them next Tuesday. Indiana is an uncertain State, and the Democrats still think it is worth fighting for.

This State elects its Congressmen next Tuesday. Hon. John G. Carlisle is the Democratic Candidate in this district. Give him a big vote in honor of his past services in Congress.

The Louisville Commercial calls upon "the Republican River Scouts" to stand fast till the close of next Tuesday. Wonder how many illegal votes they detected and reported last month.

The census enumerators in this county are not drawing their pay very rapidly. It takes all the money in the country to run the Presidential canvass. You will have to wait a while, gentlemen.

In the year 1820 there was no opposition to the re-election of President Monroe, who received every electoral vote, save one from New Hampshire.

In the year 1840 the Democratic party, in the person of Martin Van Buren, was compelled from power to give place to the Whig party under William Henry Harrison.

In the year 1860 the Democracy went overboard to be succeeded by the Republican, Abraham Lincoln.

We now arrive to see what will be done in 1880.

The Democratic votes should turn out in full force in this county next Tuesday; for the twenty representation in district and State conventions will be measured for some time by the vote cast on that day.

Boone's number of delegates in State and district conventions has been seriously curtailed within the past few years, by the small vote that the county has cast at general elections.

Many counties that have a much smaller voting population have larger representation in conventions, than Boone has, and only because the people take more interest in the elections and go and vote. Of late this county's representation in conventions has been about one-half of what it should have been.

Let us increase our representation for the future by a large vote next Tuesday.

This Bowling Green Gazette says a negro near there beat the Indiana Republicans out of enough money to buy him a comfortable house in that place. He went to Indiana to vote and was trusted with considerable money to return to Kentucky to hire negroes to go to Indiana to vote with the Republicans. He took the money and says he has as much of the election as he wants.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of Kentucky elected the following officers for the ensuing year. W. Luser Thomas, Grand Master, Danville; Wm. H. Meffer, Deputy Grand Master, Louisville; G. D. Buckner, Grand Senior Warden, Lexington; A. R. Roone, Grand Junior Warden, Mayville; J. H. H. Leathers, Grand Treasurer, Louisville; Hiram Bassett, Grand Secretary, Millersburg; Rev. H. R. Coleman, Grand Chaplain, Louisville; Jos. T. Davidson, Grand Tiler, Louisville.

The people of the world are living from hand to mouth in regard to breadstuffs, and the dangers of famine will never be removed until the granaries of the world are stored with a year's supply, as surplus stock to fall back on when needed.—Hilme Journal.

An important question is about to arise in the courts here. Shortly after Judge Edwards took his seat he ordered Mr. Godshaw, Trustee of the jury fund, to pay the jurymen in trial of persons for larceny and in battery suits. This had not formerly been done, and Mr. Godshaw recognized the fact that a large amount of money would be involved in the question, since the jurymen who had formerly served in such cases would all have claims that it would be necessary to pay. This question is important, and Mr. Godshaw spoke of this matter to the Auditor. That gentleman instructed the other not to pay the claims the next time they were presented, giving as a reason that the jurymen in such cases were composed of "bystanders" and were not of the regular panel, and that consequently they were not entitled to pay under the General Statutes of Kentucky. This is a nice distinction, and perhaps can not be sustained, but Mr. Godshaw will refuse to pay the next jury in a case of larceny and a rule of court will be issued against him requiring him to pay. This rule will be fought, and the merits of the case decided.—Cynthiana News.

The Louisville Commercial of the 23d says: Yesterday Judge Barr delivered an order in the case of the Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. John Bush. Bush is a colored man who was indicted in the State Court for the murder of Miss Van Meter, in Fayette county. He was tried and found guilty of murder. His case was reversed in the Court of Appeals and sent back.

The defendant filed his petition in the State Court, to have the case transferred to the U. S. Circuit Court, and a transcript of these proceedings was filed in the latter court. According to a writ of habeas corpus "was issued and the defendant was brought before the court yesterday, when Judge Barr delivered this order, which will serve as a precedent in these cases: Commonwealth of Kentucky vs. John Bush. This day came Wm. E. Wilkerson, jailer of Fayette county, Ky., and filed his response to the writ of habeas corpus submitted. Came also the defendant, John Bush, in custody of the Marshal. Thereupon he said defendant, by L. P. Tarlton, Jr., his attorney, announced himself ready for trial, and moved the court that he now proceed to the trial of this case, and the court being fully advised of said motion, it is ordered that said motion be, and the same is hereby overruled. The court being also advised as to the writ of habeas corpus herein, it is considered by the Court that said response is insufficient, and it appearing to the court from the transcript of the record heretofore filed, that the indictment herein was found by a grand jury summoned by, under and in accordance with section 1, chapter 62, General Statutes of Kentucky, which excludes all other than white citizens from being summoned or serving thereon. The court is of opinion that said indictment is a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States, and no person said indicted.

ment quashed. The Marshal of this court is ordered to return the said John Bush to Lexington as speedily as possible, and there release him. He will, however, certify setting him at liberty, notify the Commonwealth's Attorney, or, in his absence, the County Attorney, or, in the absence of both, the County Judge. This notice shall be in writing, stating the time and place of his release and he will report his action to this court.

Wm. Clayton is building a fine residence at this place.
Mr. Burlington has charge of the Mt. Pleasant school.

MR. LILLIAN SCOTT, of Illinois, who has been visiting relatives in this and the East Bend neighborhood for the last two weeks left for home last Thursday. Mrs. Myra Stephens, and Miss Minnie Kyle, of East Bend accompanied him.

A portion of the colored population was on a Sunday night, and many of the side-hill houses "wid dar mouths." They will continue to indulge in these Sunday night apes till some of them show up behind the bars in castle Cowen.

The straight plain dresses in which our grandmothers arrayed themselves will not be likely to find favor during the present season at least. Nothing uglier was ever devised, for young ladies particularly, than the long, plain skirts, shirred backs and plain caps.

It is clearly demonstrated that a community thus a great risk in allowing a deranged person to rove about over the country. Such persons should be arrested soon as possible. The deranged party will be better off and the property in the neighborhood safer.

I would say to the people of Burlington and vicinity that I have received my Fall and Winter stock of Milliner goods. And would be pleased to have my old customers and as many new ones, give me a call. At the old stand opposite the Boone House Burlington, Ky. MISS LILLIAN REED.

We hereby make known through the columns of the HERRON, to the people of Boone county, that John Beall, of Hebron, is an authorized agent in Boone county for the Lawrenceburg Marble Works of Geo. Hurchart & Co., and any order that he may take for tombstones or monuments will be executed according to agreement.
Respectfully, GEO. HURCHART & Co.

There is enough enthusiasm in the Bellevue Republicans to inspire them to raise a Garfield pole there last Saturday. The flag that was turned loose to the breeze was taken down at night when someone out the string, thereby leaving the pole with no means for the flag's being run up again. Further depredations were committed by burning the pole Sunday night. Such acts should not be approved of by any one.

If you want to keep something nice, you must go and see the Early Breakfast Cook Store, the Monitor Coal Oil Stoves and every description of stoves, coal, coal vases, fine stoves and more, also a full line of wood and coal heating stoves at W. H. McCLEGG & Co., no. 637 Madison at Covington, Ky.

R. S. Mr. McCleGG says he will let his Boone Co. friends rest till April on the Monitor Oil Stoves again. Then look out.
As many of our readers failed to get a paper from this office last week, it is necessary for us to state the cause thereof. When the edition was about three-fourths printed a portion of the press gave way. The break was of such a nature that we had to send the pieces to the city for repairs and owing to other attendant misfortunes, we were unable to finish our edition, thereby leaving a total loss of one-fourth or more of the number we print. This is the first delay of any consequence in the five years' existence of the paper. All our subscribers, except those at the Burlington office, were supplied.

One night last week Mr. Edwin Gaines, who lives near Bullittsburg church, lost his barn by fire. At what time the building burned is not known as none of the family or persons about the premises knew it was burned till in the morning when they awoke. The barn contained 100 bushels of wheat, a lot of rye, and all the farming implements, besides a horse that belonged to William Watts, and which was put in the stable the evening before. It is thought that one Frank Weaver, a deranged man who has been traveling around that neighborhood accidentally set the barn on fire, he having gone there to sleep, and some time in the night lit his pipe to take a smoke. Weaver was arrested last Thursday and brought to Burlington and lodged in jail, and Friday he was tried and adjudged to be a lunatic, and has been sent to the asylum, Gaines' loss, $1,000. Insured in the Farmers' Loan Co., for $400.

Miss Sadie Steadman, daughter of Nathan Steadman, of Italy, was joined in matrimony last night at the residence of the bride's parents, to the Rev. C. C. Conner, of Boone county, Ky. Dr. S. C. Parlon, of the Universalist Church, Springfield, Ohio, being the officiating clergyman. We congratulate the union upon his good fortune in capturing so elegant and accomplished a lady, and we think the bride has been no less fortunate, as the reverend gentleman is one of the most promising divines in the Universalist Church. The entertainment extended to but a few intimate friends of the bride and groom, but it was one of the most enjoyable occasions that has occurred in Aurora for many, many years.—Aurora Item, Oct. 26.

Mr. Conner has a host of friends on all sides of the river where he was born and raised that will unite in extending to him and his bride their best wishes for a long and happy life. Mr. O. was our associate in establishing this paper, and it is a pleasure to us to thus avail ourselves of the opportunity in expressing our high regard for him as a gentleman and citizen, and to tender him the congratulations on the part of the Recorder and its entire force.

THE BURLINGTON COURIER-RECORDER

VOLUME VI.

BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1880.

NUMBER 3.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

It has been decided that the census of St. Louis be taken.

ADULTERY, Wis., a small village, was almost totally destroyed by fire the past week.

ROBERT J. JOHNSON, for twenty-five years editor of the Michigan Farmer, is dead.

HARRY HENRY, the well-known comedian who recently traveled with Lydia Thompson, is dead.

ELIAS SHAPIRO, Chief of Police of Pittsburg, Illinois, was shot and killed last week by Elliott Baker.

A FIRE at DeLair's livery stable, at Clyde, Kas., killed the stable and burned up forty horses.

SARA BRANDELL, fashionable and slender, has arrived in this country. Bless her dear soul, handle her tenderly.

TAKES will be the International Congress of Electricians at Paris, September 15, 1881; but it's a good way ahead.

THE total registration in New York City in 1878 was 185,000. The total registration this year is 215,474, an increase of 30,474.

THE complete official vote of Indiana (Republican) 230,291; (Democratic) 222,740; (Greenback) 14,563. Plurality for Republican.

ELIJAH B. HALL, ex-Treasurer of Lucas County, Ohio, has been indicted for an embezzlement of $47,000 of the county and city funds.

THE town of Queneville, Ark., consisting of about forty houses, has been completely destroyed by fire. The fire originated in a Chinese shanty.

THERE is nothing like being accommodated, even in death. P. J. Vogel, head book-keeper for the firm of Sherman, Scott & Co., New York, went to the morgue to kill himself.

ROBERT LOVER, of West Albany, Wash. County, Minn., because of some domestic trouble, shot and instantly killed his wife and child, and then blew his own brains out.

AT San Fernando, Cal., while Mr. Bridge and wife were attending a political meeting, their house caught fire and their four children, the oldest aged eleven years, were burned to death.

THE P. B. P., a private detective and editor of a paper at Gainesville, Ark., was murdered while asleep the other night, but by whom is not known. Editors must learn to look out for themselves.

E. D. HARRISON, for many years connected with Cincinnati Overland, and for six years a worker in the field of journalism, died the past week at his home, Yononogen, in Warren County, Ohio.

THE English papers tell us that Miss Clara Louise Kellogg is engaged to be married to a French Marquis—name not given. Immediately after her marriage, Clara will retire to a country of course.

THE Ansonia Clock Works, of Brooklyn, N. Y., turned the past week. The estimated loss is $1,000,000, half of which is covered by insurance. Twelve hundred people are thrown out of employment by reason of the disaster.

ARTHUR PORTER, GENERAL TYLER has been named as the candidate of the sixteenth century for the office of Governor of New York, agent or representative of the Frankfort Stock Land.

ADVANCE from Berlin state that General Count von Moltke, Chief Marshal of the Empire, has refused the title of Prince, offered by the Emperor on the occasion of the sixtieth anniversary of the Count's birth, which has just occurred.

THERE is too much money for the amount of business in Canada. The leading bank of Montreal has notified its customers that interest will not be allowed on large sums after the 1st of November, owing to the difficulty in finding investments for it.

JOHN T. JONES, a former employee of the New York Daily Witness, traveling preacher, and tract distributor, sent himself three times the other day in an attempt to suicide, but it thought he will recover. Religious mania is strident as the cause.

THE National Public Health has submitted its annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury for transmission to Congress. The expenses of the Public Health for the year 1879-80 were $225,000, of which $125,000 was expended by the Board, and $100,000 by the Southern States.

AT Galveston, Texas, A. McLaughlin shot at James Merritt. The ball went through Merritt's neck, mortally wounding him, but it is thought he will recover. The advantage of using a cannon for a revolver. McLaughlin naturally enough made his escape.

MR. FARRIEL, at a banquet at Galway, Ireland, has stated his belief that if the Irish of America are called upon for aid by their countrymen in Ireland, they will respond to their "trained and organized assistance for breaking the British yoke."

A LONDON journal says that "news by way of London convey the intelligence that the American has been successful. Abraham Kahn is the son of Zai Kahn and grandson of Don Mohammed. Being the eldest son, according to the European ideas of succession, he was the legitimate heir to the Kalashim.

A SPECIAL from Porto Rico says: A scouting party arrested another lot of intruders into Indian Territory, five of them on the way to the Kansas line. Those did not attempt to resist, but were being taken to the State, file them, and wait the opening of the country to settlers.

NEWS from Cape Town state that the tribes are joining the Boers in their war against the Colonial Government, and that they are faithful to the government are hatched in the most horrible manner. Burning buildings at Pieter Maritzburg, the capital of Natal, pillaging, and outraging the women is being pursued with unremitting vigor.

THE wife of John C. Brown, the keeper of a cheap lodging house in Philadelphia, died last week in violent spasms. It now appears that they were married but six weeks, and during that time Connor succeeded in persuading her to transfer to him her property, valued at $5,000. The notorious feature about this matter is, in this is the eighth woman Brown has married, and the law is just beginning to get it out.

Mrs. Howe, who is still in jail under the charge of swindling the patrons of the Depot Bank in Boston, says she will let her out she will never do again. Of course she wouldn't. She further promises that not one of her depositors shall be paid until she has paid every note as fast as they become due. What an impulsive little thing she is. She means all right, and doubtless meant all right when she agreed to pay 50 per cent. But the fact is, her heart was too big, poor woman, and she couldn't bring it to be as whole-souled as she wanted to be. Successful business would not permit of it, and she, as the depositors, should have known it.

DEAD LEAVES.

BY WILLIAM G. BISHOP.

A week ago—how beautiful!—
To-day—how new they lie!
Story of the forest dead,
Like splendor from the sky,
I tremble on the falling leaves
That yesterday, like gems,
Flashed brightness on my wandering eyes,
From countless diamonds.

"They answer my heart's desire,
With enigmas in their tone;
"Tread lightly for the beauty's sake
These leaves in us have known;
We were but shadows when we grew
In crimson, and they yield
We still are shadows of the fall,
And just before it glides!"

I would the withered leaves were fair,
That might seem to tread
Their dying verdure in the dust
With which my hopes have faded;
For when, in crimson and in gold,
My ripened joy shall fade,
The brief, bright beauty of the fall
Is but to—see the same!

PRESENCE OF MIND.

I have always been celebrated for my presence of mind in emergencies.

Grandfather used to say that he never had a girl who was not afraid of a mouse and a spider, and how mother's daughter ever came to be so brave he couldn't guess. That was before I married, and, of course, I have not become timid with advancing years.

I am Mrs. Jasper Jackman; my husband is, of course, Mr. Jackman, and my place is known as Jackman's Nook. No, indeed! If there was a corner to the world, I should fancy it was put away in this room, and I should not of them habitually that ever existed. It is, indeed. You can't see it until you are within fifty feet of it, for the trees and the many rocks.

"So romantic!" people say. I call it miserably lonesome.

Now, you know I'm not the least bit nervous, but, having lived with father and mother, and how mother's daughter ever came to be so brave he couldn't guess. That was before I married, and, of course, I have not become timid with advancing years.

I am Mrs. Jasper Jackman; my husband is, of course, Mr. Jackman, and my place is known as Jackman's Nook. No, indeed! If there was a corner to the world, I should fancy it was put away in this room, and I should not of them habitually that ever existed. It is, indeed. You can't see it until you are within fifty feet of it, for the trees and the many rocks.

hope for a pleasant sunset; but it was always a false pretense, and at ten-time it poured as though there were going to be a second flood.

Biddy asked me, as it was so near the Hudson; whether it wasn't likely to be a-rain, and whether in that case "we wouldn't be drowned?" And I said "Yes." It was too bad, I know, but it was really some amusement on such a day to frighten the stupid girl.

I had my tea alone—and I do hate to have tea alone if any one in the world hates it—and then I put baby to sleep in her cradle in the sitting-room, and took my knitting, and was as comfortable as I could be under the circumstances, when I bethought me of the morning's paper. I called Biddy to bring it to me, and she came to me at once.

"It's well thought of, missus," she said, as she laid it in my lap. "It's yourself will be interested with the raid-in." There's accounts of the house-break-in."

"Of what?" I ejaculated; and, though I assure you I'm not the least nervous, my heart was in my mouth for a moment.

"Of the house-break-in," said she, and how the thieves in the world got into Mither Dinmore's house, that's situated the same as this, neighboring nobody, and took all they could lay their hands on, to say nothing of half murderin' the old gentleman. The saints be above us this night!"

There it was, sure enough, headed, "A bold and outrageous attack upon the residence of Mr. Dinmore." I read it through, and then I said to myself:

"Jerusha Jackman, remember your presence of mind. Don't let it fail you in cases of emergency. Should a house-breaker take advantage of your solitude, let him find you prepared." It was as though some invisible what's-his-name had addressed me from the chimney. I answered, "I will!" and you can't imagine how bold I grew at once. I rehearsed all that I should do in case Biddy came to me in the night, saying, "Missus, there's someone in the cellar!"

All I should do if I found anybody in the wardrobe when I retired, and I had the satisfaction of feeling that I was prepared. I might wake up to find the house gone—no!—I might be murdered in my bed; but it would be unawares, and they would inscribe upon my tombstone the words, "She showed her presence of mind to the last." I felt quite possessed and happy, though I was certainly not very certain of anything remarkable would happen before morning; that I should be, as it were, worn in the balance and not found wanting before the sun arose. I did not feel like retiring early, and sat by the fire till the clock struck 11. Then, just as the last stroke died away, Biddy came down from her bedroom in a red-fannel gown, with eyes and mouth wide open, and something of importance to report on her mind. I put baby down in her cradle and arose, drawing myself up to my full height, and feeling that I was the only one to be depended upon in this awful emergency.

"Biddy," said I, "how many are they? Is it one or more?"

"Mum?" said Biddy.

"The thieves, I mean," said I.

"Oh, it's a bad thing, mum," said Biddy. "It's only that shade of a wind that's took the roof clean off the chicken-house, and there's the wee wee chickens starvin' to death with cold."

"And in this dreadful rain, too," said I.

So it actually was, and I began to feel very brave.

"We must go out and put them in the wood-house," said I. And so saying, I tucked baby up in her blankets, and, wrapping a shawl over my head, went out into the night air. It had grown very cold, but it was clear, as Biddy had said, and we peddled round in the mud catching the poor little chickens. We had them all at last except one, and we heard its little voice, sure, sure!—somewhere, and of course, could not be so heartless as to forsake it. And at last there it was, tangled up in some dead vines, and as cold as a lump of ice. By the time we gave it to its mother, who was very glad to see it, the clock struck 12. Baby had been alone three-quarters of an hour.

"Muzzer's darling! sound asleep yit?" I said, as I went to the cradle. Merciful powers! I want I ever forget that moment? Baby was not there!

In a moment the truth flashed on my mind. House-breakers had entered the dwelling in our absence, and stolen my treasure. Perhaps they were in the house yet, or some of them. I felt the strength of my fingers, and, leaving Biddy howling in the dining-room, rushed up stairs.

Sure enough, there was a light in my bedroom, and I peeped in. The moment I did so I felt I was powerless. The robber who had stolen my baby was there, and the terribly muddy boots of the other were sticking from under the bed; and, oh, horrors! another had got into it, and had hidden, as he imagined, under the quilt.

On my presence of mind depended the recovery of my child and my own life. In a moment the plan flashed upon me. There was but one door to the room, and the windows were high and barred, for I had contemplated the room when baby should be large enough to climb up and lean out. Noiselessly and suddenly I drew that door to and locked it on the outside; then, with the key in my hand, and trembling like an aspen leaf, I stole down stairs and cried to Biddy, "I've locked them in; they shall give my baby back; come with me!" and away I went across the garden and down the road to the first house.

That was "Mulligan's Tavern," a very low place, indeed, shunned by all respectable folk; but I knew there were always men there who were afraid of nobody. The greatest brutes would not refuse aid to a woman at such a time.

As we came near I saw a light in one of the windows, and heard voices and loud laughter. "It was no time for ceremony, no I bid, the door open and ran in. There were four men playing cards, and old Mrs. Mulligan behind the bar.

"O please excuse me," I cried; "but do me a kindness. There are house-breakers in my house, and they're stolen my baby."

"Whistle the baby?" cried old Mrs. Mulligan.

"O, do come," I implored.

"Go, Pat," said the old woman; "never mind the game. It's Missus Jackman; more broken she's the next neighbor to us. Take yer pistols, an' away wid ye, boys." An' missus, just take a drop of scotch 'n' hot whisky to kape the life in ye."

Of course I refused the latter offer, but in a moment the men were on their feet, and I felt like blessing them—those half-human creatures who had become my protectors.

I don't know how we got to the house, or up-stairs. I remember an awful tumult, a smell of gunpowder, oaths and shouts. Then there was silence—then a loud laugh.

"It's three, boys," said old Mulligan's voice. "I know Mither Jackman, an' it's his mistake—kape it!"

A singular mistake to enter a man's house, and endeavor to shoot him in his own bed?—said his voice I knew to be my husband's; and at that I rushed into the room.

He was there, and so was baby, for he held her in his arms; and there, also, was Mulligan and his friends and their pistols, and half the furniture was broken and the stove upset. But as for the house-breakers, they—I repeat to you the truth, Mr. Mulligan was backing out.

"I'll have Mrs. Jackman to explain," he said. "An' I'm proud I didn't kill ye, though it's our friendship I'd have done it; for your own wife took ye for a house-breaker how would I know better? The top of the night till ye, an' I'll have the lady to explain."

Al! I did really wish that the ground would open and swallow me. You see, my husband had come home while we were hunting up the chickens, and, finding baby wide awake, had taken her up to bed, and gone to sleep. And to the robber under the bed was my muddy boots, with, of course, no feet in them; and with there were none, for they were ridden with bullet holes. Mr. Mulligan had fired at them, fortunately. When I thought of the awful danger Jasper and the baby had been in, I went into hysterics at once, and frightened Jasper so that he was glad to forgive me when I came to myself. It was a terrible mistake, and might have ended seriously, of course; but I will say, now and always, that it was Jasper's fault, and that if he had been a house-breaker we might all have been thankful for my great presence of mind.

DEPRAVED TASTE.

The subject of a depraved taste in animals is an interesting one, which has not been studied as much, perhaps, as it might. In human beings it would seem to depend on ill health of either body or mind, but in animals it would seem as if it might be present and the animal enjoy good health. One remarkable instance in an herbivorous animal we can vouch for. It occurred in a sheep that had been shipped on board one of the Peninsular and Oriental steamers to help to supply the kitchen on board, but while fattening it developed an insatiable taste for tobacco, which it would eat in any quantity that was given to it. It did not much care for cigars, and altogether objected to burned ends; but it would greedily devour the half-chewed quid of a sailor or a handful of roll-tobacco. While chewing, there was apparently no undue flow of saliva, the taste was so potent that most of the passengers on board amused themselves by feeding it, to see for themselves if it were really so. As a consequence, though in fair condition, the cook was afraid to kill the sheep, believing that the mutton would have a flavor of tobacco. Another very remarkable case has just been communicated to us by Mr. Francis Goodlake; this time a fish-eating animal in the shape of a skitten, about 5 months old, who shows a passionate fondness for salads. It eats no end of sliced cucumber dressed with vinegar, even when hot with cayenne pepper. After a little fencing it has eaten a piece of boiled beef with mustard. Its mother was at least once seen to eat a slice of cucumber which had salt, pepper, and vinegar on it. The kitten is apparently in good health, and its extraordinary taste is not easily accounted for. Even supposing it once got a feed of salmon mayonnaise, why should it of all salmon prefer the dressing to the fish?—Nature.

PLEASANTIES.

"Tell us not in pompous language
Life is but a weary dream;
With mirth to seven souls a guest
And sadness to the eighth alone."

ALL youths are not fitted for a college.

LETTER Johnny: "Mamma, can you give Calio this lump of sugar?" "No, my child, it spoils the teeth; eat it yourself."

"How far is it to Butler, if I keep straight on?" "Well, about 25,000 miles, but if you turn the other way it's about half a mile!"

The ablest way in which to disguise a peach is to include it between two crusts and try to call the combination a "pie."

It is the peach, and, as for the crust, the man who invented them spoiled the flour when he did it.

"What is the chief use of bread?" asked an examiner at a recent school exhibition. "The chief use of bread," answered the urchin, apparently surprised at the simplicity of the inquiry, "is to spread butter and jam on it."

ROBINSON (after a long whilst bent at the elbow): "It is awfully late, Brown. When will you say to your wife?" Brown (in a whisper): "Oh, mother, I hid behind the sofa when Calio was saying to Maria that he'd take her even if you had to be thrown in; and he didn't know I was there; and so I held my tongue and laughed in my sleeves till I burst 'em."

A GENERAL, sitting in front of a hotel in time of war, heard a newsboy crying his papers. "All about the battle," The General bought a paper, but could not find the account of the engagement. Turning to the newsboy, he said: "I do not see your battle." "No," said the boy, "you never will if you sit here!"

WON'T PAY THE PENALTY.

Three men in the thicket is staying. The last is almost on the ice. And over the garden-path
A maiden is waiting for him.
She will wait till he's weary, I'm thinking,
Though weary I am for the boy;
She will wait till the bright moon is shining,
And sigh for the kisses she missed;
For her father is wealthy and wary—
A very fit husband for her;
And I'm not the sort of a girl
To be kicked for the love of a girl.

They were enjoying a bath. "You thought you were the bank now," said the President. "Oh, no," said National, of Thornton, Ind. "You should see the bank now; Dick has a field filled with beautiful flowers, all fine house plants, and all doing well." "I shouldn't think," said his friend, the chronicler, "that it would be a very good place for floriculture." "Oh, yes!" replied the President. "They do splendidly; you see they're much better than there all the time that." But his audience missed the rest of it, for a Nantasket crab had got judgment on his foot, and he was trying to get ashore before it foreclosed.

Mrs. D. is excessively sensitive about her age. She reveals it to nobody, and even quarrels with her husband if he risks the least allusion to it. Lately she was called as witness in a court of justice, before which she knew she would be put under oath as to her age, and she is very conscientious. For three days and three nights she worried about the matter. Then a great calm came upon her. "How old are you?" asked the Judge. "Thirty-five years," she answered, in an assured tone. Then, in an almost voiceless whisper, she added, "and nine years more!"

ALONG THE ROAD.

It must be a false line of business which demands that the body should be made soon after being created. Let it be remembered that more than three-fifths of the solids and liquids taken into the stomach should pass off through the pores of the skin—7,000,000 in number—and that this skin is the most rapid during the night, while warm in bed. At least one-half of the waste and superfluous matter (from twenty to thirty ounces in the night) must become more or less tangled in the bedding of the course morning it—and a part of this may be recovered by the skin, if it is allowed to come in contact with it on the next night, as it must if the bedding is not exposed for a few hours in the air and light. We may well imitate the Dutch custom of placing such bedding on chairs near the window in the sun, and in the window, that the best possible known air light the skin may be kept in its prime, and the pores may be kept open. At least three hours, on the average, is as short exposure as is necessary with neatness.—Comproportion.

"Now of your law," is what a father said when the child was making an acquaintance with him.

HOW PROOF-READING SOUNDS.

Some writer has produced a poem entitled "Sounds from the Sanctum." It reads just too pretty, and gives rise to the thought that the author never visited the sanctum when business was in full blast. If he had called about midnight, for instance, he would have seen two saints, one poring over a proof-sheet, the other holding the copy, and the sounds would have been something like this:

Proof-reader—"As flowers without the sunshine fair—come—so—come—without you—come—do—I—full—stop—breathe a dark and dismal mare—"

Copy-holder—"Thunder! not more—"

Proof-reader—"I breathe a dark and dismal air—come—so—come—without you—come—do—I—full—stop—breathe a dark and dismal mare—"

Proof-reader—"Shoot the comma."

Proof-reader—"The done. As flowers without the sunshine fair—come—come—without you—come—do—I—full—stop—breathe a dark and dismal mare—"

Copy-holder—"Warmth."

Proof-reader—"No warmth I share—come—come—health and vigorous—"

Copy-holder—"Blessed Health and vigor."

Proof-reader—"Health and vigor fly full—stop."

That's about the sound of it when poetry is on deck.—Des Moines Register.

FOUR WITS.

Thus writes a clerical gentleman of New Jersey to Harper's "Drawer": "The Rev. Daniel W. Poor, D. D., is known among clerical associates as an inveterate punster. On one occasion, after preaching a glowing sermon, he was met, as he descended from the pulpit, by a gentleman who commenced a somewhat fulsome laudation of the discourse. An intimate friend of the doctor tapped him on the shoulder with the remark, 'Dr. Poor, can you stand as much soft-soap as that?'"

"Why, yes, if there is not too much lye in it," was the quick reply.

On another occasion, being at a bridal reception of a couple of the name of Reck, he, in saluting the bride, remarked, "The More I want the More I have."

The doctor was once asked why it was that he took such an interest in indigent students. "Why," said he, "I was myself born in a Poor house, and I expect to die in one."

On another occasion he remarked, "They say that figures won't lie; but they will lie; at any rate, they are very liable to be unreliable."

The American colony in Paris is smaller than at any previous time in twenty years. It costs twice as much now to live in Paris as in America in the same style. Formerly it cost double Paris prices in America. There is nothing now cheaper in France, except apples, than in the United States. Remember this before you start for Paris. Go to Switzerland.

The congregation of Rev. John Jasper, at Richmond, has grown so large that a division is to be made, and the Rev. Jasper is the reason who maintains that "the sun do move."

STORMY NIGHT IN NOVEMBER.

One stormy night in November, in the year 1863—it was the 4th, I think, for baby was just a year old on the 1st, and there was some of the cake I had made for his "breasted little birthday" still left in the pantry, and a cake of that also certainly never would last longer than that in our house. It was the most unpleasant day I ever remember to have lived through. The ground was soaked. The bare branches looked like so many skeletons, and the sky was the color Bridget's tin pans were when I first got down stairs this time last year.

In the city it would have been some fun to sit in the window and watch the folks go past, looking like all so many drowned rats, but at the Nook (I should presume it was Nook) there was nothing to be seen—absolutely nothing.

I had not a book which I had not read, and the note-paper was out, for Jasper had forgotten to bring me from the city, and I had finished all my sewing.

I spent my time as best I could; but how I did wish that the regiment which was encamped about half a mile away from us would come to help us to watch the drizzle. "It's only that shade of a wind that's took the roof clean off the chicken-house, and there's the wee wee chickens starvin' to death with cold."

"And in this dreadful rain, too," said I.

"It's clared off now," said Biddy, "and the moon's up."

So it actually was, and I began to feel very brave.

"We must go out and put them in the wood-house," said I. And so saying, I tucked baby up in her blankets, and, wrapping a shawl over my head, went out into the night air. It had grown very cold, but it was clear, as Biddy had said, and we peddled round in the mud catching the poor little chickens. We had them all at last except one, and we heard its little voice, sure, sure!—somewhere, and of course, could not be so heartless as to forsake it. And at last there it was, tangled up in some dead vines, and as cold as a lump of ice. By the time we gave it to its mother, who was very glad to see it, the clock struck 12. Baby had been alone three-quarters of an hour.

"Muzzer's darling! sound asleep yit?" I said, as I went to the cradle. Merciful powers! I want I ever forget that moment? Baby was not there!

In a moment the truth flashed on my mind. House-breakers had entered the dwelling in our absence, and stolen my treasure. Perhaps they were in the house yet, or some of them. I felt the strength of my fingers, and, leaving Biddy howling in the dining-room, rushed up stairs.

Sure enough, there was a light in my bedroom, and I peeped in. The moment I did so I felt I was powerless. The robber who had stolen my baby was there, and the terribly muddy boots of the other were sticking from under the bed; and, oh, horrors! another had got into it, and had hidden, as he imagined, under the quilt.

Every now and then there would be a peep of clearing off, and I began to

No more President making for four years.

This country has too many political parties to fight.

The politicians now have nothing to do but arrange a cabinet for the incoming President. He will find no trouble in finding men who will accept the positions.

THOS. G. STUART is making the Bluegrass department of the Farmers' Home Journal the most attractive feature of that paper. Mr. Stuart is one of the best news gatherers in the State.

HOPKINS' Miss Aldrich, the plucky school marm who could not be whipped or scared by the big boy or his dad, has been presented by other teachers of the county with some handsome gold jewelry.

SOME of the convicts in the Penitentiary were defeated a few days since in attempting to escape. They had made a ladder for scaling the walls but it was discovered before they attempted to use it.

We received a letter from Mr. G. W. Baker, now in New Orleans, the other day and he said he was too busy tonight to write a long letter. We would like to have a long letter from him but are glad to know that he is too busy to write one.

This committee appointed to investigate the books of A. G. Hedges Treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Masons in this State disclosed the fact that he is a defaulter to the amount of $7,000. The accused is seventy-four years of age and one of the best known masons in the State.

THE Farmers' Home Journal says: A committee of French army officers are now in Kentucky examining the horses with the purpose of reporting upon their merits for cavalry purposes. The committee visited Woodburn and other breeding farms in Woodford and adjoining counties, and will take a look at those around Louisville.

The suit of Oscar H. Burbridge vs. G. H. Ament and J. G. Craddock, editor Paris Kentuckian, for $15,000 damages on account of the publication of an article about his placing poison on Ament's haystack, was compromised so far as Ament was concerned by his paying $100, but continued against Craddock because he refused the offer of a compromise at $100. The suit, therefore, came up at last court and the jury brought in a verdict of $100 damages against Craddock.

Prices being paid now in this market for wheat, in view of the extraordinarily large crop in this country, are exceedingly high, and in all probability no better opportunity to sell wheat to advantage will present itself, except, possibly, in the case of a corner. The existence of a corner, however, is usually brief and uncertain, but in the present case there is a general advance all along the line, and on both sides of the Atlantic; and, while this is not the result of a corner anywhere, there is little hope of the present figures becoming permanent.—Home Journal.

At the time of going to press we have heard enough election news to satisfy us that the Republican ticket has swept the country.

The Republican majority in New York is from 50,000 to 75,000. Ohio, over 40,000. Indiana, 7,000 or 8,000.

Other doubtful States show up in about the same proportion.

Kentucky it is thought went Democratic.

After the fourth of March both branches of Congress will belong to the Republicans.

We are sorry that none of our enthusiastic Republican friends have come in for any of the sweetest Monday's victory. It is too bad to see so much enthusiasm go for nothing. The Ohio men and some ex-rebels will come in for the spoils.

We feel sorry all over, to-day but guess we survive the trouble.

The following is what the Cincinnati Trade List thinks of those chancers who claim of their county paper, and instead of helping to support it, send on for a large city paper, and thus help to sustain it.

"A gentleman writes to us that his county paper is so poor that he stopped it; therefore sends us three dollars for the Trade List. We repeat that we don't want subscribers on these terms. A man's county paper is worth the world, or if it is not it is his fault. If the county paper is properly encouraged, it will be relied upon for information of more value to the people in whose interest it is issued, than can be found in all the city papers in the United States. No man can afford to be without the paper that publishes the official advertisements of his county, the public sales, market, court news, and other local intelligence. If the paper is not worth the price more at fault than the publishers for not giving it a liberal patronage. However poor the county paper may be, it is always worth more than it costs to those interested in the affairs of the county."

THE Cincinnati Price Current of last Thursday says: "It is quite unsafe to make guesses on the side of short supplies of hogs—disappointment almost always is the result. Prices of hogs have declined during the week about 30c per 100 lbs here at Cincinnati, and at Chicago 15c to 20c. The arrivals, here embrace some lots previously contracted for, and good packing grades sold today at $1.50. Two of our winter packing-houses have begun operations. The receipts here for the week were 5200 more than same time last year. The query among dealers is, why should hogs come forward so freely now, before they are wanted by packers—and the presumption is that current prices make a good profit, even if the stock is not matured, while many sections there is more or less of shortness in the supply of corn. There have been some little indications of a poultry feeling among the hog feeders, and if this should really develop, prices are likely to go considerably lower, while on the other hand if they maintain a reasonable degree of nerve, and market their hogs only as they are in good condition, it is not unlikely that $1.50 will be about as low a point as will be reached during the season for good qualities. In a usual relation of values, $1.50 hogs make pork cost $13.40 per barrel, green side 5.60c per pound and lard 7c per pound. The aggregate packing since March 1 has now reached 4,353,000, or 904,000 more than at the close of the season, October 31, last year."

There have been some little indications of a poultry feeling among the hog feeders, and if this should really develop, prices are likely to go considerably lower, while on the other hand if they maintain a reasonable degree of nerve, and market their hogs only as they are in good condition, it is not unlikely that $1.50 will be about as low a point as will be reached during the season for good qualities. In a usual relation of values, $1.50 hogs make pork cost $13.40 per barrel, green side 5.60c per pound and lard 7c per pound. The aggregate packing since March 1 has now reached 4,353,000, or 904,000 more than at the close of the season, October 31, last year."

THE Cincinnati Price Current of last Thursday says: "It is quite unsafe to make guesses on the side of short supplies of hogs—disappointment almost always is the result. Prices of hogs have declined during the week about 30c per 100 lbs here at Cincinnati, and at Chicago 15c to 20c. The receipts here for the week were 5200 more than same time last year. The query among dealers is, why should hogs come forward so freely now, before they are wanted by packers—and the presumption is that current prices make a good profit, even if the stock is not matured, while many sections there is more or less of shortness in the supply of corn. These fishable young ladies of our city who brought home the Saratoga stoup with them should know some of the remarks made about them. A gentleman on Fourth avenue the other day was very much struck with the beautiful face of a young lady and so expressed himself to a friend, adding immediately afterward, "What a pity she is humped back. But it was only the Saratoga stoup—Ex."

In Circuit Court at Frankfort, Illinois, a divorce was granted from Mollie Taylor Berry, who had married while drunk. This ends one of the most disgraceful affairs that has ever blotted the annals of the State. The woman was granted $10,000 by the decree of the divorce. It also pays her lawyer's fees of $2,500. Her son, E. L. Berry, has gone to California to live.

Kentucky's Major Thomas L. Butler, the oldest member of the Butler family in Kentucky, died in Louisville at his son-in-law's, P. O. Turpin, aged 90 years. He served as an adjutant in the number of years, and was a Gen. Jackson at the battle of New Orleans, and because of his coolness and prudence was placed by Gen. Jackson in command of that city. Under several administrations he filled various important Federal offices, and for many terms a member of the Kentucky Legislature. He was a brother of Gen. Wm. O. Butler, who died a few weeks since.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

(Courier-Journal.)

Lynchburg has never had as many hogs going up as at present. The tanneries in Monroe county, Miss., sell leather to New England.

Within a year thirty-eight new buildings have been erected at Oxford, N.C.

Some of the planters of Newson county, Miss., are picking cotton by moonlight.

The total amount of sprouts in and out of bond in Nashville is about 1,100,000 gallons.

Tan Ar. says that over 200 people have settled at Humboldt, Tenn., since the census was taken.

Will Kennedy, of Limestone county, Tex., picked in six days 4,000 pounds of cotton, or 600 pounds per day.

The grand jury at Pike county, Ala., returned forty indictments for carrying concealed deadly weapons.

The colored people of Owenton are so honest that a man's coal-pile is as safe on the street as it would be in his house.

Sixty Italian laborers have just arrived in Florida to work on the Fernandina and Jacksonville railroad, and more are coming.

It is estimated that watches, jewelry and money to the amount of $10,000 were stolen in Atlanta by pie-picks during the fair.

William Stephens, the supposed murderer of colored man in Dougherty county, Ga., left his place of concealment to attend a circus and was arrested.

The pinnacle of the Court-house dome at Gainesville, Texas, has been taken possession of by a swarm of bees, which are now manufacturing honey in wholesale quantities.

A herd of thoroughbred Algerian cattle, bred in Arkansas, was sold at the recent State fair at Little Rock. This breed seems well adapted to the climate of Arkansas.

The negroes at Greenville, S. C., carried the Democratic avails and cable them away, but they are not yet to vote for Garfield as the negroes were $20 and the theft of a young negro to the Penitentiary.

A young woman, sixteen years old, attempted suicide by taking kalmecoin at a hotel in Savannah, Ga., but was accidentally discovered in time to save her life. She had a glass of kalmecoin, and was told since to young man, who grew tired of her and was trying to get her to leave the State.

The Galveston News says that the 619 German immigrants who reached Galveston by the America, are a fine looking body of people. The greater portion go forward to points along the Galveston, Harrisburg, and San Antonio railroad, some to the vicinity of Giddings and Brenham, on the western branch of the Houston and Texas Central, and a few to Indiana. Delegates went from San Antonio to Texas Central, to induce these people to settle in Western Texas, and they succeeded in getting about 300 of them.

In Stokes county, N. C., four white men started to a circus in a wagon driven by a negro. The negro was a Republican, and they concluded to protect him to the Democracy, in which they were soon successful, especially after giving him a circus ticket. On the road home he declared that he couldn't keep his new-born child under his coat, and upon the arrival of the party at the Dan River, Robert Mitchell, one of the white men, deliberately got out into the water and immersed the new convert in the name of Hancock and the regenerated Democracy.

The Cost of a Barrel of Pork. The question is often asked, if pork is worth a stated price, how much is that for hogs? Or, in other words, if meat price is worth $12.00 per barrel, how much does that represent for hogs? Many persons fall into error; in calculating the relative value of meat and pork.

The hog yields a large proportion of product which does not go into the meat barrel. To count up on the cost of the barrel of pork with hogs at a given price, calculation must be made for the value of the product, as these do not always bear a like relation to the cost of the animal per 100 pounds, and also to the proportion of the hog which goes into either product. When hogs cost $5.00 per 100 lbs gross, if lard is realizing 35c per pound the cost of sides is four-fifths of one cent per pound less than the lard should sell for. Likewise the relative variation in value of shoulders and hams contribute to the changeable relative cost of sides. Then, again, the proportion of the different kinds of pork varies with the condition of the animal, and more or less according to the varying relative market values of the product. By taking a usual relative of values and of composition of the main ingredients of lard, shoulders, and sides, at the lowest of calculation, we arrived at the following approximation of the cost of a barrel of meat pork: At $5.00 gross for hogs, the Please me, boys, spare me. Should I fail to see the friends I have left, I will hurriedly take this occasion to say farewell.

LAST WEEK'S EDITOR.

The exercises of the literary society were witnessed by a full house, last Friday evening.

The programme was introduced by vocal music accompanied by an organ manipulated by Miss Mattie Winston.

After the disposition of the usual amount of preliminary work, the discussion was opened by Mr. R. G. Green, Jr., whose speech advocating the amendment of the Constitution of this State, as also did H. J. Foster and S. W. Tolin. The negative was earnestly and ably argued by Thos. H. Stephens, Dr. Furhish and Geo. G. Hughes. Each of the speakers acquitted himself very creditably, but the Judge, B. K. Sleet, T. W. Finch and Dr. J. M. McKim, decided that the preponderance of argument was on the side of the affirmative and gave their decision in accordance therewith.

Next Friday evening the question, "After death capital punishment should be abolished," will receive the attention of the society.

"Bacon" Pomeroy, has made a great hit with his new paper, the Great West, which he started in Denver last June, and which he sent to more than 25,000 subscribers to his old paper, Pomeroy's Democrat, after it was surprised, following the forgery of his partner. The Great West is a handsome eight-page paper, illustrated each week with views of Colorado, mines, mountains, scenery, etc., and is all in all a wonderful interesting paper, with its Saturday Night chapters, its valuable editorial letters describing that rich country, its letters from the people, its recipes, its letters, etc., etc., it is now red-hot, step-day, independent paper, above all party lines, but is death against United States bonds and all robbers of the poor. It is sent one year for $2, or six copies sent for $10. Since "Bacon" made his big strike in the mines, he is making a paper more lively than ever. Address M. M. Bonney, Denver, Colorado, and send for the paper if you wish something you will read from end to end.

A Card.

As I shall soon move to Burlington, I desire to return my thanks to my many friends and customers who have so liberally patronized me in the last five years.

And to assure all that they will be kindly remembered and when any of them are in Cincinnati I cordially invite them to call on me, at 22 Lodge, where I will be found during business hours and will extend a hearty welcome. And to those who have bought pieces of me and need it in Shavers, cutters, or other repairs, I will write me at No. 10, and I will send them the orders will receive prompt attention, and I will send all such repairs to Burlington without additional cost. I expect to be here on Court day in February and will bring there all orders ordered, and shall be pleased to take orders for good many more. Can furnish a limited No. of the IXL plows for fifteen dollars, and Climes at the lowest possible price. Don't fail to write to me for any thing in the plow line. Respectfully, JOHN M. PALMER.

The Old Reliable stove-store kept by J. M. Clark, Covington Kentucky, has been enjoying an unparalleled run of business this fall. Every thing kept in a first class stove-store can be had there at the lowest prices. Give him a visit.

If we are allowed, we presume the matrimonial boom is still booming in Burlington; for we have been taken around the corner less than a dozen times, within the last ten days, and interviewed at the cost of an out-of-pocket for house keeping.

Way will men, and women too, suffer with warts, corns, bunions, frost-bite, sore throat, rheumatism, neuritis, sprains and bruises, when they can get relief by using Cousins' Lightning Lintment: Price 60c. For sale by W. F. McKim, Burlington, Ky.

Said an aged minister, "When I wish to speak with ease I take a teaspoonful of Cousins' Honey of Life, the best cough medicine in the world. It will clear the throat and voice better than anything I ever used." Price 60c. For sale by W. F. McKim, Burlington, Ky.

Mr. Ben. Desairo, editor of the Capital Gazette, has sued Hiram Berry, who assaulted him, for $10,000 damages.

Richwood Missionary Society will hold its next regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. Arch. Walker, to-morrow eve, the 17th inst., at 7 o'clock. Business of importance before the society, and a full attendance is required. K. A. Bedinger, Sec'y.

On Spanish dollar was the means of discovering a whole family of Spanish coins. Lewis Broom has a Spanish quarter each 104 years old. Mr. J. W. Calvert has quite a number of old coins of different denominations, and among them is a one cent piece coined in 1672; another is a Spanish half dollar, dated 1778. In the last few days we have heard of many ancient pieces of money.

Tax programme for the entertainment at this place is now completed, and the club is sparing no pains nor labor to make it a success in every particular. They have one of the finest stages erected in the County that ever has been in the county; besides beautiful and appropriate scenery and new and elegant costumes. The performance will open each night with a "grand overture," consisting of select ballads, comic songs and jokes in which the entire company participate, and which of itself is worth the price of admission, to say nothing of the popular drama entitled, "Michael Erie," which has heretofore been so favorably accepted and enjoyed by Mr. Joe 'Eed, who, will now, with his extra facilities, previous experience and his eminently correct conception of the "Maniac" role, will give it with greater importance. Besides the main plays, the programme each evening will be entirely different, consisting of laughable farces and character songs, which are now being prepared with great care. Take it all in all, it will be an entertainment calculated to please every one's fancy. It will be a mingling of the pathetic, romantic and comic, so that no one can leave dissatisfied. The troupe is certainly deserving a liberal patronage during the week of the holidays, beginning on the 25th inst. and continuing to the 31st.

The Ohio river raised 12 feet, on the night of the 4th of this month.

One of our kids says he was going to allow a rabbit to his haw, game law or no game law.

In looking over the diary of E. A. Wenden, we find the following statement of the weather for the month of November as far back as 1857 up to November, 1890, noting the lowest state of the mercury.

Nov. 1857, 8 degrees below zero.

1858, 18 below; 23, 18 below; 20, 10 below; 18, 28 below; 23, 24 below; 14, 24, 20, 25, 40, 40, 47, 16, 24, 39, 40, 25, 70, 36, 11, 24, 72, 12, 15, 16, 74, 21, 1875, 16 above zero.

72, 22, 77, 14, 78, 24, 73, 14, 1880, 9, 10th below; 22, 8 below, and 24, 4 below zero.

The dimskits in this section of the Kentucky river are anxious for somebody to start a newspaper in the city of Sinisnity.

1 that will work in the intruder of the party, and give them consolation. We think so ourselves. Should such a thing occur, we might get a chance to rise for the paper.

This line of rising for a knut newspaper is like a hen setting on an egg.

Stringtown.

This is a quiet little town situated on the western shore of Lake Erie, Creek extending from the corporation limits of Vinetown, to the corporation of Gainesville.

A new dwelling has recently been erected and is now occupied by B. F. Jarrell, who is a welcome citizen, making in all nine dwellings house exclusive of a hotel, and dwelling-house combined, known as the Magnolia House, with a population of about 800 inhabitants. We also have one three-story house, one college known as the Ovi College, school in session, under the management of an experienced professor, and by his untiring energies, success is almost certain. Although but few students from a distance, there is a fair attendance.

We are sorry to say owing to the neglect of the officers, the college is greatly in need of repair.

Tobacco is the principal crop raised among the farmers along the line, this season. The tobacco is of fine quality, and about all has been sold at fair prices.

One Carpenter and one Veterinary Surgeon constitute the professional men of our town.

Miss Lizzie Scriver, a fascinating young lady, of Carroll county, has come to this place to spend the holidays with relatives in the vicinity. From inquiry made by a certain friend, we doubt she will be entertained not only by relatives. She has formerly visited here.

Silver Lake.

This little village is situated on the S. R. R. and Lexington pike, about seven miles from the city. It is composed of some fifty or more inhabitants, mostly young men and old men. We have two grocers, one drug-store, lumber yard and a coal yard, all of which are doing a thriving business.

Geo. M. Boderger is buying tobacco very extensively. All those who want to sell their weed for a good price, had better give him a call.

Chas. M. Riege, who got one of his limbs so badly frost-bitten, is able to be about again.

Joseph Lail shipped a fine brood mare to Lexington, last week.

Mr. H. H. Riege, while splitting wood one day last week, cut his foot open from the toe to the ankle. He says he would not do it for his foot for a year.

Washington & Funk are putting up an ice house here 80x50 feet, but their chances look kind of slim for ice just now.

THE MONAGHY TREE.

Full-grown, the monaghy tree is one of the monarchs of tropical America. It is a tree of great size and beauty, and is found in the tropics of America.

Its trunk and massive arms, rising to a lofty height and spreading with graceful sweep over the surrounding forest, are covered with a beautiful foliage, bright green and airy, clinging so long to the spray as to make it almost an overgrown, present a rare combination of loveliness and grandeur. The leaves are very small, delicate and polished, like those of the laurel. The flowers are small and white, or greenish yellow.

The monaghy lumbermen, having selected a tree, surrounded it with a platform of about twelve feet high, and from the top of the platform, some dozen or fifteen feet of the largest part of the trunk are thus lost; yet a single log is not infrequently weighs from six or seven to fifteen tons, and sometimes measures as much as seventeen feet in length and four and a half to five and a half feet in diameter, one tree furnishing two, three or four, such logs. Some trees have yielded 12,000 superficial feet.

TABLETS TO LINCOLN.

WE, SOLDIERS, weep, for one who sleeps Beneath a hero-patriot's tomb— Who sleeps the sleep of solitude From out this world of gloom.

One in the ages of the past His heart beat as ours beat; Not to the moments came to one Whose life was sweetly wreat.

No more upon this midnight sphere Shall walk our honored dead; For one lies in a patriot's grave— A grave to which we've wred.

The comrades that have fallen 'neath The "old soldier's" flag Shall never make from their long sleep To raise the rebel's head.

There was a man, old honest Abe, Who fought for freedom's cause; He stood the bulwark from our foes, And gained the world of us.

But death, death of us all, Came on too soon for us; The noblest of our men were dead, And Lincoln's life was run.

Weep, soldier, weep, for one who sleeps Beneath bright Freedom's soil, Shall never walk from slumbering dust That which is free from toil.

Drunk again, you see, doctor, Yes, drunk again! The same old story, What next? It was a pale young man in those who spoke thus; and there was an exceeding weakness in the tone of his voice and bearing.

The great physician who sat opposite to him nodded gravely. "Ay," continued the young man, in the same dreamy manner as before, "I just recalled something about it. I was picked up in the gutter by a policeman last night. My front teeth, I find, had been kicked by my throat or on it. At all events they were gone, but I managed to make myself intelligible, and hiccoughed out that I lived here. It was a lie—I always tell lies at these times—I was afraid to go home. Home! I have no home—but to my brother's house. Why was I afraid? I was afraid because I had robbed him. I had stolen his wife's miniature and the corner bookcase of his Oxford, Graham (the doctor), after passing his examinations credulously, though without distinction, had taken a degree as a physician, and being a man of much sound sense and observation, rather than an abstract scholar, had rapidly risen to the first rank in his profession. Clifford, who had gone through his academic career more bravely and brilliantly, and had been high honors, was a poor, degraded vagabond, a begging letter-writer, a creature whom it was not safe to receive into one's house lest he should steal something. Yet in spite of all there was a nameless dignity about the castaway, and it was hard to believe that one who in his calmer hours spoke and thought so nobly should be so vile. The night before the conversation just recorded he had been brought to Clifford by Dr. Graham's house, a shabby bundle of dirt and rags; but the doctor, being unmarred and free to follow his instincts as a good Samaritan, had recognized him at once, housed, fed and clothed him anew. The same thing had happened at least twenty times before, and Graham was wondering how and when such visits would end.

"Come, sleep up, old fellow!" he said kindly. "I've got an idea. Go down and live with my aunt in Cornwall. She is a worthy soul and makes capital tea. You used to like tea, I remember. You used to say like, eat excellent apple puddings and help her to manage her bees and her cucumbers whenever you feel inclined. I have got a little estate down there, too, you know, which I inherited from my dear mother. Be my agent till something better turns up. I have thought of giving you more than a hundred a year, but you will, of course, live at free quarters, and there is really some good fishing. Promise me only not to tipple, and—come, is it a bargain?" The doctor stretched out his hand and looked brightly on the human ruin before him. He tried to seem as though he were seeking a favor, instead of conferring one.

Clifford moved uneasily in his chair, but made no motion to take the doctor's proffered hand. Presently, however, he saw that the doctor was speaking earnestly, and he began to speak, as though he were talking to himself.

"You all fancy it is drink which is the root and organ of mischief in my case," he muttered. "As a matter of fact, it is only a graft upon what is a desolator, because a far more subtle and inviolable, namely. Since childhood I have been given to a habit of dreaming of completely withdrawing myself from my surroundings, and retiring into a world of my own creation. What Coleridge required only to effect, I could; but I soon found out that stimulants would render my jaded imagination when it flagged. First tea and coffee were enough; then, as these lost their effect from constant use, I resorted to wine; and, as wine was slow in its effect, to spirits. The more I dreamed the more insignificant appeared to me the realities of life, and the more irresistible the temptation to dream."

The doctor, who was devoid of humor, here laid his hand on Clifford's arm, and said, demurely: "My aunt has an old pony who has a habit of shying at unconsidered trifles. He is also a wrong-headed pony, and she will not hear of his being whipped. Whenever she sees him come on you take her out for a drive, and your attention will be fully occupied. For the rest cold water-shower baths, fresh fruit, indexing books—anything that will keep your mind occupied; and—well, if that won't do, 'bitch your body well with stinging nettles.' It is a very ancient remedy, and I should think never answer as a mental diversion in your case. At all events forward the bottle."

"The bottle!" answered Clifford, and lay. "How shall I convince you that I don't care for it? Up to yesterday I had not found for some time pretty successfully against the great demon, as you will call it, and had only drunk moderately of wine at my brother's table. It was the afternoon, that time toward 4 o'clock, when our vitality is said to be at the lowest—mine certainly was. I thought a glass of brandy would relieve me, but then it occurred to me that the abstemious would not give me the slightest pleasure or solace if I did not dream over it. If I had to think of the past and present after drinking it, it would only intensify my feelings and make them more terrible. So I did not drink, and turned my footstep toward home, sorrowful and dejected. It was then that the enchanted castle before me in all its altitudes. I was drawn, or went, if you will, toward its portals, and once I enter there my will is gone. Anything to stay in it a few minutes longer. That means drink. To resume—primary evil, dreaming. Graft upon it, drink."

"Rouse yourself, man," replied the physician with affectionate earnestness. "Your case is a peculiar one. The hands. Think of all the wise hold dear in life of man's esteem, of woman's affection and of the world's honor."

"Supposing that I like my world better than yours?" replied the dreamer. "Who knows which is the better, the world of facts or that of fancy? Hev, I am a slabby outcast; the very children here cry out on me. There, not royal Israel in his glory was arrayed more magnificently than I—feet off sumptuousness served to me by Numidian maidens on golden salvers. I drink rich wines from jeweled glasses, and wear robes of satin. My shoes are ivory palaces, built by pleasant waters, where the white cygnets wade the lily queen, and there I am made glad. In my gardens the tall cedar spreads her ample canopy against the noonday sun. Flowers of gorgeous hues and subtle fragrance cluster over crystal fountains. The insouciant fruit hangs ripe upon the lime and orange tree. Terrace upon terrace rises range upon range, each thronged with graceful statuettes, till all are crowned by graceful towers, whence my banner floats. The groves beneath are full of nightingales and dancing elves. Fairy minstrelsy awakens the sylvan echoes round about, and tiny Intes give answer to soft dulcimers. The distant clank of fair Titania's cymbals comes from afar, each with a silver sound. My world is power. In my garden halls await my subordinates from subject nations. My laws give wealth and peace to millions, and when I ride abroad, attended by my court and ministers, my people crowd about with horses' reins to kiss my feet, and about with hearts and voices, 'God save the King.'"

"That way lies madness," remarked the doctor, gravely. "We call it dementia, or morbid passion for vain glory."

"What would you give me in exchange for it?" replied the dreamer, grimly. "Chambers in Pump Court, Lincoln's Inn; a Sunday dinner with my friendly country editor or kind attorney; till I had grown bone enough to be knighted with some city knicker, made rich by cheating his fellow-man; or were I steeped to the very lips in infamy, till I was made a junior Baron in your falling House of Lords, a tool of party, the very essence of a rogue?"

"Wake up, I say," replied the doctor, rather testily. "Wake up and be a man."

"No, thank you," replied Clifford. "I would rather return to my slumbers. Lately, too, there has come into my dream a vision of unutterable loveliness. Her form is all my soul has ever pictured of the beautiful; her voice is what my ears have longest sought in music; her eyes are like stars, and her lips are sweeter than the honeycomb—" though shape and voice and lips be all of air. Good-by."

"Yet stay," said Graham, anxiously, "or do not, at least, go empty-handed. Take this, and, when it is gone, why come again, 'for I shall long say.'"

The vagabond's hand clutched almost feverishly at the coin held out to him. "Never fear," he said, with an absent laugh, "you will see me again."

Then his spare, bent figure went shambling away out of the doctor's house and passed into the shadow beyond.

"Poor devil!" sighed the prosperous physician. "I must not let him go; he is staggering straight to a mad-house."

And Graham setted his hat, but his servant met him in the doorway before he could pass out.

"There are twelve patients, sir, in the waiting-room," said the man, mechanically, "and here are three elegrams."

The doctor put down his hat. He was vexed and angry with himself. Duty is a hard taskmaster. But could anything have been done for Walter Clifford?

TOBACCO CULTURE.

The culture of Havana seed tobacco in four of our great tobacco-growing States is now an assured success. About eight years ago the experiment was made by a few growers in the Connecticut valley, who received the seed from the Agricultural Department at Washington. Both Havana and Yara tobacco seed were distributed, and so well did the plants grow and mature that now Havana seed tobacco has obtained quite a reputation among packers and manufacturers.

At first the growers wished to obtain a leaf of select texture to the Connecticut seed leaf, but the main object being to secure a plant of better flavor, hence the experiment made. Imported seeds were planted, and the growth approximated to that grown in the Yalta Obajo and other tobacco-growing districts in Cuba. The selection of soil made by our growers was not always the best, hence the early planting on light, sandy soil resulted in a leaf somewhat thick and of a leathery feeling, while it could hardly pass through the scales like our ordinary seed leaf.

At length the seed obtained from plants raised in the valley were planted, and the difficulty hitherto experienced was in a measure overcome. Last year's crop has been sampled, and it has sweet very evenly and thoroughly, and now an advance more than ordinarily received is asked for. The growers received only seed-leaf prices for last year's crop, and, as the production is not so large as of seed leaf, many growers abandoned its culture this year, but will plant this sort another season.

In New York State, Wilson's hybrid, a variety of Havana seed, is grown quite extensively, while in Wisconsin the area planted to Spanish tobacco this season is said to be 5,000 acres. The wrappers are very fine, and have that smooth, oily appearance which characterizes the imported leaf. The yield to the acre is less by 800 to 500 pounds, but if 5 or 6 cent per pound can be obtained, most growers would prefer to raise it. The plants grow very fast, withstand a drought better, cure faster in the shade, and are less liable to pole rot or sweet when hung up to dry. It can be tended easier, and in many other ways is much more desirable to cultivate.—Springfield Republican.

AN INTERESTING PROCESS.

The Electro-Metallurgical Company of Brussels has been very successful in producing metallic objects of large size, such as statues, etc., in bronze, by electrolysis, in place of the process of casting, which has hitherto been uniformly used for that class of work. The statement has lately been made respecting this company that they have succeeded by their process in producing a colossal statue of Van Eyck, the great Flemish painter, by the electro-deposition of copper upon the clay model. A similar process for the production of statues of moderate size is thus described: Take the figure or group of plaster and saturate with st

ROBB D.

Edward Fowler, Constable, in Burlington District, Robbed of $50.

The Money Taken from Under Him while asleep.

A Snatchplot Early Taken In.

Last Saturday evening Mr. Edward Fowler, Constable in this district, after his day's labor, mostly of which was in making collections, went home, and upon his arrival there he discovered that someone in his absence had signalled in a window to a hall in which he has stored some collections. Thinking that he was late, and after the fact he only, became backslap in town, and it was some time before he went home to retire for the night. Mr. Tilley, his daughter returning with him. When he went to bed he was particular to place his pants in which was his pocket book and money, before he went to bed, and he slept. Some time in the night he was disturbed by a noise to which he paid but little attention, and again slept. When he arose early in the morning, he found a fire, he discovered his pocket book lying in the room and all the money gone, the pants having been taken from between the beds. A negro boy, who that day had been in the shop, had the reputation in either or not Mr. Fowler was going home that evening and whether or not Mr. Tilley was going with him, was arrested on suspicion, but no money was found on his person. The accused was Henry Bates, who had been staying at the Boone House, and who enjoys no enviable reputation in the town. Considerable pains were taken to record one of his exploits last week. There is no proof that Henry took the money, but there is one thing certain, if he did not have an assistant in the crime, and it is not believed that the assistant is of the same hue.

Mr. Fowler had been collecting money for different parties, and he thinks that he had something over $30 in his pocket book. The thief left him 18 cents.

Mr. Fowler is getting well along on the study-side of life, and can fully afford to lose such an amount of money, and he has the sympathy of all who know him.

The Senator From Owen.

HON. ATRILLA Cox, of Owen, was one of the most able, brave, members of the last Senate. He wielded an influence for good equal to that of any Senator and there is no good reason, unless he is tired and disgusted with public life, why he should not return to the Senate as long as he lives. It is a wise plan to keep a good thing as long as you can, and the people of Owen should keep their Senator—Yeoman.

THE OWEN NEWS says that the people are looking around for a candidate for the State Senate. Why they should look farther than to the home of their present Senator, Hon. Atrilla Cox, is a mystery to those who do not know him. Senator Cox was one of the ablest and most successful members of the last Senate, and one of the best of the Penitentiary portion, entitles him to the gratitude of his people. After committee upon committee had failed to agree; after a conference committee had agreed to disagree and leave the Penitentiary question still unadjusted, Senator Cox, with three others, singlehandedly to mature a bill that undoubtedly the most troublesome question that the Legislature has—Bourbon Sun.

THE BURLINGTON Dramatic club will open its week's entertainment on Monday night, December 27th, with a Christmas play, to close New Year's eve. The first night programme will be "Michael Eriq," a musical overture by the troupe, ballads, comic songs, new and amusing jokes followed by the button hursting farce entitled "The Black Statue." The managers have decided to give Mr. Joe Reed, the company's equal in the art of making a hit, and one of the most troublesome questions that the Legislature has—Bourbon Sun.

He and his family were compelled to stay out in the heavy rain until day, there being no near neighbors. He lost his horse and a large crop of tobacco.

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED

(Rev. E. F. GAUSS, Galena, Ill.) writes me that he has known many persons suffer from pains in the small of the back and region of the kidneys, which was most excruciating, and at times almost insupportable. Deteriorating brought no relief, and I was finally advised to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. After several months' sojourn in Europe, physicians, after close examinations declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the urinary system, and that I could do me no good. I was, however, benighted by the climate and consequently returned home. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, when the trouble grew so intense as again to make life unbearable. A few months ago I came in possession of Dr. F. R. Kelley's Pad, and used it, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pains at once grew less, and are now entirely gone, and I am strong and look up to the very peak of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. I feel that I have no more to say, except to thank the agents and great benefactors of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been.

WM. Y. EAREN, MURRAY, Ky.—
Have now worn Dr. Kelley's Pad, entire month. It has cured me of a gross ailment I never used, and am improving every day.

LARMORE & DEAN, Druggist, Niles, Mo.—
I am engaged in the business of Dr. Kelley's Pad is having a large sale at giving better satisfaction than any remedy we ever used.

FATHER WEITZEL, Policeman, Lancaster, Pa.—
I have been a tremendous sufferer from kidney trouble for many years. From having kidney pain I feel better than I have in 15 years."

A. J. STONER, Goodhue, Ill.—
I have used your Goodhue, Ill., for five days and give universal satisfaction."
For sale by druggist, or sent by mail.
Free of cost on receipt of price—$3.00; 6 for $20; Special Pad, (extra size) $3.00; Children's $1.50. Our book, "How the Kidney Was Saved," and a large record of remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address DAY ANDNEY PAT. CO., Chicago, Ill.

CAUTION

Owing to the many wrong impressions created by cheap imitations of our famous Kidney Pad now so generally advertised, we deem it wise to request you kindly to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.
